FORMER COMMISSIONER HARRIS ADVOCATES DRESS REFORM

Editor Public Ledger:
I have seen quite a number of articles lately in the News and Observer on the fashions and dress of our American women, in our civilized and said to be Christianized land, which are all too true. In the issue of May 13th, one of our leading and well known citizens, Maj. N. A. Gregory, has an article under the head: "The Designers of Women's Attire," and I blush with shame when I have to admit to its truthfulness. I shall ask our County paper to publish it, which I hope it will do, and I hope our people will read it carefully and seriously, and do as the Major suggests. "Let North Carolina with its homogeneous population stem the tide of demoralization and get back to higher grounds." And he further asks: "Why not have models and fashions of our own that are decent and not injurious to health, corruptive of morals and against the laws of our Lord?" Again he states, "it passes my understanding (and so it does mine) how any sensible, Christian mother who has been taught to say, 'from sin and temptation Lord deliver us,' can subject her daughter to the snares and wiles the model makers set up and decree as fashions." I have yet to see the man, it matters not his standing, morally or spiritually, but who blushes with shame at the indecent dress of our women. I cannot see any consistency whatever in our women holding up the fashions of today, which are unquestionably corrupt and lead to immorality, and, at the same time trying to hold up Christ (who is unquestionably strictly moral and spiritual) to a lost and dying world. In conclusion, I will quote from another article in the News and Observer a few weeks ago, discussing women's dress: "Now, where does so much of this short dressing come from anyway? I mean by that, short at the bottom and also at the top; and sometimes 90 per cent thin intermediately. It comes from the magazines and fashion books which flood almost every home continuously. The women, being the standard of the home and the glory of the land, if she would just read the Bible as much as she reads these fashion books, then it could not be said that there would be no good works in any home. Is such disgusting dressing a help to build morals, or will it help immorality and continue to be a public welcome to crime." Mothers, think seriously on these things.
E. C. HARRIS.

Treatment Of Common Colds.
"If all who catch cold could be persuaded to remain in bed for the first twenty-four hours of such an attack" says a well known physician "there would be fewer cases dragging on with distressing symptoms for weeks and often ending in some more serious disease." To make sure of a prompt recovery you should also take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Whether sick or well the bowels should move each day.

—Three hundred or more armed marine strikers and sympathizers stormed the doors of the custom house at Baltimore in their efforts to get a party of negro strike-breakers who had fled into the Federal building for protection. Several of the negroes were severely beaten before the arrival of police who, with drawn pistols, drove off the rioters.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM TOBACCO

Crumbs for Lazarus.

(Kaleigh News and Observer)
Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, the story has run as long as men have been carrying their traditions, and the beggerman has been asking the crumbs from the table of Dives and the thief has been conniving to get the belonging of men who have what he covets.

The world is by no means new. In early Roman days a kick against the tariff of eight per cent was an active amusement of the people, and in the feudal days the lords had the right to tax all goods that passed by their places so that rivers and highways were lined with toll gates to collect transit tariffs. A hundred years ago the election of John Taylor, a high tariff man, as speaker of the house of representatives, gave New England manufacturers their start in a century of plunder that Congress is trying now to fasten more completely than ever on the people by the offering to the farmer of the crumbs that are supposed to be swept from the protected table.

The farmer is a producer of basic material. His market is the world. He is in competition with all farms everywhere: A tariff cannot protect him in any scheme of legalized robbery of his customers. Therefore he has always been waved aside at the tariff councils by the assurance that protecting the manufacturer allows the manufacturer to pay the farmer a higher price than would be the case otherwise. But now the farmer is to have his prices raised by a tariff on farm stuff. The farmer has protested so long that he is believed to be tired of paying tariff on what he buys without getting something in return.

So we are to put the whole United States on the basis of paying more for everything we buy in order that the man who sells may get more. This might work all right if it would work, but it still remains the fact that the farmer has to pay more for what he buys, but he cannot raise his price because he sells in the market of the world in competition with everybody, and he must meet the world prices. The beneficent tariff says he may charge more. But it does not tell him how to collect the bill or sell the goods where the world will not buy. But it does prevent him from buying at world-wide prices for while he finds no tariff on what he sells abroad he is met by a tariff on what he buys abroad. Dives proposes to put a protective tariff on the crumbs he throws to Lazarus and expects Lazarus to be happy and content. That is the principle of protection.

About Digestion.

It is claimed that only half as much food is required when it is thoroughly masticated. Digestion begins in the mouth and a thorough mastication of the food is of the greatest importance. When needed take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the digestion and insure a regular movement of the bowels.
