Suggestions For Fall Flowers and Plant Propagation By M. E. GARDNER (N. C. State College)

Hardy Chrysanthemums probably give you more color than any other flowering plant you can grow. Now is the time to prepare for late summer and early fall color parade. You have three choices: (1) buy rooted cuttings; (2) root your own cuttings from the new growth on your plants; (3) divide the root clumps. Chrysanthemums will come back from the same location for several years, but they are usually best the first year. Plant gladiolus every two weeks for a succession of flowers during the summer. In the vegetable garden, succession plantings of sweet corn and snap beans are in order for the lower Piedmont and Eastern Carolina. Tomato Plant Care Stake and mulch tomato plants. Before mulching, cultivate to destroy weeds. The mulch should be about four inches deep and can be made of clean grain straw or pine straw. Keep the tomatoes pruned by pinching out the tender shoots as they form in the axils of the leaves (at the base of the leaf stem). Don't let them get too long before pinching.

The iris may be considered as the constant companion of a well-planned garden. They grow well in all sections of the state and are little trouble. Rhizomes may be divided any time after the blooming period until about October in the lower Piedmont and Eastern Carolina and September in the mountains. Be on guard for lace bugs on azalea, pyracantha, Washington hawthorne and rhododendron. Spray with Malathion, mixed with water according to instructions. Do a good job of covering leaves, especially the undersides. Feed Properly This is the growing season and the time to see that vegetables, shade trees, flowering shrubs and all growing things are properly fed. Don't over-do the feeding schedule. It is better to feed lightly and often - rather than infrequent heavy feedings. Fresh manure is good if you have it. Dehydrated manure can be purchased. Most of us use a complete fertilizer such as an 8-8-8. A special acid-forming fertilizer is best for azaleas and camellias. Plants must be fed with care and understanding. There is no rule of thumb. Frequency and amounts of plant food applied will depend upon the kind of plant and the soil type. -A bill extending North Carolina's minimum wage law to 23,000 more workers survived a life and death test in the House Wednesday.
