AMERICAN BOATS ON THE FIGHTING LINE

Squadron of Destroyers are in the War Zone and Ready to Do Their Part in the Fight to Crush the Power of the Ruthless and Inhumane Submarine.
The Post was in the act of going to press on Wednesday afternoon when the brief bulletin came announcing the arrival of a squadron of American ships in English waters ready to do a part towards the destruction of German submarine, or anything else that comes up. Last night's dispatches go further into the details of the presence of the American boats.
Queenstown, May 16.—A squadron of American torpedo boat destroyers has safely crossed the Atlantic and is patrolling the seas in war service. The American navy's actual entry into the war zone has already been productive of a brush between a destroyer and a German underwater boat, according to an announcement by the British admiralty, but the result of it has not been made public.
The destroyer squadron arrived in Queenstown after an uneventful voyage across the Atlantic, but almost immediately after a formal exchange of greetings with the British officials put to sea again for the hard work that is before it.
A crowd of several hundred persons some of them carrying tiny American flags, lined the water front and cheered the destroyers from the moment they first sighted the flotilla until it reached the dock. The crowd cheered again when a few moments later the American senior officer and Wesley Frost, the American consul, who had come down to the dock to welcome the flotilla. Every thing was done in a simple, business like manner. There was an entire absence of formality.
The commander of the British flotilla was waiting on board his ship and sent wireless greetings to the American units as soon as they were in sight, steaming on a long line into the harbor.
Ready for Business.
After the exchange of shore greetings and the British commander had congratulated the American officer on their safe voyage, he asked: "When will you be ready for business?"
"We can start at once," the American commander replied promptly.
This response so characteristically American, surprised the British commander, who said he had not expected the Americans would be ready to begin work on this side so soon after their long voyage. When he had recovered from his surprise, however, he made a short tour of the destroyers and admitted that the American tars looked prepared.
"Yes," replied the American commander, "We made preparations on the way over. That is why we are ready."
The equipment on board the destroyers was found to be in excellent condition and remarkably well suitable to the requirements on this side of the ocean. In fact, it was said by the British officer, that the only thing lacking in the equipment of the American sailors was heavier clothing. It appears that the Americans were wearing clothing too light for the varying weather conditions they will encounter in these waters. This lack, however, was quickly provided for.
After the formalities had ended and the needs of the men were attended to the American ships at once put out to sea, the men from captains to ordinary seamen looking in the pink of condition and apparently enthusiastic for their task.

SAVE SEED FROM ALL CRIMSON CLOVER.

(By C. B. Williams, Chief, Division of Agronomy N. C. Experiment Station).
There is great shortage in the prospective crop of crimson clover seed for this fall's planting. Every farmer who has crimson clover should make a special effort this year of all years to harvest the seed from his entire crop. There is every indication that the seed will be very high in price at next planting time.
Now is the time of year that plans should be made to be ready to save the seed when the crop is ready for harvesting. This may be done by the use of strippers or by cutting the crop at the right stage with a mowing machine, and then later, after the crop has dried out well, separate the seed from the dried plants by the use of a pitch fork. Care should be exercised that the handling in curing the plants be as little as possible and be done when the plants are slightly moist from dew. For this reason all handling of the hay should be done during the early morning or late afternoon hours. In using a stripper the seed may be gathered directly from the stalk after the dew is off by sacking from the stripper. The seed should be dry before storing them away in the barn. Exposure to the sun for a few hours in the sacks or by spreading them on the ground or on a sheet will be all that is necessary to be assured of thoroughly dried seed.
Most farmers have found from their own experience that the crimson clover seed which they have saved themselves in the hull, gave as good or better results than clean seed which they bought. The hulls around the seed are thought to retain considerable moisture that facilitates germination of the seed in dry weather as is the case when sown in the early fall when moisture conditions are not always satisfactory. At least 3 to 5 times as many pounds of seed in the hull should be used in order to have good seed than would be used of the clean seed.

THE BENEFITS OF POULTRY.
The necessity of Producing An Extra Pound of Poultry Product for Every Man, Woman and Child in the United States.
(By E. E. Richards, President of the American Poultry Association.)
Before another hatching season, the great United States will be in the deepest throes of the world's most cruel war and no one can foretell the countless thousands that may be crying for bread. It is up to the United States, the world's greatest, richest, and most resourceful nation, to not only look after the welfare of her own citizens, but to give aid and assistance in supplying food to countless thousands of suffering humanity in the torn and stricken war zone. The great agricultural resources of America must prepare to assume this burden. Every one of us must do our bit. Every acre, every nook and corner must bear its share. It is lucky that in poultry we can produce the cheapest and most quickly produced meat of all the various sources of our meat supply. Here, we have an opportunity of producing an extra one hundred million pounds if the American farmers, the fanciers and breeders will give their attention to hatching during the months of May and June.
It is a well known fact that the available supply of meat products is today the lowest in our country, per capita, in the history of the United States. In order to meet the extremely dangerous condition, we have within ourselves a wonderful opportunity of aiding what may prove to be a world-wide cry for food. Let us all join enthusiastically in the propaganda of helping in the probable time of need, by putting forth now every effort to meet, in a measure, the demand that is sure to come for untold quantities of foodstuffs. Never in the history of the world will there be a greater demand than in the next twenty-four months that are to follow.
For the past twenty-four months we have been laying the golden egg, and with the hue and cry of costly feed, poultry and all meat products have been soaring far above all the usual estimates as to the relative cost of production, and the selling price. The margin of profit on the production of eggs and poultry for meat is far in excess of the percentage of profit in normal times. But aside from the question of profit, we Americans must look at the situation from a philanthropic and humanitarian standpoint and each and every one "do his bit" to meet an exigency that seems inevitable. Let us all try to be a factor in the production of an extra hundred million pounds of poultry meat which is less than one pound additional for each man, woman and child in the United States.
The United States Department of Agriculture has just issued an estimate that upwards of seven hundred millions of dollars is the annual tribute paid by Americans to the garbage can. Why not convert this into feed to produce poultry and eggs.
Every home can have a self-supporting and profitable flock in the back yard by converting the offal from the table and kitchen into the very choicest of poultry feed. Why such an astounding waste, an utter extravagance that costs us nearly seven dollars for every man, woman and child in the United States? Let every home have a neat poultry house and a few well kept, profitable fowls.
It is not unusual for the fanciers

WHY NOT NOW?

"America cannot fight this war with the drink traffic hanging to its arm."
"Anything less than the nation's greatest effort for victory will degrade the nation's place and spirit. There is no place in the war program for preventable disease, preventable weakness, preventable waste or preventable death."
Hundreds of thousands, possibly millions, of America's premium men will be concentrated in mobilization camps. Their health, their spiritual morale, their fighting efficiency will be matters of heart-center concern to every man and woman throughout the nation.
"Many thousands of these boys will be from prohibition territory. And many of these concentration camps will be in license territory."
"Unless the federal government immediately asserts authority over territory contiguous to military camps and depots we may expect scandal, shame, loss and disaster."
"As in the past, we see soldiers exploited by the breweries and saloons. There will be education in the vice of drinking. There will be drunkenness. There will be disease more fatal than German shells. There will be occasions of disorders, possibly riot, dishonoring the service. There will be a shaking of the popular spirit; a loss of faith in the national efficiency."
"And there will be mounting food prices, while grain untold is rotted into poison."
WHY NOT DO IT NOW? Assert at once the government's authority; enact the regulations that are obviously needed and add to them as the need of extension becomes apparent.
"Better still: ENACT PROHIBITION FOR THE WAR. Use the distilleries to make munition alcohol and as a source of power fuel. Use the breweries to pack meat, pack fruit, make vinegar, make ice and serve other useful ends. They can be adapted to such purposes at small expense."
"Take this as a fact already settled: The American people will not be content to tolerate waste and destruction during such a time of sacrifice as there is ahead of us."
"The needed legislation should not be in answer to the propaganda of any organization or group. It should be in answer to the dictates of common sense and the demand of the whole people."
"Let us stand behind the President and stand behind him armed with our FULL STRENGTH!"

TO THE PATRIOTIC MEN AND WOMEN OF AMERICA:
Now is the time for action. Enlist in the Home Defenders' Army. Send letter or telegrams to the President of the United States and your members of Congress urging a nation-wide prohibition, during the war at least, of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, which traffic is causing waste of more than two million dollars yearly, and is destructive to the manhood of our nation.
DO IT NOW.

HOW WASHINGTON GOT MEN TO JOIN ARMIES.
Washington Star.)
"To all brave, healthy, able-bodied, and well-disposed young men, in this neighborhood, who have any inclination to join the troops, now raising under General Washington for the defense of the liberties and independence of the United States, against the hostile designs of foreign enemies, take notice, that Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday at Spotswood, in Middlesex county, attendance will be given by Lieutenant Reading with his music and recruiting party * * * of company in Major Shute's battalion of Eleventh infantry, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Aaron Ogden for the purpose of receiving the enrollment of such youth of spirit, as may be willing to enter into this honorable service."
The above is the manner in which Gen. George Washington appealed to the youth in colonial days to secure recruits for the United States regular army. The Eleventh infantry referred to is still in the regular service and recruits are now needed for that and other regiments. The youth of spirit of the "neighborhood" can receive any information that they desire about the service at the army recruiting office.
General Washington's recruiting notice, printed from a wood cut, continued:
"The encouragement at this time, to enlist, is truly liberal and generous namely, a bounty of $12, an annual and fully sufficient supply of good and handsome clothing, a daily allowance of a large and ample ration of provisions, together with 60 a year in gold and silver money on account of pay, the whole of which the soldier may lay up for himself and friends, as all articles proper for his subsistence and comfort are provided by law, without any expense to him."
"Those who may favor this recruiting party with their attendance as above, will have an opportunity of hearing and seeing in a more particular manner, the great advantages which these brave men will have, who will embrace this opportunity of spending a few happy years in view of the different parts of this beautiful continent, in the honorable and truly respectable character of a soldier, after which, he may, if he pleases, return home to his friends, with pockets full of money and his head covered with laurels God save the United States."
The "encouragement" offered in the army now is a great deal greater than in the days of General Washington, but the need of men is the same. The recruiting party in Greensboro is using the Washington poster as an advertisement for the army with the slogan, "Do as our forefathers did in 1776—enlist."

Southern Baptist Convention is Told That Boards Act Without Legal Authority in Handling Money.
New Orleans, May 16.—A decided sensation was created in the Southern Baptist Convention here late today when J. F. Brownlow, a banker and lay delegate from Columbia, Tenn., declared on the floor that high legal authority which he had consulted held that the convention, together with its various boards, which handle several million dollars annually, were operating illegally, and that under the laws the convention had no legal jurisdiction over its affiliated boards. Mr. Brownlow's assertions were made during discussion of a nation to adopt the report of the committee on consolidation of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards and the Sunday School Board of the denomination, a proposition which has been the subject of controversy in conventions for several years.
The committee on consolidation of the three boards revised the suggestions contained in the majority and minority reports previously published in the denominational journals. The majority prior to the convention had recommended appointment of an executive committee to direct and coordinate all the work of the three boards and supervise appeals and campaigns for funds, with headquarters in Nashville. The minority favored tabling the whole question.
Mr. Brownlow moved as a substitute for the previous motion to adopt the consolidation committee's report, that the entire subject and the questions raised in the report's discussion including the legality of the "incorporated units" of the convention be referred for more complete consideration to a committee of seven lawyers, ministers and business men, empowered to employ counsel if necessary and report to next year's convention full recommendations as to what action was needed.
The convention took a recess after deciding to give further consideration to the consolidation committee's report and Mr. Brownlow's substitute motion, late tonight, following the convention sermon, which was delivered by Rev. Dr. C. W. Duke, of Tampa, Fla.
At the initial session today officers of the convention were elected, including Dr. J. B. Gambrell, of Dallas, president, who succeeded Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Americus, Ga., who retired after 36 consecutive years of active service as an officer of the convention.

Appointing Necessary Committees.
Birmingham, Ala., May 18.—Appointment of the necessary committees on organization of the meeting here was the chief business at the morning session of the 57th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the South today.

Ditch excavation for the pipe line to supply gas to the new town of Yadkin at the toll bridge has begun. The connection is being made at Spencer and the gas will be supplied from the Salisbury gas plant. The work will be pushed to completion and gas will be ready for the town at the earliest possible date.
Miss Lawwese McCausland left Friday afternoon for Salisbury to visit Miss Ashley Herron, of this city, who is a member of the graded school faculty in that city. From Salisbury Miss McCausland will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Laura Francis Hearne and Mr. Ernest Myron Henning, which will take place June 5.—Charlotte Observer.
Capt. N. A. Bost, the popular conductor on the Winston-Salem train, is back on the run again after being away for fifteen days with his wife, who underwent a serious operation in a Greensboro hospital. Mrs. Bost is much improved and will return to her home next week. Capt. Bost's many friends are glad to see him on the run again.—Columbiae Journal.
Messrs. L. H. Clement, E. A. Kohlloss and Cham Coughenour, Jr., have returned from Wilson where they attended the sessions of the North Carolina Diocese of the Episcopal church. They also attended a joint meeting of this Diocese and the Eastern Diocese at New Bern. A number of those attending the Wilson meeting spent a day in Raleigh with the Elks.
Rev. Alfred T. Graham, of Lexington, Va., passed through this city a few days ago en route to Birmingham, Alabama, to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian Assembly. Dr. Graham spent the day with his son, Mr. Irvin Graham, at Looetsee, and went on to Birmingham Tuesday. Dr. Graham was pastor of the church at Davidson college for a number of years, and is remembered by all Davidson boys of these days with the greatest pleasure.

Peaceful Man.
A man in Louisville, arrested on suspicion, was found to have three loaded pistols in his pockets, but the judge released him. Three revolvers are not suspicious in Louisville unless accompanied by a couple of daggers and a time fuse bomb.—San Francisco Chronicle.
