AIRCRAFT RETURNS HOME

A Canadian Air Force squadron leader, imprisoned two years in Red China, has returned to Vancouver, B. C., where he fell into the open arms of his pretty blond wife. The reunion of A. H. Mc-Kenzie, 34, and his wife, Joyce, 33, was the happy ending of long months of hopes and prayers by both, and by their four children.

During winter shipments of coal in open hopper cars, salt is used to prevent coal freezing and to facilitate its unloading.

These Creedmoor Merchants and Business Men Wish For Everyone A Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year

SANTA'S MAIL BAG

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little boy eight years old. I go to Wilton School. I am in the third grade. My teacher is Miss Bessie Dean. I want you to bring me a BB rifle and a box of BB shots and a zipper notebook. I have two little sisters. You can bring them a doll. Don't forget my cousin Paul Latta. You can look under the Christmas tree for a slice of cake when you get to my house. Love, Thomas Earl Dashiell, Route 2, Oxford, N. C.

Dear Santa Claus: We are twins so we want you to bring us the same things. We would like to have a big doll, color books, crayons, gloves and a piano, some fruits, nuts, and candy. Our little brother wants a horse shoe set and a farm set. Be good to all the little boys and girls. Love, Mary and Mildred Frazier, RFD 1, Franklinton, N. C.

Christmas Program At Gray Rock Methodist Church Draws Crowd

GRAY ROCK, Dec. 2—A large crowd attended the Christmas program at Gray Rock Sunday night. Capt. James Flowers of the Air Force Base at Greenville, S. C., spent the week-end with his wife and children at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Floyd. Mrs. Flowers and children, who have been with Mrs. Floyd while her husband was attending officers' training school at Maxwell Field, returned home with Capt. Flowers.

A-3C Shirley Bridgers of Caswell AFB, Ft. Worth, Texas, is spending the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. Emory Bridgers, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gentry of Raleigh, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Crutchfield last week-end.

School Children Getting Facts On Forest Resources

Southern States Forest Fire Commission is Emphasizing Conservation

How Granville County timber growers may save tens of thousands of dollars by carefully selecting the trees to sell for paperwood instead of clearing off long body pines, poplars and gums is being emphasized in material sent to schools of this area by the Southern States Forestfire Commission, Inc., a non-profit educational group that is financed by banking, lumber, veneer and wood industries of 20 states.

An attempt is being made by the commission and associate groups to reach the students of schools and colleges here on a conservation program of education that encourages one and all to hold to not less than one hundred healthy long body saplings on each acre cut over for paperwood instead of denuding the acreage. Denuding, it is pointed out, means there will be no more cash crops for logs to the owner during the present generation. In other words, the land owner loses the production each year for thirty or forty years but if a stand is left he gets the increased cash profits by increased number of board feet regularly.

Due to the drought, unexpected demands on the farmer and others, he often feels forced to cash out to the extent of his ability on any timber he holds.

However, where it is possible for him to borrow money, he will find that a little tree that sells for a dime now will bring a dollar if held for eight or ten years more.

In order to implement the work, the commission expects to send one or more speakers to some of our schools and also is listing with the school authorities of this area a series of sound color motion pictures which are available on loan without cost excepting transportation.

Hunting Season Can Offer Fun or Tragedy

The hunting season is often as dangerous to the hunter as it is to the hunted. County Agent C. V. Morgan cautions that with more hunters in the field than ever before, common sense should be the by-word in handling guns and that consideration of the rights and safety of others should always be observed.

Morgan points also to this important reminder—the true hunter displays both sportsmanship and safety. He knows how to use the right gun for the right game. He hunts only in season and does not take the limit unless he can use the meat or trophies.

For bird hunting, the hunter takes a trained dog to retrieve cripples. He puts out campfires and cigarettes carefully, breaks matches before dropping them, and in other ways shows that he is "using his head."

The county agent calls attention to these "10 commandments" of the true sportsman:

- 1: Treat every gun as if it were loaded.
- 2: Carry only empty guns taken down or with the action open, into your auto, camp and home.
- 3: Be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
- 4: Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
- 5: Be sure of your target before pulling the trigger.
- 6: Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
- 7: Never leave the gun unattended unless unloading it first.
- 8: Don't climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
- 9: Don't shoot at a flat hard surface or the surface of water.
- 10: Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Several registered Holsteins in North Carolina have recently added to or achieved lifetime milk production totals of 100,000 pounds or more. This is about five times the lifetime production of the average cow.

Are you planning to fill your cookie jar with Christmas tidbits? Here are two recipes which are both simple drop cookies and tasty.

- Jiffy Cookies
- 2 egg whites
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 2 cups nuts
- Beat egg whites. Fold in brown sugar and nuts. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake at 325 deg.
- Chocolate Nut Mounds
- 1 sq. (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
 - 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk
 - 2 cups chopped walnuts
 - 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Melt chocolate in sauce pan or top of double boiler over hot water. When smooth pour in condensed milk. (Make certain it is sweetened condensed milk). Stir, then add the walnuts and vanilla extract. Stir again. Drop batter from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet and bake at 350 deg. about 15 minutes. Makes about two dozen cookies.

Some 400,000 U. S. apartment buildings use 25 to 600 tons of coal a year for heating.
