interesting review of "An Adventure in Love" by Dr. W. Tallaferrro Thompson. The story centered around the love, loyalty, devotion and understanding that should exist between husband and wife, and between parents and children in the making of happy Christian lives, in adversity as well as prosperity. She mentioned the past, in which the roots of integrity, reverence and unselfish love were buried deep in homes and school life. Homes where many things, many pressures, kept the family together. Mrs. Merrin also spoke of the lack of sincere love, which is responsible for so many broken homes.

The hostess served delicious frozen icces, carrying out the valentine motif, party cakes and nuts. Mrs. Stuart Sechrist and young daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, have returned to their home in Chapel Hill after having spent the past week here with Mrs. Sechrist's mother, Mrs. E. A. Tuck.

Bohannon, III, and Becky Bohannon of Altavista; Mrs. Frank McKinney, Jr., and young daughters, Ginger, Marilyn and Becca Bo, and J. H. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pund of Burlington, were week-end guests of Mrs. Fond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Puryear.
