A Man of Correct Taste

In dress brings his fine linen to us to be renovated, because we handle it with care, and give it the proper polish and color, so that when he attends the theatre, an evening reception, ball or dinner party it looks like new. Our laundry work is perfect, and our prices are cheering to those who don't clean linen five or six times a week.

Corn Raised

steak makes the finest meat. It is firmer, richer and costs us more. But we sell it at the same price that wild western Beef, Pork and Mutton brings in most markets. Our profits are less on each sale but the greater satisfaction to customers results in increased patronage. If you have not tried our Steak or Pork Chops make it a point to do so. They will please you.

STATE NEWS.

The salaries of the street car men in Asheville have been raised from $35 to $40 a month.

D. C. Cowles has been appointed temporary receiver of the Piedmont Bank at Morganton.

The Castle Haynes farm has been purchased by the Penitentiary authorities; price $16,000.

Robt. L. Abernethy, of Mountain Island, Gaston county, hasn't cut his hair since Bryan was defeated and says he isn't going to cut it until Bryan is elected President. He will have pretty long hair by 1900.

The Elkin Journal says a few days ago a man wanted to cross the toll bridge at that place with some calves, and was told that it would cost him 32 cents. He said he would not pay that; he would ford the river first. He forded and the result was four of his calves were drowned. They cost him about $12, so he lost $11.68.

A convict, who proves to be somewhat of a humorist, escaped from the Northampton State farm Saturday, taking one of the best horses. At Jackson he fastened the horse to a hitching post and attached a card to the bridle which read: "Please return this horse to the State farm." He then pinned a note to the saddle addressed to Superintendent Summerell, which read as follows: "I would be very glad to return, but important business calls me elsewhere."—Roanoke News.

Fruit-Growing in North Carolina.

The Wilmington Messenger says: "Do not let fruit growing, a most important industry, be overlooked here. Excellent returns are reported this year. What have been accomplished is but a foretaste that await North Carolina if its farmers and others will give their time or a part of it to growing fruit of different kinds and learn how to prepare it properly for shipping to the various markets. The State labor commissioner will report that fourteen counties ship 90,000 barrels; Haywood and Swain, 15,000 each; Caldwell and Wilkes, 10,000; Yancey, Clay, Jackson and Surry, 8,000. There are many localities in this State where peaches are seldom killed, and especially is this the case in the thermal belt region. Apples are kept all winter in ordinary cellars. It is destined to be the greatest apple-growing region in America. Let our people wake up. They have all about them a veritable land of Goshen. To abandon North Carolina for other States is folly."

Returned to the Old Love.

About six years ago a young man named L. N. Newton fell in love with and married a Miss Huskins. They lived in Bartow county, Ga., and for a short time their married life was happy. But after a few months the husband suddenly disappeared. After a year's waiting the wife received intelligence that her husband was dead. A few months later she married William Cook. A year passed and brought a baby to gladden their home. A few months ago Newton, the first husband, mourned as dead, suddenly appeared on the scene and demanded his wife. For a moment her cheeks were blanched. She looked upon the form of her first love. All of a sudden her old love came back, and she declared she would go with Newton whithersoever he listed—and they went. Cook appealed to the County court. After the evidence was put in the law covering such cases, which declares that all second marriages occurring while the parties to the first are living and undivorced are null and void, was expounded by Colonel Johnson. Judge Fain dismissed the warrant and Cook rose up sorrowfully and went and swore out a peace warrant for Newton. Bond was made and the quartette left for their homes.
