AMERICAN PRESS ASSO.

THE BALANCE

Dr. J. Howard Beard, of the University of Illinois, says an epidemic of injury has succeeded epidemics of infection. Suicide and whooping-cough death rates are now equal. So are railroad-crossing fatalities and scarlet fever. Automobile fatalities equal deaths from scarlet fever and diphtheria combined. Accidental deaths in industry equal deaths from measles, whooping cough and diphtheria combined. And in some of the more sanitary cities more people die from automobile-exhaust gas than from typhoid fever. Death has a way of evening things up. Oh, well, if it isn't one thing it's another.

WIRELESS EDUCATION

Popular interest in radio is not lessening, and it probably will achieve unprecedented intensity next winter. Meanwhile sensitive people have begun to worry about the possibility of what they call "further standardization" of the American mind through the medium of this new wonder of the world. They insist that while increasing emphasis is put on the value of radio as a means of popular education, the people of incurably conventional minds manage somehow to monopolize the facilities of broadcasting stations.

There are many people who would hesitate to have their minds remolded by the average broadcaster of speeches and "instructive talks." And they need have no fears for the rest of the country. Radio towers, like the printing press, can never be controlled by any particular group in the United States. We are an eagerly curious people, and the competitive instinct is too strong in us to permit anything approximating a monopoly of news, ideas and opinions.

SEEING NEW YORK

Like the women of Mr. Kipling's celebrated verse, all American communities are alike in spirit immediately beneath their more or less misleading surfaces. New York, metropolis of the world, home of the sophisticates and supposedly self-complacent beyond words, behaved last week as any other American town would behave on a great holiday when strangers were about to be made happy and impressed.

It is indeed a town. Its eminent citizens lie awake at nights thinking of ways in which they may show that their community is more generous, more alive, more progressive and more certainly on its toes than any other in this wide world. All this proves again that as a people we are young and full of hope and good humor and genuine kindness. Only when an American city is unable to be enthusiastic about itself shall we have reason to feel that we have stopped growing.

Mrs. Palmer Jerman, president of the North Carolina Federation of Woman's Clubs and greatly beloved by the whole state, was an enthusiastic supporter of McAdoo and sat with the North Carolina delegation. When asked what she thought of New York and the welcome extended to the visitors her most charming personality was warmly asserted.

"I have been to New York many times before but never knew it could be like this," she said. "The average tourist coming to New York often leaves it depressed because of its greatness and apparent cruel regard for the individual. Our reception has been wonderful and overwhelming in its warmth and generosity. Send my good wishes to the democrats of North Carolina."

THE EAGLE'S BROTHER

The people who feel that the stuff of shining romance is present in most of the great enterprises of today it will seem quite fitting that the greatest feat of aviation in the army's history was achieved by the littlest plane yet devised for the business of sky-fighting.

Seen in her hangar, the "pursuit" plane in which Lieutenant Maughan made his flight from coast to coast last week in less than twenty-two hours seems almost small enough to tuck under your arm. The lines of her slim body and the angle at which she rests are those of a meditative grasshopper. She is all wings and engine, a thing made for terrible speed and terrible adventure. She has no room for company, or even for the usual mechanic who rides with slower-going scouts or bombers. She has only one tiny seat, and that is without cushions, because cushions take up space and can be weighed.

Banked high in the tiny cockpit and facing and partly surrounding the operator, like the console of an organ, is the instrument board and the devices that register the functions of the motor, the drift of wind pressure, speed, altitude, direction and the like. Mounted within reach, at points approximately those at which windshield anchorages are placed on an automobile body, are two machine guns, which the pilot is supposed to use while his plane takes care of herself. The speed of Lieutenant Maughan's machine is estimated roughly at about 200 miles an hour. But this is by no means the limit of what the newest army planes can do.

It is said that one man stood on the landing field at San Francisco and looked at the sky when the great organ note of Maughan's arriving plane was first heard overhead and opening his arms in a gesture of passionate welcome. Such as he are the makers of history. They are obscure and anonymous. But something of their spirit helps to keep record-making planes in the air. Their business is to swarm over a plane when it lands and see that its temperatures and pressures are what they should be and hunt for any sign of weakness. They give all they have in order that a thing of silk and wood and metal may live and be glorious in the eyes of the world.

THE SECOND PRIMARY

Major T. G. Stem and Capt. B. S. Royster Jr., Endorse Honorable Frank D. Grist.

To the Voters Of Granville Co.: The State Board of Elections has ordered a second Primary to be held on July 5, 1924 for the purpose of nominating a Democratic Candidate for the office of Commissioner of Labor and Printing. This second Primary was requested by Honorable Frank D. Grist of Caldwell County, who is a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Labor and Printing, runner-up in the first Primary. Inasmuch as some criticism has been made of Mr. Grist for requesting and putting the State to the expense of holding another Primary, we feel that such criticism is unfair and unjust, and we do not believe that right-thinking people will let it have anything to do with influencing their vote. The election law provides for second Primaries, just as it does for first Primaries. Why might we not just as well say that the State ought not to be put to the expense of holding any Primaries at all, but just continue the State officers for the term of their lives, or why might we not say with equal fairness, that no State office can have more than two candidates, who would be the first to file action. Either one of the above propositions is equally as fair under our present primary law as to deny a candidate the right to a second Primary.

Honorable Frank D. Grist is a veteran of the World War, having served with distinction as a member of the First American Division in France. During the war he was wounded and has had to spend eight months or more in government hospitals. He was cited and decorated for bravery in action. He is not asking the voters of North Carolina to nominate him because of his military service and war record, but upon his qualifications for the office, to which he aspires. Certainly none of us will be so unfair and so unjust as to hold his military service and war record against him. All that he asks and all that we ask for him is that the voters of Granville County do not condemn him because he has demanded a second primary. Anyone of us or anyone of you may sometime be placed in the same position, in which Mr. Grist finds himself at this time, and we should very much regret anyone condemning us for demanding that to which we would be rightly entitled under the law. If Mr. Grist has sinned, he has certainly sinned within the law of North Carolina, which is your law as well as his. We ask that the people of Granville County give Mr. Grist that support to which he is entitled by reason of his qualifications to fill the office, to which he aspires.

Granville County is Endeavoring to Prevent Diphtheria and Typhoid Fever

GRANVILLE COUNTY and the North Carolina State Board of Health are offering FREE PROTECTION AGAINST SICKNESS OR DEATH from each of these diseases to every white and colored man, woman and child in the county.

In 1922 508 died in North Carolina from Diphtheria and Croup. About 250 of these were under 6 years. TOXIN-ANTITOXIN WOULD HAVE SAVED THE EXPENSE OF SICKNESS AND THESE LIVES. Every child between 6 months and 10 years should take the treatment which protects it for several years. It has been shown by careful records that three doses will immunize about eighty-five per cent of children treated.

THE TREATMENT PREVENTING TYPHOID has been one way for reducing the number of deaths from 839 to 263 in 9 years. TAKE IT. YOUR NEIGHBOR MAY BE CARELESS. Three treatments of each are necessary. Each is harmless—practically certain and almost painless. Neither causes any sores.

BRING THE BABIES. SAVE THEM. THEY CANNOT SAVE THEMSELVES. Protect your own lives for their sakes.

Remember, we wish to improve the health of black and white, old and young, rich and poor—YOU and the other fellow.
