RIPPLING RHYMES.
By Walt Mason.)

THE MIRACLE.

The prairie states, where corn is grown, were parched and withered by the heat; across the fields hot winds had blown, week after week, and then the rain. The sky was like a shield of brass; the sun was sizzling night and day; I heard the farmers cry, "Alas! this year we'll have no corn or hay." The crop was given up for keeps, there was no hope for any yield. The farmer shed his bitter weeps, while gazing on his shriveled field. And then, when things were at their worst, some dark blue clouds lined up on high; they foiled foiled around a while, then burst, and soaked the cornfields baked and dry. "It is, too late," the farmers said, while rain was pelting at the door; "though water falls till we are dead, the corn is gone, for evermore." Rain followed rain, day after day, it seemed that it would never stop, and now we hear the farmers say, "We'll have at least a half a crop." It is a miracle as great as nature's laws have e'er allowed; it is as though some planted skate got up and gambled in his shroud. We needed all that we could grow to keep the struggling world supplied, and so the marvel seems to show the God of battle's on our side.

"Liberty is not license," declared Vice President Marshall in a speech the other day. Yet it is strange how many of our people so think. Far too many Americans think their liberty extends to the point where they have full license to do as they please regardless of others and the nations welfare.

Strikes are splendid instruments with which to serve the nation in these perilous times? People who are occupied in works that count large in getting the nation ready for defense and go on strikes are showing sorry citizenship. It is no time for doing any thing that will hinder and delay. This nation is straining every energy to get ready for its great task and all the hindering forces that are applied in any way are delaying the game, prolonging the war and piling up cost.

OFF FOR THEIR DUTY.

One cannot but wonder how a slacker would feel to witness the going away of these brave, smiling lads, who answer their country's call to perform a high duty. The Rowan boys who marched away this morning to a clear duty deserve the praise of all us, not only so but the support of us all.
To cheer them on at the station is one thing, and all well enough, but the test of our sincerity is not to be found in this outburst, but in the quiet and determined way that we do our full duty at home. The man who does his duty at home is serving his country, and a man who by his acts refuses to fully and determinedly support these boys of our own, whose lives will be exposed to the enemy's bullets is a sorry and cowardly citizen.

A country that sends the choicest of its citizens to the front, and this Rowan is doing, should and must go the full limit in protecting and defending them, at all times and in all ways. There is no need for fear. The fine folks of Rowan who are sending the best they have to the front will fight at home to support and aid them. Hardly a single exception will there be. The life of the exception should be made hard indeed.

MORE HEROES OFF.

Another bunch of heroes left today for the training camp. Heroic men of heroic mould these men, representing the best of American life and families, have gone out to offer themselves for a high and noble service—that of representing their country in a world war for justice and honor and human liberties. When the final day of reckoning comes, when the heroic spirits of men from the choicest nations of the earth close in on and Germanic autocracy that has threatened men, women and children in a ruthless onslaught on civilization—when that day comes, there will likely be in that band of heroic men some of these fine fellows who left Salisbury today. There is a blessed assurance, and would to God that we could and would be with them.

The good men and women of Rowan will follow these fine lads, and at all times, wherever they may go, the best wishes and prayers of the folk at home will be with them, and when they return, they will return to the arms of a people who honor and respect them, to a land and country that ever honors the true spirit of American courage and self-sacrifice. May God bless and keep these men, and speedily return them to home and loved ones. While they are doing their bit over there, we will do ours here at home. Goodby, boys, God be with you.

AMERICANS MUST WIN THE WAR.

America must win this war. The allies of the United States cannot win it alone. The United States must not only get good and strong into the fighting line, but she must feed and aid the allies in many ways. To feed the allies while the allied enemies of Germany are whipping Germany it will be necessary for the American people at home to do things necessary to the winning of the war.

If we fall down on our jobs here in America the war will be lost and the whole civilized world be dominated from Berlin. The same ruthless, brutal policy of might over right will prevail, and the women and children of America will not be safe from the ravages of the Huns.

We might just as well face this fact as not. We are asleep and indifferent to the peril of our nation. The allies are not going to lose this war. But, and a big but—if we do not rally to the government, stand by the army and navy and prepare to work hard at home and make sacrifice—it will be a long, hard fight and cost us much in men and treasury. Every man in Rowan county is just as much responsible for the winning of this war—or the losing of it, as the men who go to the front to fight.

The men who shoulder a gun and go to France are no more responsible for the outcome than this writer, and the hundreds of men and women in the county, on the streets, on the farms and in the shops.

It will take money and food and ammunition, and these must be furnished by us at home, and any man or woman or child who refuses either by refusing to do a plain duty, or to leave a plain duty undone, is nothing less than disloyal to this country and a sorry citizen of this great nation.

America is the greatest and best nation on earth. Our people are in this war in the cause of righteousness and justice and the man who does not see it is either ignorant of the great issues or is deliberately closing his mind to the facts. God has called this nation to the performance of a high and glorious task, and any American who seeks and dodges and dodges is playing false to his Maker and defender. Ours are the best soldiers on earth. First they are better and truer men, and again, they are promoted by the highest motives and will be defended by the Power that wins wars and establishes peace.

Those of us who stay at home have a great task to perform. Will we measure up?
We believe so, know so. America will win and win big, but she will win with some sorry cusses hanging on to her heels. The disloyals at home are today shooting the soldiers who are sending to the front. None of our men in khaki have been shot by enemy bullets yet, but they are being shot every day by the disloyal snakes at home.
There is little of this in our state and section—praise God, but there are in America America's worst enemies.

Treason and sedition and disloyalty will continue to increase and the harm therefrom to grow so long as we permit these things to go unchallenged and unpunished. If we are interested in this victory and wish to win at the least cost of blood and money, it becomes us to rally to the cause and to fight for the victory. Everything we do at home helps hasten the end—everything we refuse to do or leave undone prolongs the end and increases the cost. Some of us at home need to fight. We need to resent most vigorously any and all tendencies to hinder and handicap the government. The blood of every true American ought to boil, and he ought to be ready to fight, at any showing of disloyalty, for the disloyalty at home is doing far more hurt today than are the German bullets.

This nation is at war—seriously at war, with a great power that spent a half century getting ready for an attack on civilization—and every man, woman and child in this country is either an American or an anti-American, either a friend or foe, and should be called properly and made to stand where he or she belongs. There is no half way stand. All must be something and all who are not as sound as a new dollar on this issue of Americanism is fit only for the firing squad and the sooner the echoes from shots are heard the better it will be for the fight we are now entering.

Hunnamania, the Mexican tulip poppy, is one of the finest in the family either for garden ornament or cut flowers.

ASK ANYONE WHO HAS USED IT.
There are families who always aim to keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house for use in case it is needed, and find that it not only a good investment but saves them no end of suffering. As to its reliability, ask anyone who has used it.

AMERICANS TOLD OF GERMAN REWARD

Americans in France are advised that the Germans are offering a reward for the first one dead or alive brought into the German Command.

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Sept. 18.—The American headquarters staff in France have just been informed that Emperor William, of Germany, has offered a prize of 300 marks for the first American who is taken dead or alive.

This information came from a German prisoner who declared that the offer was published as an army order and issued throughout the German army.

A dispatch sent from British headquarters in France and in Belgium on the 15th said that the German commander of the 11th reserve division had promised to his men that the first one to bring in an American, dead or alive, should be given the iron cross of the first order, two weeks leave and 400 marks. That this offer was made known throughout the diary of a German who had been captured from the 23rd reserve infantry regiment.

DEPARTMENT LABOR TO TAKE HAND IN STRIKE

Efforts Being Made to Bring Industrial Disturbances in San Francisco to an End—Samuel Gompers to Hold Conference With President.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Sept. 18.—Secretary Wilson today telegraphed to Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Boyce at San Francisco to tender his offices as mediator or conciliator in a settlement of the strike of iron workers and shipbuilders there. Mr. Boyce has been instructed to keep in close touch with developments and advise the department of labor here concerning them.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has an engagement for a conference with President Wilson late today.
The shipping board officials favor a substantial wage increase with a sliding scale for government participation. Some officials urge that the government pay 50 per cent of the increase for companies making ten per cent profit or less and request that profits more than that amount go in the wage increase.

Road Guide Posts.
Editor Herald:—
Few people of the county know the last Legislature passed a bill in form as follows: "That the Boards of County Commissioners of the several counties of this state shall, within six months after the ratification of this Act, cause to be erected and maintained at the various crossings and forks of the public highways of each county, guide-posts with the proper inscriptions and devices thereon indicating the direction to, and distance from the most important town or vicinity within ten miles of such guidepost. Such posts shall be of substantial timber and the lettering shall be not less than two inches in height and of legible character."

We have thoroughly covered the county recently, and there are few guide posts. You will find guide posts on all our roads, most of them put up by business firms in Salisbury, but the mileage is not always correct. Many of these posts have rotted down. This is an important matter, and should be taken into consideration by our commissioners. Tourists and others passing through the county will be greatly aided by these signs. Besides it will mean a great amount of advertising for Salisbury and Rowan. We suggest that our commissioners take this matter up at their next meeting, have the roads of the county surveyed, and posts erected. It is necessary to make a survey of the roads, since so many have been rebuilt, straightened and improved.

Yours truly,
T. D. BROWN,
Sec. Salisbury Chamber Commerce.

Don't Leave Coin Out In The Wet

Farmer Says He'd Just As Soon Leave Horse And Buggy Out All Winter As To Leave His Land Out. It's Like Washing Away Good Money.

A well-known Alabama farmer said this: "If as soon leave my horse and buggy out in the rain all winter as to leave my land out to wash away and lose all that richness I've worked to put in it." He's everlastingly right. Put a cover crop on your land. Don't throw away gold dollars just because they happen to be in the shape of nitrates and humus. You can coin 'em into "regular money" next year.

What this farmer said is nothing more nor less than good, hard common sense, and it's right in line with the Jobson System which he was discussing at the time.

This method and Mr. Jobson's remarkable plow are causing more talk and more enthusiasm in this country right now than anything that's been written about for 40 years for everybody knows its not crops on less labor but it's also going to be the salvation of our land.

For this reason a number of leading dealers are actively at work introducing the plow and the Jobson System in this county.

These dealers, who will be glad to give all interested customers who call for it a copy of the Jobson paper, "Common Sense Farming" are as follows:

- Rowan Hardware Company, of Salisbury; Landis Hardware Company, of Landis. Mr. T. H. Knox, of Bear Poplar; and Mr. J. C. Sherrill & Co. of Mt. Ulla.
- For the county of Spartanburg there are actually 21 Jobson agencies, and it is understood that there are many other firms in Rowan county who have applied and will no doubt be enrolled.

LOCAL NEWS OF WEEK

Mr. Bernard Lentz, his mother, Mrs. Ellen Lentz, and her friend, Miss Eudora Bost of near Organ church, left early Saturday morning for Asheville, where Mr. Lentz expects to spend a few days before returning. The party intends to visit in Hendersonville, where Mr. Lentz runs a wholesale grocery business.

Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Sloan Bostian and three children and Mrs. Jessie Wyatt and son and daughter visited J. T. Wyatt in Faith Sunday and had a fine picnic dinner with him. They live above Salisbury on the new Mocksville road.

DIVISIONAL COMMANDERS TO FOREIGN BATTLEFIELDS

Plans Being Mapped Out to Give Officers at the Cantonment and Regulars Service at First Hand and to Return to Instruct Men at Home. (By Associated Press.)
Washington, Sept. 19.—Regular and national guard officers commanding divisions at training camps will be sent to Europe on an observation tour of the battlefronts and return to carry on training duty at the close of the tour. Formal announcements of this plan by the State Department is expected soon.

Under vigorous censorship specific movement of the general officers may not be published without authority of the military authorities. For this reason the list of divisional commanders already selected to make the tour are available only when departmental announcement is made. It is assumed that if possible every division commander will be given opportunity in time to familiarize himself with actual war conditions abroad.

WHEATLESS DAY WITH BOSTONIANS

First Wheatless Day in the Bay State Is Being Celebrated Today. With Most Pronounced Success—All Co-operating to Save Flour. (By Associated Press.)
Boston, Sept. 19.—The first of the states two wheatless days a week, as prescribed by the state food commission was today. Reports received from hotels, restaurants and clubs indicate that it would be exceedingly hard to get a piece of white bread today. In addition housewives are also agreed to co-operate to save wheat.

GREAT DEMAND FOR SHIPS.

Every Available Ship Will Be Needed to Transport Supplies and Army to Europe. (By Associated Press.)
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 19.—In the next six months the demand of the American army abroad will require that the government divert every available American merchant ship to overseas service. R. B. Stevens, vice chairman of the United States shipping board told the war convention of American business men here today.

SUMMER COMPLAINT.

During the hot weather of the summer months come member of almost every family is likely to be troubled with an unnatural looseness of the bowels, and it is of the greatest importance that this be treated promptly, which can only be done when the medicine is kept at hand. Mrs. F. F. Scott, Scottsville, N. Y., states, "I first used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as five years ago. At that time I had a severe attack of summer complaint and was suffering intense pain. One dose relieved me. Other members of my family have since used it with like results."
