Fortune telling is a most faschmilling pastime but there are so many different ways of telling fortunes and reading character that it is hard in say which is most fun. One way of warding character is by feeling the branch on a person's head. This is called phron-ol-ogy. My, but that's a big wor but it isn't quite as big as physical promy, which means the science of reading the face. You can promote these two big words if you'd just any your ph's like its. The rest is easy. If you want to tell fortunes get a group of children and pick one of the most observant for your throughout. Then blindfold him and they for and has a good memory he can recognize his subject's character from what he knows about him as the bumps are felt. But better still, if you want to make it funny, have the phrenologist say all sorts of abourd things that will make the children laugh.

Sift together the flour and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika and late this work the butter as for biscalf dough. Add the yolk of the egg and enough sweet milk to blead.
