THE DIVORCE QUESTION The failure of the Episcopal convention at Boston to resort to a of divorced persons who wish to wicked. re-marry emphasizes the looseness all individuals to assume the grave responsibility involved in marriage. Wouldn't it be better to strike at the root of the evil and enact such laws as will inflict a severe punishment upon those violating the marital obligation?

There is no question about the righteousness of many divorces liverance by Mr. Roosevelt in secured but there is justice in the 1896: complaint that the offending party, who has violated every principle of morality, is by the decree of the court, given exemption, if not in law certainly in practice, from punishment.

The divorce evil goes deeper than the mere separation of man and woman. It carries with it a violation of the law on the part of one party in every instance and from the violator, whether wife or husband, should be exacted the penalty.

THE LOGICAL RESULT. This interesting dispatch from Washington appeared in this morning's papers:

Washington, Oct. 18.-The surgeon general of the army has concurred in the recommendations of General Grant that John J. Smith a member of the United States Army Hospital Corps, stationed at Fort Mott, N. J., who is said to have married a negress, be discharged from the army, "for the good of the service."

This recommendation had been forwarded to the Secretary of War for his action, Smith wrote to the War Department inquiring if there was any reason why he should not be permitted to marry colored woman, setting forth that her character was good, and that he could establish a good character for himself by his 1e
