The Weekly Ambon Of St. Stephen's Parish

FIFTH SUNDAY IN LENT

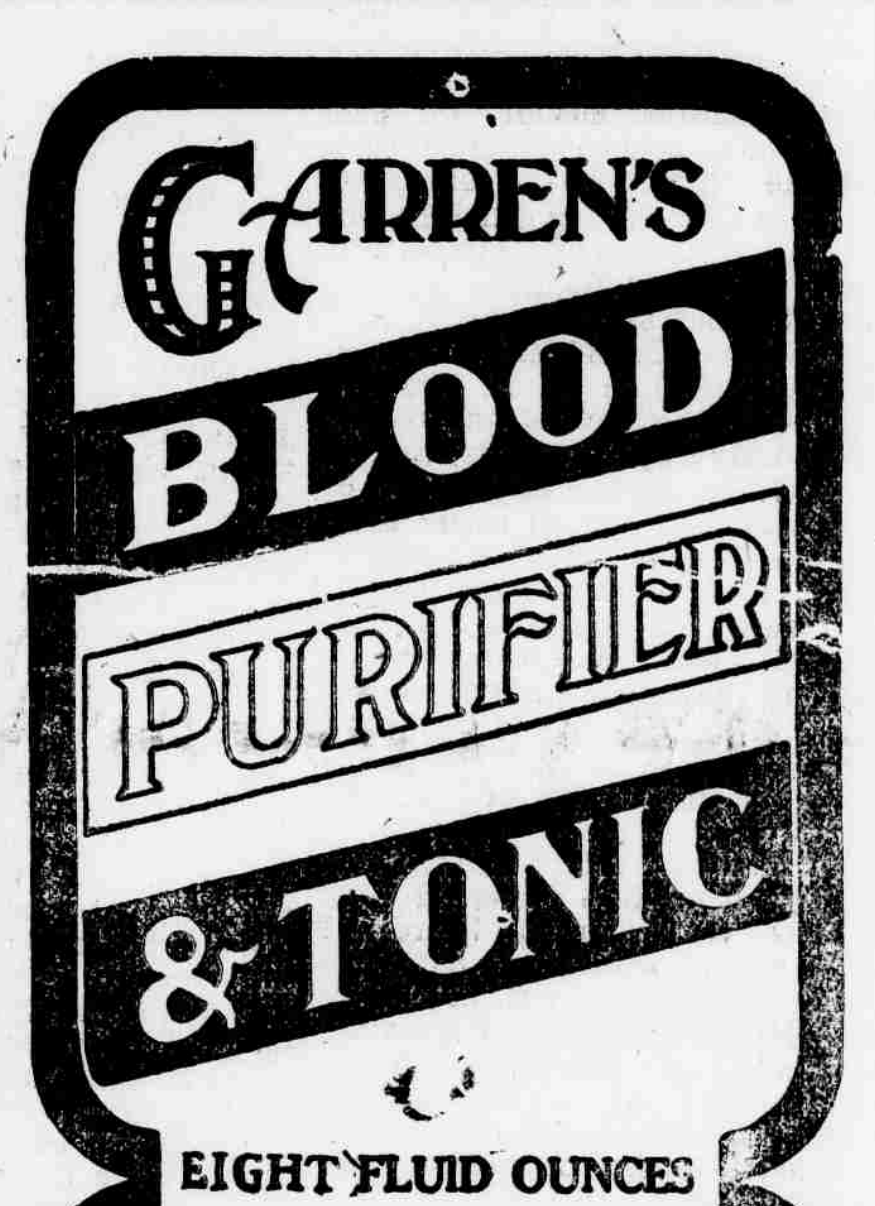

Our loveless words, and repeatedly wayward actions, must mean the breaking down of long years of God's patient construction, and earnest dealing with our infirmities. To Him our actions are sinful, and He treats us as for leprosy. The ordinances of the Church carry this leprous characteristic. The Altar represents and continues the Sacrifice due for sin. The Font set forth the cleansing from sin. Confirmation affirms the need of reconstruction. The Clergy among us, tells of wounds, and bruises and putrifying sores. As "The Son of God goes forth to war" and the Church moves "terrible as an army with banners," we see the spiritual physicians, and the ambulance trains, and the grim realities implied. If God is to deliver us, and cleanse us from our sins, the greatness of the remedy is in proportion to the soreness of our leprous need. Before the Great War people laughed at the idea that sin lay seriously within the folds of human nature; the leprosy is recognized now without laughter.
