PROTECT THE SONG BIRDS

Sound Advice Which is as Applicable to United States as to Canadian Farmers.

Our songbirds are now on their way to their Canadian haunts, and some of them may have arrived when these lines are read. Their return suggests the old admonition—protect them in every way possible, because they are the best protectors of our gardens, our garden crops and our orchards. Without these birds the insects would "eat us out of house and home."

In an article on the protection of wild life Jack Miner condenses the whole case into a single paragraph. He takes the robin as the representative of our winged allies in the warfare against insects and worms, and he states his case in this fashion:

"Now what good is the robin? Everybody knows the robin. A boy came along the road with a .22 rifle, saw a robin sitting there, and killed it. I went over and picked the robin up. Two cutworms were squirming on the ground—the robin had had them in his beak. I held the bird up, and two more fell out of his mouth. Remember, one cut worm will cut down five tomato plants in a night. The cut worm does his work and then hides under the soil; Mr. Robin comes hopping along, picks in there and pulls him out—and then turns him into a robin. If anyone tells you that a robin will destroy one hundred cutworms in a day take it from him that it is true."—Montreal Herald.

Ministry of Mirth.

An ex-member of the London county council, the Rev. H. B. Chapman, vicar of that quaint relic of old London, the Savoy chapel, marooned in a backwater of the Strand, has emerged into print, in the columns of the Morning Post, on the great amusement question. Mr. Chapman is convinced that all is not well in the theatrical state of England, and there are many who agree with him. Still he is no mere iconoclast. He has his remedy. It is a very simple one—a ministry of mirth, headed by an ideal chief, and established without delay. But then Mr. Chapman admits that he is an "incorrigible optimist." Perhaps Mr. Chapman might add to the gaiety of nations by editing a new edition of the works of Demokritos of Abdera, the Laughing Philosopher, unless, as is quite possible, and not without reason, he regards Demokritos as the first of pessimists.

SEEMS EVERYONE HEARD ABOUT IT

All Want To Try New Drug That Dries Up Corns So They Lift Out. Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any pharmacy, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.
