WHERE IS THE KING?

Oh, where is the King in his beauty and grace?
I have sought for him everywhere,
With weary feet through the noisy street,
And over the mountains bare.
My soul is bound to a heavy clod—
A burden of grief and pain;
And I read that free shall the captive be
When Shiloh shall come to reign.

I dwelt awhile with the proud and gay,
But I heard of his kingly grace,
And I said, 'I will give all this life I live
For one hour to behold his face.'
So I went out alone to the highway broad,
And questioned of all I knew:
"O, say, will you bring me straight to the King?
I would worship him with you."

They looked at me with a strange surprise,
Some answered, "The church is near,
Go give them your hand in a fellowship grand,
Then onward—there's nothing to fear."
And others: "There's water, go in there and leave
Your sins, and arise new create."
Still others, "Build high your good deeds to the sky,
And climb where the king will await."

The great bells rang from a lordly steep,
To call the wanderers in;
Chiming, "Lo, he is near, who worship here
His favor is sure to win."
I sat with the high-bred multitude,
In glittering and costly array;
I heard the song from the choral throng,
And bowed with the "Let us pray."

And the cultured voice, in accents fine,
Addressed him as one aneer,
To lift up the soul where the planets roll,
And broaden man's lordly sphere.
But my heart grew faint with its hope deferred,
For the thoughts, though high and grand,
Led not to his feet where the rest is sweet,
And tears are wiped by his hand.

And I looked on the world with its want and sin,
Its greed of golden gain;
Its vice enrolled with the heroes bold,
Its virtue oppressed in pain;
Its frantic rush for the highest seat
O'er the bleeding hearts of men;
Its falling tears through the weary years,
Till Shiloh shall come to reign.

Oh, where is my Lord? Have ye borne him away
Of whom the world is in need?
The pitying love all treasure above
Only bound and embalmed in your creed?
O, give us the living and take back your dead;
We have heard of a Savior divine,
A Christ who has risen from spirits in prison,
Oh, light of the morning shine!

HARRIET WARNER REQUA.

OUR REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS.

News and Observer,

Hon. A. H. A. WILLIAMS has introduced a bill to define what Trusts are and to prevent them from being formed in the United States. His bill is a very excellent one. How it differs from the law already on the statute books of the United States and of this State we cannot say, as we have not then before us. But the provisions of his bill are to the point. We notice that he exempts those who join organizations to increase the price of the product of the soil from the operation of his measure. The farmers cannot well go into a trust.

Another bill offered by Mr. Williams is to impose a tax on all incomes over $5.000. That is a very proper measure.

And Mr. Williams hits it right in providing that the larger the income, the higher shall be the rate of taxation. The tremendous fortunes of the present day arise largely from the accretions of enormous incomes. The great incomes which are not needed for family support should be taxed at a higher rate than more moderate ones.

Mr. Williams is showing considerable activity at Washington.

The WEEKLY cheerfully publishes not only the full text of the two bills alluded to above, but Mr. Williams' bill on free coinage.

THE BILL ON TRUSTS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That a trust is a combination of capital or skill by two or more persons, firms, or corporations for the purpose of creating restrictions on trade or limiting or affecting the price of merchandise, products of the soil, or other commodities of general use, or which tends to affect the sale or price of such merchandise, products of the soil, or other commodities, or prevent competition in the manufacture, sale, or purchase of the same, or the control on the part of any person or persons, or one or more firms or corporations, of any patent or trade-marks, thereby creating a monopoly intended or having the effect to prevent free and full competition in the manufacture, production, or sale of any commodity of general use; or the control by any person or persons, any firm or firms, corporation or corporations, of the manufacture of any article or commodity of general use for the purpose of creating a monopoly, or which tends to create a monopoly so as to affect the prices of the same to the injury of the people.

SEC. 2. That it shall be unlawful to form and maintain a trust within the meaning of this act in any State or States or Territory of the United States or in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. That any person acting in his own behalf, or as agent of any firm or coporation whatsoever, who shall aid in any manner in the organization or carrying on of a trust, or be in any manner interested therein, or who shall, after the passage of this act, aid in the business of a trust, or be in any way interested therein, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than ten thousand, and may be imprisoned in any penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years, for each and every offence.

SEC. 4. That it shall be the duty of United States district attorneys in every district, on the request of any person or persons making complaint, to prosecute for a violation of this act; and they are hereby instructed to call the attention of the grand jury of each of their several districts, and to lay before them the law as above enacted: Provided, That this act shall not be constructed to apply to any organization of farmers formed for the purpose of increasing the products of the soil or the price of the same.

SEC. 5. That all laws or parts of law in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

BILL TO TAX INCOMES.

Whereas the farmers and laboring classes of our country have been paying an unjust and unequal taxation imposed upon them by the Government, and are demanding of their Representatives in Congress some measure of relief; and Whereas taxes for the support of the Government should be imposed upon the citizens of the United States fairly and justly so that all should bear the burden of taxation in proportion to their ability to pay, with equal and exact justice to all and special privileges to none: Therefore, Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every person, real estate, or corporation residing or domiciled in the United States whose annual income shall be five thousand a year and upward, derived from any source whatever, shall be assessed and required to pay income tax as follows, the same to be collected by the collectors of internal revenue, and paid annually into the Treasury of the United States, to wit: On five thousand dollars up to ten thousand dollars, one per centum of said income; ten thousand dollars to twenty-five thousand dollars, two per centum of said income; twenty-five thousand dollars to fifty thousand dollars, three per centum of said income; fifty thousand dollars to seventy five thousand dollars five per centum of said income; seventy-five thousand dollars to one hundred thousand dollars, six per centum of said income; one hundred thousand dollars to two hundred thousand dollars, eight per centum of said income; and all over two hundred thousand dollars, ten per centum of said income.

SEC. 2. That the tax herein before provided for shall be assessed annually upon said income for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June, and shall be levied annually on the first day of August in each and every year, and be due and payable on or before the first day of November in each year; and in addition to any sum annually due and unpaid after the first of November, and for ten days after notice and demand thereof by the collector, there shall be levided and collected as penalty the sum of five per centum on the amount unpaid, and interest on said amount at the rate of one per centum per month from the time the same became due, except from the estates of deceased or insane persons.

SEC. 3. That the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall from time to time, as he may deem it necessary, issue regulations for the assessment and collection of the taxes hereby imposed, and for the carrying into effect the provisions of this act.

FREE COINAGE BILL.

That it shall be lawful for any person or persons to deposit at any mint of the United Stated silver bullion of standard fineness, in quantities of not less than one hundred ounces, and to have the same coined into dollars of four hundred and twelve and one half grains troy, on the same terms and subject to like conditions that gold is received and coined at said mints; and said dollars shall be legal tender, at their nominal value, for all debts and dues, public and private.

THE TALLEST MAN ON EARTH DEAD.

"Colonel" Pickett Nelson, who claimed to be the tallest man on earth died in Baltimore Friday. He had been ill for three weeks with typhoid fever. His body measured eight feet five inches in length. In life he claimed to be eight feet one inch tall, and to weight 397 pounds. After death his frame relaxed and became four inches longer than it had been. Nelson was a colored man.

THE COMMITTEE FAVOR ELECTION OF SENATORS BY POPULAR VOTE.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—The House committee on election of the President and Vice-President and members of Congress met today and discussed the several joint resolutions before the committee proposing amendments to the constitution providing for the election of Senators by a direct vote of the people. After some discussion, a test vote was taken on the principle involved in the several resolutions. The vote showed the committee were almost unanimously in favor of reporting a measure providing for the election of Senators by the people. The meeting was then adjourned until Wednesday next.

SPURGEON'S HUMILITY.

Danville Register.

MR. SPURGEON, the London preacher, who recently passed away, was great in his humility. "Brethren," said he on one occasion to his congregation, "I sometimes get a little anxious about you. I wonder what you will do when I am called away, and how you will get along without me. But when such thoughts come into my heart I say to myself, 'Thou fly upon the chariot wheel of the Great King, where wast thou when He laid the foundations of the earth? God will take care of you.'"

WILL CLEVELAND RETIRE.

It is stated by several Washington correspondents that ex-President Cleveland decided two weeks ago to announce his positive and final withdrawal from the presidential contest. He communicated his determination to a few of his most intimate friends. They urged him almost vehemently not to do so. Finally, against his own inclination, he agreed to postpone the announcement for a short time. Then he went to Louisiana.

It is claimed that Mr. Cleveland is disgusted because his advice has either been disregarded or unsought by his political associates, and that he furthermore had reconized the hopelessness of his candidacy without the support of his own State, which he saw diverted to the support of Senator Hill. He therefore determined to cut loose from the race, but the importunities of his friends decided him to wait some time before he announced his determination.

Should he withdraw five names besides that of Hill become conspicuous. They are Pattison, Carlisle, Palmer, Boies, and Gray. All these but Gray are Cleveland men.
