THE REVENGES OF TIME, VANCE VINDICATED.

The professional friend of silver who voted for unconditional repeal was indeed "a knave or a fool." The truth of the prophetic dictum of the late Senator Vance is well illustrated in the following admirable article from the Raleigh News and Observer: The Washington Post contains two thoughtful articles, one on the avarice Samuel Spencer, F. W. Huldekoper and that kills, in which that paper points out that British capitalists have overreached thems -lves in degrading silver. On this the Post remarks. "Indications multiply to the effect that the Lordon capitalists who control the money markets of the world

Then follows a statement of facts that South America is in a terrible financial condition and that "Mexico has notified the money lenders of Europe that if they parsist in making sil ver worthless they may whistle for their money.'

The Post concludes that article as follows: "The fact remains, however, that the London financiers are in a fair way to become the chief victims of their own insatiate ayarice. In forcing the gold standard upon the world they have made gold more valuable, to be sure, but they have at the same time crippled Asia and America, and to that extent narrowed the field in which their money may be prefitably ems ployed. It would seem, upon the whole, that the evolution set in motion by the demonetization of silver in In dia and accelerated by the action of our Congress last year has been anything but beneficial to the world at large, and least of all to those at whose behest it was conceived."

As to all that, we hazard two comments at this point: First that the 10 to sm 12 01 am more than the bullion in the gold dols the principles of the party as laid down lar; and instead of a fault being imby the Chicago convention of 1892, and Carlyle in that wonderful col-In commenting on the work of the lection of essays "Sartor, Resartus," says: "Ye must either work or steal, by whatever name you call your stealng." No woman who lives in indolence can be in a "high state of civilization." Wealth does not give her the right to be a dull clod. The wealthrest women are oftentimes the busicst ones. A gentle women whose life and wealth was devoted to others died not long ince, clearly the victim of overwork for the good of others. Similar instances are not unknown. Certainly the continuation of its discussion the neplodder at the factory, in the kitchens and workshops of our land are not the only workers. All noble, conscientious settlers. The maryelous success of Hood's Sarsaparilla has attracted wondering attention from all directions. Even those familiar with the medicine business have been amazed at the rise of Hood's Sarsaparilla from an obscure beginning and its steady advance to the first place among the medicines of America. Men are asking, what is the secret of success? Well, there is a secret, but an open one. It is simply this: Hoed's Sarsaparilla posesses absolute merit.

It does accomplish the most remarkable cures of scrofula, sait rheum and all blood diseases; it does relieve the misery of dyspepsia and indigestion; it does cure sick headache, create an appetite and overcome that tired feeling; it does cure catarrh, theumatism, and

Notwithstanding the hard times, corn and beans continue to grow. Cabbage and potatoes still respond to the tages, then outside money commenced coaxing hoe and plow. WORK.

The girl who if ashamed of work is a common person in this Democratic country. This is probably one of the necessary evils arising from the abandonment of fixed standards of social rank. The vulgar and foolish are apt to measure the consideration due an indiidual by the length of her purse. Thus it comes that flaunting indolence is set up as the standard of a lady by a large class who are too stupid to understand any other distinction. The beautiful old definition of a lady
