MR. CASHION'S

HIS WIFE MOURNED HIS DEATH FULLY AND MEN WEPT.

Yesterday's WORLD reached the particulars, so far as we could get them, of the death of Mr. Avy Cashion, formerly a resident of Rowan, but more recently of Morganton. Since yesterday we have learned more fully of the sad accident.

Tuesday evening about 3 o'clock, while operating a rip saw, he met his death, says the Morganton Herald. He was ripping a board in which there was a knot. The board broke at the knot and a piece three fourths by four inches, fourteen inches long, was caught by the saw and thrown with much force, striking Mr. Cashion in the head and rendering him unconscious. He was carried into the factory yard and a physician sent for, but it was found that nothing could be done to save the man's life. Mr. Cashion never regained consciousness and died in about two hours after being stricken.

Deceased was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife and one child. His wife reached his side shortly after the accident occurred and was with him when he died. She mourned pitifully the loss of the husband and strong men present wept freely.

Emigrants Pass Through. There were two extra coaches attached to No. 9, the local south-bound train last night. These coaches contained a number of northern emigrants on their way to the Mississippi bottoms where they will cast their lots in the future. One car was from Baltimore, the other from Philadelphia and both were well crowded with men, women and children. These people seemed to be perfectly happy and it reminded us very much of one large family off on a pleasure trip. They were disposed to be very talkative and kept the audience constantly guessing at their meaning, for evidently they were happy as could be and we wish for them prosperity in their new homes.
