FACE TO FACE WITH TROUBLE

Face to face with trouble:
And did you forget to look,
As the good old father taught you,
For help to the dear old Book? You have heard the tempter whisper,

And you've had no heart to pray, And God was dropped from your scheme of life . For many a weary day.

Theo, face to face with trouble, It is thus he calls you back From the land of drear and famine To the land that has no lack.

You would not hear in the sunshine, You hear in the midnight gloom; Behold, His tapers kindle Like stars in the quiet room. O! face to face with trouble, Friend, I have often stood: To learn that pain hath sweetness, To know that God is good.

Arise and meet the daylight; Be strong and do your best!
With an honest heart and childlike faith
That God will do the rest. -M. F. SANGSTEE

Our readers will please note carefully the question as propounded by our correspondent. We repeat it: "It has been circulated through this section that when the Legislature ceremonies. In the House there was no roll call and there is no record to show how all of the members voted. But we find in the proceedings of the Legislature that during the discussion Mr. Lillington, Republican, of Yadkin, "expressed his purpose to support the resolution and said he was a North Carolinian, willing, ready and anxious to do honor to the Governor elect of the State, whether Democrat, Republican or third party. He called upon his party to do as he was going to do. The question was put and the resolution unanimously passed its second and third readings." There were 15 other Republicans beside Mr. Lillington in the House and eleven Populists, but as there was no roil call the record hey failed to vote on this resonlution. Finally, this appropriation for inugural ceremonies was not a departappropriation was made in 1889 for Governor Fowle's inauguration, and we suppose a similar one had been made before that. There was some talk of discontinuing the appropriation when Carr was inaugurated, but the question was raised that, the appropriation having been made when lawyers were inaugurated Governor, if discontinued at that time it would be said that it was a personal affront to Gov. Carr, because he was a farmer and an Allianceman. And the Hickory Mercury and Progressive Farmer would have been the first papers in the State have said this very thing.

Tieveland Plaindealer, Sep. 10, 1894. WHEELING, W. VA., Sept. 9.-The good effects of the new tariff bill on the wool market are coming more rap-idly than even its most hearty support-ers had dared to wish. The Wheeling Register, through its special correspondents in eastern Ohlo, West Virginia, and western Peansylvania, has made inquiry concerning prices and demands, and the result has been far more than satifactory to the friends of
