

Six Films Offered At County Library

Six new films, all with sound and three of them in color, have been received at Granville County Library for free use of teachers and others having occasion to use them for instruction and entertainment prior to Jan. 14.

Here is a brief summary of each of the films:

ATOM AND AGRICULTURE. 12 minutes, sound, black and white. Reveals the legitimate areas in which radioactivity can be expected to produce practical results for agriculture. Tells the important story of the use of radioactive tracers with phosphate fertilizers; the effect of the fertilizers on a variety of crops grown under a variety of conditions. Experiments with plants, soils, and animals.

HOMESPUN. 22 minutes, sound, color. Re-enacts in color the story of Mandelina Oberg, farmwife, mother, and immigrant to Minnesota. In later life Mandelina re-discovered an art she first learned in Sweden—the folk art of spinning and weaving wool. She demonstrates each step as she does it by hand.

TRIO (WORLD ARTISTS). 30 minutes, sound, color. Life Magazine's famous photographic story on the great soloists Rubenstein, Heifetz and Platigorsky, when in rehearsal, inspired this intimate photographic study of genius at work. The trio collaborate in the First Movement of Schubert's Trio in B-Flat and the First, Second and Third Movements of the Trio in D-Minor by Mendelssohn.

U. S. DOLLAR TOPIC OF BABSON'S DISCUSSION

By ROGER W. BABSON, of Europeans by increasing their productivity. This means showing them how to develop mass markets for their manufactures. We hoped to win converts with refrigerators, shoes, radios and many other items.

What we seem to have overlooked is the fundamental European desire for security. The American economy is dynamic. Competitiveness is inbred; risk-taking and venture capital are common denominators of our success. The European, on the other hand, is a stable, protected economy. Production is stabilized; prices are controlled; the worker is protected; competition is discouraged; the common denominator is security. People are interested in working harder for security, but not in selling more units at less profit per unit.

A Cynic's Reaction

One cynic in the group said, "All right, then, why do we try to force the American ways on Europe? These Europeans are happy; why should we unload a dose of American ulcers on them?" A comment from another went something like this, "Austria's productive capacity has been sharply increased since World War II. We were not concerned about them before the war; why should we be concerned now?" A reputable economist in the group raised another issue: "Europe knew it had a threat from the East, an enemy in Communist Russia. Might not Europeans now believe that they have two enemies seeking to infiltrate or absorb them—Russia and America?"

My own belief is that we must fight poor economics with good economics. We cannot hope to sell democracy to people who are economically enslaved by their institutions. If we do not act constructively, we shall lose Europe to Communism by default.

Our Spiritual Value Below Par

I have a pet notion which I know will shock some of you, but think about it a while. Our dollar bill is a good measure of our spiritual values. A paper dollar isn't worth anything of itself; but as a medium of exchange, it is a measure of values. It reflects such spiritual values as honesty, wisdom, courage, and integrity. From 1939 to 1953, the value of our dollar declined from 100 cents to about 55 cents. Does this decline in dollar value mirror our decline in character?

Dollar depreciation is largely a result of war. But why? Instead of paying as we went, we were taught to borrow against the future. This could be perfectly O.K., because we owed nobody but ourselves. But it gave us the illusion of prosperity. It steepest self-sacrifice while increasing our national debt beyond what we could pay during these war years.

Importance of Sacrifice

We have given young Americans the notion that they can charge their present happiness against some future date of accounting. We have developed the materialistic belief that money will buy everything, including the way Europeans think! The present value of the dollar reflects this belief. Perhaps it will take defeat in Europe to bring us to the realization that freedom cannot be bought with dollars without sacrifice. We should have learned that lesson 175 years ago.

The practical cure for Communism is not material, it is spiritual. It is not the amount of dollars you pour into a situation; it is the ideals, it is not security and pensions and comfort; it is ideals and ethics and character. It is those principles that make our dollar worth something. Right now our dollar is below par; I have faith, however, that as more Americans come to realize this great truth, we will put our own house in order. Then maybe what we have to say will make more sense to Europeans. We must practice and teach sacrifice.

The games, appropriate to the season, were led by Mrs. Algen Clay, re-creation leader.

Mrs. Bullock served fruits to the ten members and two visitors present.

The January meeting will be with Mrs. Lawrence Fleming.

LIFE IN THE SAHARA. 14 minutes, sound, color. Reviews the important aspects of the life, habits and customs of people living in the great Sahara.

NORTHERN RAMPARTS. 18 minutes, sound, black and white. The complete and timely story of America's last frontier—Alaska, a keystone of national defense and a storehouse of natural resources. Today, in the age of jet plane and the atom bomb, hardy persons are carving farms out of Alaska's wilderness. Fishermen, trappers, lumbermen are wrestling fortunes from its waters and forests.

PREHISTORIC TIMES: WORLD BEFORE MAN. 10 min. sound, black and white. Colorful dioramas, actual fossil remains, examples of terrain, and realistic models of prehistoric animals and plants are interwoven skillfully to establish the broad impression of the earth's transformation and the accompanying changes in life.
