Mr. Barber Not Heard From.

From a gentleman who came down from Cleveland this morning we learn that nothing has been seen or heard from Mr. E. A. Barber, who killed a darkey Wednesday night, since the accident.

It is thought by many that Mr. Barber will return and give bail.

Indicted for Perjury.

The grand jury has found a true bill against Moore McNeely and Addie Allison for perjury.

McNeely and Allison were tried yesterday for fornication and adultery and as was afterwards shown by testimony they perjured themselves in giving in this evidence.

John L. Rendleman was assigned by Judge Greene to defend them.

See that your winter clothing bears the guarantee always given by Smoot Bros & Rogers.

PIT TERRELL'S LETTER.

He writes a Pathetic Letter in Which He Admits His Blame.

"Pit" Terrell, the unfortunate engineer, has written the following letter to the News and Observer:

To the Editor: I take the liberty through your columns, of replying to my friends and expressing the heartfelt gratitude for the love and sympathy expressed for one in these dark hours of suffering and sorrow. Letters have poured in daily from all parts of the State, from the humblest employes to the highest officials, some from friends whom it has not been my pleasure to meet in twenty years.

None but a grief stricken heart knows the value of these tender loving letters. They comfort and console my heart. When I am ready to give up life, and the wound that time cannot heal opens afresh, these sympathizing letters make me stronger. I bathe them in my tears and thank God that He spared me to know and realize that I have many precious friends.

Before I was 17, I was promoted to an engine, and have given all the best years of my life in the service of the road. For twenty-six years I have held the throttle faithfully on the Western road. In its darkest days, when it had neither money nor credit, and failure seemed inevitable I served in every capacity I could for the interest of the road. My heart was in my work, and I was devoted to it, though sometimes I could not draw my money in six months.

Under the skillful management of that grand, noble man, Col. Tate, it could not fail, and his patience, perseverance and self-sacrifice were an inspiration to me. When his mantle fell on Maj. Smith, he soon won the love and confidence of his men and shared with us in bearing the burden in the darkest days. I next served Maj. Wilson, that genial, whole-souled gentleman, whose warm heart still beats in unison and sympathy with mine. To me he was not only my superior officer, but a true, warm friend, in whom I could confide and whom I could love like a brother. Col. McBee and Col. Andrews were kind, dear friends. When they came we were having brighter days. The memory of all these dear friends are stamped indelibly on my mind. I love to revert to them as my officers and personal friends.

They have passed and left me at my post, and at last to tell the tale of disaster. All these years many times I suffered from heat, cold hunger and exhaustion, and they never heard me complain, neither did they say I disobeyed orders. But the pitcher went to the well one time too many.

I received orders, read them wrong, for weeks without rest or sleep, and hurried on. I made the great mistake which has saddened my life, and grieved and broken the hearts of others.

While my physical pain is enough to endure, my mental suffering is worse.

If my life work is to end here, my past record has no blot. In all these years I have stood the wear and tear better than my machinery. I have had new engines, while I knew no rest, never cost the road anything for carelessness, never mashed but one finger for a man, and paid his doctor bill without reporting it.

While confined to my bed, I live over again those days, and though my life has been hard, there are pleasant recollections and dear friends that I shall cherish while memory lasts. I know not what my future may be. I cannot peer through the darkness that hangs over me now, the clouds may disperse, and my shattered nerves be restored to health again. I feel that my destiny is in the hands of my G. d.

Thanking you, dear friends, for your sympathy and interest, I remain, Yours truly, W. P. TERRELL. Old Fort, N. C., Nov. 26.

La Day of Court.

Today will wind up the November term of Rowan's superior court and the work before it is not near finished. The grand jury is even yet in session and has other cases which will keep it busy until late in the evening.

Only two cases have been tried since yesterday afternoon. A. L. Lingle for disposing of mortgaged property. The defendant was found not guilty. Susan Cruse, larceny, not guilty.

Court will probably remain in session until tonight, but with its best effort it will not be able to dispose of all the cases before it.

Dr. Poole to Move to Greensboro.

Says the Greensboro Record: Rev. Solomon Poole, D. D., has purchased Eugene Eckel's farm, together with all his farming implements and will move here with his family soon.

The place is only a few miles southwest of town and is a beautiful spot.

Dr. Poole, as our readers know with sorrow, was partially paralyzed some time ago and had to abandon the ministry, but is improving.

Greensboro extends a cordial welcome.

Services Tomorrow.

There will be services at the Methodist church tomorrow morning and evening by Rev. T. F. Marr.

Rev. J. Rumble will preach at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and evening at the usual hour.

Services will be conducted by Rev. J. F. Murdoch, both morning and evening, at the usual hour.

Rev. L. E. Busby will preach at the Lutheran church in the morning at 11 and evening at 7 o'clock.

The Star Degree.

Rev. E. G. Pusey last night conferred the star degree of Masonry on fifteen ladies and about twenty-five Masons at the masonic hall. The ladies will apply for a charter and organize a lodge. After this is done they will work in the three degrees to which wives and daughters of Masons are entitled.

2000 pairs sample shoes, including mens, women and childrens, are being opened up to-day at Barts.

Buckler as Monte Cristo.

Another large and appreciative audience greeted George Buckler and his excellent company last night. "Monte Cristo" was the magnet that drew the people, and they were well repaid for coming.

The performance was an excellent one. Mr. Buckler as Edmond Dantes strengthened the good impression he has already made, as did Miss Newton as Mercedes. The support was up to the standard, and special mention should be made of Mr. Owens as Northier, Mr. Morrison as Cadereuse and Albert, and Miss Singleton as Carconte.—Staunton News.

Our stock of woollen underwear is full and well selected. Prices to suit any and all. Smoot Bros & Rogers.

Have you sent us these spoons you wanted lately? If not, send them along, you want know 'em from new ones.

FINNER & ANTHONY.

FATALITY AT THE SHOPS.

A Colored Man Run Over by An Engine And Badly Hurt.

There was an accident at the new Southern shops last night which may cost Henry Morrison, a young colored man, his life.

Morrison is a boiler cleaner and was at his work last night between 11 and 12 o'clock. As is usually the case in work of this nature there is considerable walking around the yard involved.

Morrison says that he had been walking backward and forward across the tracks, unmindful of the engines pulling in and out, when he was suddenly caught by an engine with his legs across the track.

His right leg was cut off just above the ankle and his left hip was crushed and badly torn.

As soon as possible, Morrison was brought up to the depot and his wounds dressed.

He was then removed to his home near the freight depot.

Drs. Whitehead and McKeizie are attending the wounded man, and while there are more chances for his recovery than was at first supposed, his condition is still precarious.

Tourist Excursions to California.

Leaving Washington, D. C., Saturday, November 14, and every Saturday thereafter, the Southern Railway (Piedmont Air Line) and Sunset Route will operate personally conducted tourist excursions to San Francisco, Cal., without change of cars, conductors or porters. The route is through Atlanta, Montgomery, New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio, New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California. The cars are the very latest pattern of Pullman tourist sleeper, beds equal to those of any standard sleeper, lunch, lavatory (private apartment for ladies) and toilet facilities of the most approved style. Three and one-half days to New Mexico and Arizona, 4 days to Los Angeles and Southern California, and five days to San Francisco. Portland, Oregon, through the semi-tropical garden of the South, and via picturesque Mt. Shasta in seven days, with only one change of cars. Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, the afternoon of the seventh day. Such service and facilities for transcontinental travel have never before been offered. The tourist car fare, $8.00, to San Francisco and intermediate points, and railroad fare the same as any other line, effecting a saving of $25.00 to $30.00.

Horse Traders Reported.

The horse traders who frequent the back lots of Salisbury during every court week and keep women and children in terror whenever they come along the streets will now have to lie low. Yesterday afternoon they ran over a child near the stand-pipe but the child was not seriously hurt.

This morning the horse traders were reported to the grand jury as a nuisance and this jury will probably end the swapping business at the old haunts.

The Working Mans Friend have 1,200 suits that will be sold at your price.

MEDS VS SALISBURY.

The Davidson Medical School Plays the Salisbury Team—Our Boys Show up Well.

The Davidson Medical School, as noted in yesterday's World, played the Salisbury boys yesterday afternoon and a hotly contested game it was from start to finish.

It was the first match game the Salisbury boys have played this year and they acquitted themselves most creditably.

Everything passed off pleasantly until at the last moment a dispute arose as to an offside and the result of the game hung fire. The Davidson boys, however, extended Salisbury an invitation to play at Davidson College Monday and it is probable that our boys will accept.

The "Meds" played clean ball and Salisbury would welcome them back for another game.

About 500 people witnessed the game yesterday.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Buckler's Comedy Company Will Be Here Monday Night—A Testimonial.

Says the Stanton Daily News of the Buckler's Comedy Company, which plays here Monday night:

Despite the fact our people have been worked up over the recent disastrous inundation, Buckler's Big Stock Company were greeted by a good sized audience at the Opera House last night, the occasion was the opening of a week's engagement here and the play was "The Wages of Sin."

It is but simple justice to say that this is the best dramatic company that ever played here at cheap prices. It is composed largely of artists whose work ranks easily with that of much more pretensions organizations, and a well worthy the patronage of our theatre going people.

Eleanore Newton carried off the honors last evening. Her Ruth Hope was certainly a most excellent performance. She has all the essential requirements of a successful leading actress, youth, beauty, a musical voice and a charming personality.

George Buckler made an excellent impression as the "Rev. George Brand" giving an easy, and portrayal of a part evidently full of the temptation to rant. This was Mr. Buckler's first appearance here, and he established himself at once as a favorite.

Mrs. Singleton, as "Jemima Bloggs," Mr. Healy, as "Ned Drummond," John Owens, as "Stephen Marler," and Mr. Morrison, as "Jesiah Deane," deserve more than passing mention. Mr. Healy's song "My Best Girl's a Corker" and Miss Dayton's dancing took the house by storm.

Of Course in Hogan's Alley.

Hogan's Alley had its daily scrap last night and Frank Parks came out the loser. Parks became involved in a dispute with some unknown parties and was beaten severely about the head. He bled freely for a while but is all right today.

Tramps Got a Free Ride.

Three tramps, unwilling to wait for a train, secured a free ride Tuesday night.

At Norwood a hand car stood on a side track, locked. The tramps broke the lock, put the car on the main line and rode up to Salisbury. They were not caught.

NewCom's Here.

The following gentlemen arrived in the city this week to accept positions at the Southern Shops: Jno. A. Bowers, J. W. Jones, P. H. Moran, L. R. Boyant, Paul Jewitt, F. F. Baker, Jno. Johns, M. Traylor, L. Morse, O. E. Lucas, Jas. McGowan, of Richmond R. G. Chaney, of Bluefield.
