JUST AS THOU WILT, AND WHEN AND WHERE.

Lord, speak to me, that I may speak
In living echoes of Thy tone;
As Thou hast sought, so let me seek
Thy erring children lost and lone.

Oh lead me, Lord, that I may lead
The wandering and the wavering feet;
Oh, feed me, Lord, that I may feed
Thy hungering ones with manna sweet.

Oh, strengthen me, that while I stand
Firm on the rock, and strong in Thee,
I may stretch out a living hand
To wrestlers with the troubled sea.

Oh, teach me, Lord, that I may teach
The precious things Thou dost impart;
And wing my words, that they may reach
The hidden depths of many a heart.

Oh, fill me with Thy fullness, Lord,
Until my very heart o'erflows.
In kindling thought and glowing word,
Thy love to tell, Thy praise to show.

Oh, use me, Lord, use even me
Just as Thou wilt, and when and where;
Until thy blessed face I see.
Thy rest, Thy joy, Thy Glory share.

TREATING WRONG DISEASES.

Many times women call on their family physicians suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

LANDIS FINES MAN ONE CENT.

Chicago, March 15.—United States Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who startled the financial world by imposing a fine of $20,000,000 upon the Standard Oil Company for rebating, went to the other extreme yesterday by finding an offender 1 cent.

The culprit was George S. Miller, a working man, who had tried in vain to collect a debt of $2 from Dr. D. S. Wilkins, of No. 4301 Cottage Grove Avenue. Finally Miller wrote doctor a dun on a postal card and was not choice in the words he used. Wilkins had him arrested, but the doctor himself had an unpleasant quarrel of an hour before Judge Landis.

"The maximum penalty in this case," said Judge Landis, "is five years' imprisonment." Then, as Miller trembled, the judge added, "but I will fine you 1 cent and you need not pay the costs."

Miller paid the fine and walked out of court.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes, 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

HOME-MADE MIXTURE CURES RHEUMATISM.

There is so much Rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice by an eminent authority, who writes for readers of a large Eastern daily paper, will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

Y. M. C. A. ADDRESS—DELIGHTFUL SOCIABLE—OLD TEACHERS WILL RETURN—NEW TENNIS COURT.

Bingham School Mebane, N. C., March 14, 1908.

Mr. Seymour W. Whiting, a leading merchant and prominent Christian layman, of Raleigh, will deliver the address before the Young Men's Christian Association, Sunday night, May 10th, during the Commencement Exercises. He will speak on the "Second Coming of Christ."

The reception given, at its last meeting, by the Kallisthenic Literary Society, in honor of some of the young ladies, was a great success. An interesting feature of the evening was a "mock trial," after which refreshments were served.

Practically all of the old teachers will return to Bingham for the session of 1908-09. Rev. E. A. Roads, B. S., Prof. O. W. Boland, B. Accts., Prof. O. L. Bairy and Prof. Walter S. Crawford, A. B., have already been engaged. Col. Roads this year has been a popular and successful Commandant of cadets. Prof. Boland has given the greatest satisfaction as teacher of Mathematics. His poetry, also, has been attracting much attention and discussion in the daily press. Prof. Crawford is a well known educator in Carolina, having been intimately identified with the work of the state and school for a number of years. Mr. Bairy is able in fine Penmanship, Bookkeeping and Shortland.

A site has been selected for the location of a new tennis court which when completed, will doubtless add to the already great popularity of the game at Bingham.

JUDGE PRITCHARD ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE.

An audience of between eight hundred and a thousand ladies and gentlemen, completely filling the parquet and first gallery of the Academy of Music, last night heard United States Circuit Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Asheville, in the opening address of the State prohibition campaign in this city. He spoke for a little more than an hour and was given the closest attention of his hearers, being frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause.

The meeting was declared a perfect success by prominent members of the Anti-Saloon League under the auspices of which it was held. Seated on the platform with the distinguished jurist were Chairman H. G. Fennell, of the Anti-Saloon Executive Committee; Iredell Meares, Esq., of the Wilmington bar, who had the pleasure of introducing the speaker, Rev. Fred D. Hale, Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., Rev. T. A. Smoot, Rev. G. A. Martin, Rev. C. F. Whitlock, Rev. T. P. Noe and other pastors of Wilmington churches; Messrs. D. L. Gore, John T. Sholar, W. M. Cummin, W. H. Sprunt, R. W. Herring, Esq., and others identified with the prohibition movement in this city.

Chairman Fennell called the meeting to order and thanked the large audience for its presence. Rev. Mr. Noe offered a very fervent prayer, invoking divine blessing upon all that might be said or done and Mr. Meares followed with an introduction of the speaker, carefully reviewing his career and paying high tribute to him as an eminent jurist and a man of unflinching courage. Mr. Meares spoke for about fifteen minutes and when Judge Pritchard arose, he was greeted with the most enthusiastic applause. Judge Pritchard spoke from manuscript and this perhaps detracted from the force of his argument, but all agreed that he made a fine presentation of his subject. He had no word of abuse for anyone and counseled against bitterness and vituperation in dealing with the question in hand. He returned the compliment so brilliantly paid him in the introduction by saying that he knew of no one in the State for whom he had a higher regard than Mr. Meares, taking occasion at the same time, to speak of his pleasure at visiting the Cape Fear people and of speaking to them upon the great campaign which was about to be launched.

He first took up the business feature of the argument advanced by those opposed to prohibition and essayed an answer to the argument not only from a material point of view but from the point of view of good morals. A number of letters from towns and cities in the State which are already under prohibition were read to support his contention that prohibition doesn't hurt business. He also dealt with the issue of the demoralizing influence of strong drink upon the industrial workers of the country, laying particular stress upon the cotton milling industry and kindred enterprises in the States.

Ever and anon he departed from his manuscript to give side lights from the late local option election in Asheville in which he took such a prominent part and a little later read letters from merchants and business men to show that trade along what he chose to call the "more legitimate" lines had not suffered upon the advent of prohibition. He also read extracts from the police court record by Asheville to show that there had been a decrease of crime since the lid went down in the mountain metropolis. Kansas was cited as an example of prohibition and reference was made to the great sweep of prohibition sentiment all over the South. He later, however, quoted the internal revenue statistic to show that during 1907 there had been a vast increase in the amount of malt and spirituous liquors manufactured and sold, pleading that these millions be turned into other channels, making for the building up of a stronger Christian manhood and a more prosperous country.

His closing remarks were directed at answering the arguments as to "personal liberty," "prohibition doesn't prohibit," etc., as set out by those who opposed the anti-saloon movement. He told a first-rate anecdote at the expense of the "personal liberty" exponent and set the audience to laughing for some moments after. He made the remarkable statement that he believed the day was not far distant when Congress would turn aside from the tariff, banking and currency and the other great public questions upon which men and parties are divided, to discuss in the National halls of Legislation the issue of prohibition. He spoke hopefully of the passage of the law now pending to prevent Interstate shipment of liquors into prohibition territory and closed with an appeal to the men and women to go to the polls on May 26th and roll up a big majority from New Hanover for the cause, promising that Asheville would send down from the mountains a majority of two thousand.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Fennell again thanked the audience for its attendance and stated that in the near future ex-Governor Aycock and other prominent speakers would be here to discuss the prohibition question before the people of the county. Judge Pritchard, accompanied by Mrs. Pritchard arrived in the city yesterday morning from Richmond where Judge Pritchard has been presiding over the Circuit Court of Appeals, and they were entertained at the Orton, Judge Pritchard leaves this morning for Durham where he delivers an address this afternoon. Many of his friends called yesterday at his hotel to pay their respects.—Wilmington Star.

MR. WATSON QUOTES SCRIPTURE

[Editorial.]

Hon. James D. McNeill quotes Paul's advice to Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach's sake; Hon. Geo. L. Morton draws the line between Church and State; and now our good friend, Hon. Cyrus B. Watson dips into the Book of Proverbs for an anti-prohibition argument. Hear him:

The man of all others who now and then needs a stimulant is the man who daily wears himself out at hard labor. The man of natural heavy heart. * * * "It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes strong drink. * * * Give strong drink to him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts. * * * Let him drink and forget his poverty and remember his misery no more."

Was it not David who used these words? We don't know whether it was David who wrote these words or not. They are found in the 31st chapter of Proverbs. The part Mr. Watson omits makes a strong case for our State prohibition bill, and we will quote in full:

4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink;
5 Lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted.
6 Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts.
7 Let him drink, and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more.

The fifth verse, which Mr. Watson omits, disproves his theory, for under our form of government every citizen is a king (and every boy a prince), who must decide the great issues of right and truth, and the admonition to such is not to drink that which makes them forget the law or pervert the judgment of any of the afflicted, or "all the sons of affliction," as the margin reads. Our State prohibition bill provides for the exigencies mentioned in verses 6 and 7, strong drink for the sick, which can be obtained at the drug store, duly guaranteed under the Pure Food Act; while wine for those "that be of heavy hearts," can be made by any of our citizens for their own use, and sold in 2 1-2 gallon packages. Cider can be sold without restriction. (Which takes care of the surplus apples.)

If our friend will read Prov. 20:1, 23:21, 29:32, he will find there, what Lemuel's mother taught him is clapped to the echo, "At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder," is the sad experience of many a poor fellow whom Mr. Watson has been called on to defend at the bar of justice. And how graphically the terrible appetite is depicted in the words: "When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again." Seek what? The stuff that has dethroned the man and elevated his animal nature. Is that the way for the laboring man to forget his poverty?

As for the other objections Mr. Watson urges against prohibition, we do him the justice of saying they are consistent with the position he took in the fight over the Ward Bill in 1905, when he urged so strongly that it would hurt the Democratic party. His fears have proven groundless. Prohibition

THE CLUB.

Miss Minnie Williamson was the gracious hostess of the Tuesday Afternoon Reading Club on the 17th inst. In response to the roll call, anecdotes relating to the writers studied that afternoon were told, after which, under Mrs. R. P. Richardson's leadership, an interesting hour was spent in discussing Macaulay, Carlyle, Ruskin, George Eliot, Dickens, and other authors almost as celebrated. The magazine articles, "Among the Fishermen," and "The Scotch Crofters," were found to be very entertaining.

After enjoying delicious refreshments, the Club adjourned to meet with Miss Katherine Ellington, March 24th.

THOUSANDS PERISH.

Thousands perish every year from consumption resulting from a cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate racking coughs and expels the cold from your system and prevents consumption and pneumonia. It has cured many cases of incipient consumption. L. L. Sapp.

ELDER HARDY FOR KITCHIN AND OVERMAN.

Mr. Editor—In answer to your question, I will say that I am for the Hon. W. W. Kitchin, of Person county, for Governor of North Carolina for the next four years.

Mr. Kitchin is an open-hearted, honest man as a citizen. He is a very able lawyer and he is honest in that profession. He does not hesitate to plead the cause of the poor and the needy when the cause is just—no even when larger fees could be had on the other side. He does not take a fee until he has labored with his client to show him that he has a good cause for a suit unless he fully believes his case to be a good one.

As a Congressman he has been a faithful servant and won the just esteem of the citizenship not only of the Fifth District but of the whole State and the United States.

Having been fully tried and found faithful in every point, who can say but that he is the man whom the people should trust as our next Governor?

I believe that Kitchin is the man.

I also want to say that the Hon. Lee S. Overman is the man to succeed himself in the United States Senate. This is his first term, but it has not been filled without its good fruits. He is a faithful servant of the people. In my travels in the different sections I have heard nothing but good words for Mr. Overman and I feel sure that our people are satisfied with his past record and see no need for a change.

If a wagoner has a horse that pulls just right and every time he needs him to pull and please him in every way, can he afford to change him for another that he has not tried? The other may do just as well, but he cannot do better, and it would be bad judgment to trade that tried and faithful horse for an untried one. Even so with this case.

Mr. Overman is tried, true and faithful and the State of North Carolina will make a mistake if she trades him for one untried, however good he might be.

Let us have Kitchin for Governor and return Overman to the United States Senate and we are sure of faithful service in these two offices.

Very respectfully,
L. H. HARDY,
