COMFORTABLE CHURCHES

Years ago it was hard to decide which was most uncomfortable, the school house or the church, says the Smithfield Herald. "In the country both of them, if heated at all, were heated by the use of lightwood and rotting wood picked up here and there near the church or school house. Very few churches or school was an Oxford visitor Wednesday.

houses were ceiled. Now the school houses in the country have gone ahead of the churches in the matter of comfort. Better school houses have been built and each church buildings but the ventilation and heating arrangements are attention in many cases is paid to the windows and therefore the ventilization is poor. But in winter is lows: when most suffering occurs in the churches. In the first place very suitable stoves. Most of the stoves piping is used. Stove pipe is propchurch. THIRD SUNDAY IN LENT

When Phillips Brooks first spoke to Helen Kellar of Christ. she exclaimed. "Oh I never knew His name before, but I always knew Him." She was acquainted with Him as the Christ of experience, the Universal Christ who lighteneth every man coming into the world; but she did not know Him as the Christ of history, the Christ who lived a human life in Palestine years ago. To-day there are many who know Him as the Christ of history, who know Him not as the Christ of experience. They know His Name, put they do not know Him. They are familiar with the facts of His earthly life, they accept His stystem of teaching, they follow Him as an impersonal idea, but they have not experienced the compelling power of His living personality. They know Him as the Christ who came, but they do not know Him as the Christ who is here. The full knowledge of Christ possessed by those alone to whom the Christ of History has become the Christ of
