AN APPRECIATION

The people of Oxford would indeed be lacking in gratitude, a most essential characteristic of Christianity, if there were no outward expression of appreciation to the good received from the union meetings which have Most Of the Idle Are Without Debeen held during the summer. The men who have come to us with such inspiring messages are men of God and it behooves us to appropriate these teachings in our datiy lives and thus become better christians and studying together and alone the retary Davis said in a statement. study.
