HAPPENINGS THAT ARE OF INTEREST TO SALISBURIANS.

Miss Daisy Peebles is confined to her bed with malarial fever.

Prof. R. G. Kizer, county examiner, is at his office to-day examining teachers.

Mr. J. S. Marable is moving his beef stand to-day, to the old Shaver stand under the iron clad warehouse.

The county is being billed to-day for the Parisian Aerial Navigation Co., which will be here next Saturday.

Salisbury's policemen are now wearing their new badges and at their sides dangle new billets. They arrived yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. L. Rankin had a family reunion at his home on Main street yesterday. The immediate members of the family and near relatives were present.

Rev. Father Joseph, O. S. B., passed through this morning going to St. James church, Cabarrus county, where he will preach to-morrow.

Prof. E. Miller is "heading off" time at his school at Rowan. He will teach to-day and take a rest next Friday, thus getting three straight holidays.

Mayor Strong, City Chamberlain McCook, Job E. Hedges and Seth Low, of New York, passed through the city this morning on their way to Atlanta.

Read the new ad of the Smithdeal Hardware and Furniture Co. to-day. They are rushing things in their art department as well as in other lines and have set their muse to work to keep pace with the times.

A petition is being carried around by James Lanier for the merchants to sign, that the closing of the stores Thanksgiving may be made doubly sure. All to whom it has been presented thus far have signed.

Maj. J. F. Stansill, of Mill Bridge, will sell his fine plantation and a number of cows and horses on Wednesday, Dec. 18. His sons have gone to Texas and elsewhere and he has decided to sell out rather than rent.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Allison will celebrate their silver wedding at Statesville to-night. The World wishes for them long life and prosperity and hopes that in another quarter of a century they may celebrate their golden wedding.

The Concord Standard says: "The city attorney says Salisbury is not responsible for the death of Kimmons who got cremated in Salisbury's calaboose. It is just so responsible that the town will have a big law suit on its hands."

Tom Torrence, one of the truck hands at the freight depot, spent a part of this week in Atlanta taking in the sights at the Exposition. Tom was very economical—he only spent thirty-five cents from the time he left here till he returned. Who can beat this?

Another One Returns.

Several years ago Herbert Josey, who lived in this county decided to cast his lot in a western State. He went to Texas and remained there until quite recently when he returned to old Rowan. His parents and the other members of the family are still in the Lone Star State. Mr. Josey has secured a position with a firm in Winston and will leave next week for that place.

Religious Notes.

There will be no services at the Baptist church to-morrow morning or night.

At the Methodist Rev. Mr. Marr will preach his last sermon of the conference year at night.

Bishop Cheshire will preach at St. Lukes in the morning, at St. John's at night.

Regular services at the Lutheran and Presbyterian churches morning and night.

He Resisted Arrest.

Yesterday afternoon officer John Cline, of China Grove, served a warrant on Stokes Henderson, a negro charged with obtaining goods under false pretense from Merchant Post Henderson refused to go with Cline and as he was a much larger man and surrounded by some of his associates the officer thought it prudent to let him alone. The negro came to Salisbury and in an hour or so was nabbed by officers Huff and Pool.

Messrs. Cline and Crowell came up on a freight and returned on the 9:17 train last night with their man.

Henderson was very boisterous when the handcuffs were put on him. But the officers had him secure and his loud talk amounted to nothing.

The End of Court.

Rowan's Superior court adjourned sine die this afternoon. It was a short term, lasting only three days.

The following cases of importance were disposed of yesterday afternoon and today:

Henry Jones, c. e. w., guilty; fined $10 and cost.

Henry Forrest, a. and b. plead guilty; four months on chain gang.

Henry Johnson, larceny, guilty; six months on chain gang.

John Pence and John Cauble, resisting officers, plead guilty; judgement suspended on payment of cost.

Doreas Kelly was granted a divorce from her husband Selim Kelly.

Besides these several unimportant cases were tried.

The civil docket was touched lightly.

The Song of the Soldiers Home.

We are in receipt of a copy of "The Song of the Soldiers Home," written by E. M. Waddell, an inmate of the Home. It has the following to say of our old friend and townsman, P. A. Brown.

Pete Brown and Pat Nolan, late arrived at the Home—

No more over the wide world ever to roam—

Pat from the 1st and Pete from the 4th,

We extend a hearty welcome to each and to both,

And trust that the balm our Mother imparts

May be helping and healing to each of their hearts.

Ditto, Yesterday's Prices.

There has been practically no change on the price paid here for cotton to-day. The best grade is bringing the same as yesterday, 8c, and the sales are very light. New York made an advance of a few few points yesterday and there is much confidence expressed that it will go still higher.

The Wrong Negro.

Charlotte's officers yesterday afternoon thought they had caught Bob Boyden, the negro who last Saturday night fired the calaboose here.

They telephoned Sheriff Monroe a description of him but it didn't agree with the description of Boyden; so the Sheriff told them to let him go. He gave his name to the Charlotte authorities as Henry Williams.

The County Home Chapel.

Mr. W. D. Watson, who has the contract of building the chapel at the county home, tells us it will be finished by the 1st of January. Lumber has been placed on the grounds and after work has been commenced it won't take long to complete it.

Until it is completed there will be no services at the home as it is too cold to preach out in the grove.

Cheap Horse Flesh.

The auction sale of W. C. Fraley's running and trotting horses was held to-day on Main street. The horses were sold at an extremely low price, the black stallion which could run the mile in a low number of seconds, was sold for the ridiculously low price of $6.50. Some of them brought fairly good prices but taken as a whole it was probably the cheapest lot of horse flesh sold here in a long time.

A Suspicious Character.

The first of the week several negro men were selling, for mere trifles, some fine tobacco to persons in Salisbury. A trap was laid and one of them who refused to give his name was caught Thursday night and placed in jail. The officers hoped to catch the other men last night and for this reason nothing was said of the captured one in yesterday's World. Last night the other members of the gang decided to leave here as it was getting too hot for them. The authorities are certain there is something wrong with the tobacco and the negro will be kept in jail until an investigation is made.

The tobacco was manufactured by a High Point factory but it is probable that the negro got it somewhere else.

Mrs. Lanier Burned.

Mrs. Geo. S. Lanier, of Statesville, who is related to Mrs. Cora Lanier, of this city, was severely burned at her home Thursday morning. The Landmark says:

She was standing in front of the fire at her home in west Statesville, when her clothing caught from the open fire place. She was alone with her little children and by the time she could tear her burning clothing from her body she was severely and painfully burned on the left side, chest and arm. The neighbors gathered as soon as possible after the alarm was given and Dr. H. F. Long was summoned and dressed the wounds. The injuries, while quite painful and severe, are not considered serious.

Frank Leslie's popular monthly Christmas number for sale by R. L. Julian. Price 25 cents.

Before the Mayor.

Since the calaboose burned there have been few violators of the law.

Last night Mayor Coughenour tried his first case since Saturday.

Jule Malone was up for disorderly conduct and fined $3.55.

A Bad Lick

About 11 o'clock last night Dr. E. Rose Dorsett was called upon to attend Crowell Ford, colored, who had a badly broken head. The main artery in the head was cut and the skull was thought to be broken. Crowell says some one hit him in the head and that he came as far as his steps, where he was found, and sunk from exhaustion. Pink Hall says that he was intoxicated and that he saw him fall down a long flight of steps behind the Mansion House, which leads to his room. However it is, Ford has a head which is badly enough damaged to lay him up for several days. Dr. Dorsett was assisted by Dr. J. T. Wright in dressing the wound.

We Will.

In the Elevator, a paper published at Livingstone College, there appears in this week's issue the following concerning the origin of the fire which destroyed the calaboose last Saturday night:

"The World, a daily paper of the city, says that Boyden set it on fire. While we do not wish to condone crime in any sense whatever yet we would like for the World to give the evidence upon which this conviction rests. Will you do so?"

At the time of the fire there were two prisoners confined in the lock up. Bob Boyden in one cell and Sam Kimmons in another. Examination revealed the fact that the fire originated and the flames were thickest in the cell in which Boyden was confined, and for this reason he was liberated first by the officers.

To our knowledge, it has never been denied that the fire began in Boyden's cell and crept up the wall to the roof. Even by his friends, there are no extenuating conditions ventured further than that it may have been the work of a rat while Boyden was sleeping, which is altogether improbable. We have ever refrained from severity with the unfortunate or ignorant, both of which Boyden seems to be, and it was not our desire that what we said should have any weight in the minds of a jury should he ever be caught and tried, but it was merely a statement of the case as it appeared to us after a thorough examination with no intent to bias public opinion or desire to prove Boyden's guilt.
