The Real Men.

(Houston Post)
Still, when you behold the pelly-beans and flappers and the future of the country looks dark, brace up and peep in upon a Boy Scout troop. There are real men coming on, even if you don't see them on the street corners.

THE STOP LAW

(Charlotte Observer)

The complaints that were heard in the early days of operation of the North Carolina stop law, as applied to railroad crossings, appear to have ceased entirely. Some people in whose minds the safety-first principle obtains, observe the law to the letter and take the trouble to come to a complete halt; others slow down almost to a stop, and all have a caution. The respect paid the law explains the absence of crossing accidents during the past few months. An accident at the crossing now is regarded as sensational news. The law as applied to this State gives opportunities for modifications, and it will be modified at the next session of the Legislature, but it is unquestionably proving a popular law and is on the books to stay. The stop law, moreover, promises to become of general adoption. It is now in force in five States: these five being North Carolina, Illinois, Tennessee, Virginia and Montana. It is stated in The Railway Age that operation of the Illinois law is limited by the proviso that it shall apply at only crossings having an official stop sign, and these signs have been set up. The Railway Age points out, only at crossings which have been formally designated by the Corporation Commission as extra hazardous. The number thus designated is about 4,500.

The law of Montana has an elaborate modifying clause which requires a full stop at crossings outside cities and towns, where the view is obscure, or where a train is within sight or hearing, "except at crossings having a mechanical warning or flagman," and no penalty for violation of the law is specified.

The law of North Carolina contains a clause to the effect that local authorities can still have their own way at crossings.

The law of Tennessee has been in force six years, but to a large extent has been generally ignored or disregarded.

How To Clarify a Soup.

First, strain the soup stock into a bowl and leave it uncovered until the fat hardens in a cake on top. Remove this cake of fat. (If you are in a hurry and can not wait until the fat hardens, skim off as much as possible with a spoon and remove the rest by putting in lumps of ice; the fat hardens on the ice and may be removed in this way. Or if you have no ice, remove the fat with sheets of tissue-paper as you would blot up ink.) After this is removed, measure the stock and put it in a saucepan. Allow one egg-white and one shell for each quart of stock. Beat and add both to the stock. Put over the fire and stir constantly until it begins to boil. Continue boiling for two minutes, lower the heat and let it barely simmer for 20 minutes. Strain through two thickness of cheese-cloth placed over a fine strainer.—From the December Delinquent.

Oxford People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home.

D. Mangum, prop. grocery, Goshen St., residence R. 4, Oxford, says: "When it comes to a good kidney medicine, I can always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for they saved me from calling in a doctor. They have always been used in my family with good results. When I was farming, my kidneys gave out and I had a hurting in my back that bothered me a lot and it used to tire me out. I was troubled with the irregular action of my kidneys and the secretions burned in passage. I finally used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me up in a short time. I haven't had any return of the trouble, thanks to Doan's."
