

—Gunmen who barricade themselves in houses and fight Chicago police will now have to contend with a portable fort of armor steel which can be handled easily by two men. The shield is composed of two sheets of hardened steel, joined in an obtuse angle and with holes cut through to accommodate guns. It is rolled on big casters.

—Zoppot, the Monte Carlo of the North, near Danzig, advertises free air trips for those who wish to gamble at its tables. Advertisements appear in the papers of prominent cities in Germany stating that a special casino for air voyagers is in operation in which the limit of play is six thousand marks.

Three Kinds Of Newspapers.

There are newspapers of three distinct kinds in America, all seeking through their editorial columns, and some through the coloring of their news columns as well, to create certain beliefs in the minds of their readers. Of the three two are entirely mischievous and harmful. The three may be classified as follows:

First: Those papers which press the idea that the wealth of the country has been acquired by dishonesty or by oppression of employees. In every discussion of economic matters they go as far as they dare to place upon successful men the stigma of possession of stolen property, and seek in many insidious ways to excite hatred of them as men living in luxury earned by others. Usually these papers are owned by men who have grown rich by the same business methods which they condemn in others.

Second: Those papers which oppose all efforts of the men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows to improve their condition by organization. They are hostile to labor when it is organized, and do what they can to make it disreputable in the eyes of their readers. Capital is to them the only good thing on earth, to which all men should be subservient, and for which all legislation should be shaped regardless of the welfare of workers.

Third: Those papers which strive to be fair to all sorts and conditions of people; which attack an assault by union labor on a free workman, or condemn a vicious raid on capital, or an effort to destroy protective measures for men not intelligent enough to guard their own interest with equal impartiality. It is a great work the papers of this class perform. They are of the people. They give brains, wealth, labor—all necessary in human affairs—their full need of praise recognition and encouragement; criticising the follies of the rich and the extravagances and thriftlessness of the poor, with equal severity.

No man who would be just can afford to absorb the poison spread either by the pseudo enemies of wealth or the rabid foes of the poor.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Thieves Carry Away Church Bell

(London Times)
At a time when such a large percentage of French criminals are specializing in thefts of jewelry, pocket-books and the more easily portable luxuries of life, it is almost refreshing to hear of such originality as was shown by the ruffians who devoted their attention to stealing a church bell weighing one and a half tons. Last night a considerable force of motor bandits entered the ruins of Essars Church, near Lille, and succeeded in hauling out a huge bell and placing it upon their lorry. They were surprised in the act by the night watchman, who made an attempt to resist the removal of the bell but was bludgeoned by the bandits, who got clean away.

—To save the life of a penniless boy who was hurled into a small lake from the top of a coach on a speeding train, the Olympian, famous train of the Milwaukee Railroad, took a siding while the engine returned to pick up the boy who was found badly bruised and unable to walk. He was taken to the railroad hospital at Lind, Washington, where it is said he will recover.

Mr. Harding's Education.

(Philadelphia Record)
It is not all to the discredit of Mr. Harding, but rather very much to his credit, that once confronted with the responsibilities of his high office and possessed of a better knowledge of the country's foreign relations than he had as a Senator, he has thrown out of the window all the tawdry stuff he used to spout during last year's campaign and has buckled down to the serious work of carrying out the policies of his great predecessor. "Harding Now Inclined Toward Versailles Pact; Cool to Separate Peace," say the headlines of his faithful admirer, The New York Tribune, and that seems to be a fair statement of the case. While there may be some haggling over the exact phraseology involved, and the President may prefer the word "Association" to "League" as representing his ideas of a great family of Nations, the important fact is that he is moving toward an acceptance of the ideas of the Versailles Treaty and that the United States will soon be actually engaged in helping to arrange the peace of Europe on a permanent basis. The essential features of Woodrow Wilson's policy are to be carried out because the Administration has discovered that unless Europe returns to a fairly normal condition the economic prosperity of the United States will be seriously menaced.

About Digestion.

It is claimed that only half as much food is required when it is thoroughly masticated. Digestion begins in the mouth and a thorough mastication of the food is of the greatest importance. When needed take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the digestion and insure a regular movement of the bowels.
