GENERAL MANAGER'S REPORT.

Showing of Past Year's Report of Southern Railway.

An annual report of Mr. Frank S. Gannon, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Railway Company, has just been made to President Spencer. It states that the number of miles operated during the past year was about 5,237, an increase of a little more than 404 miles. There has been added during the same period, by purchase or contract to purchase, equipment as follows: Thirteen locomotives, eleven passenger cars, four combination cars, six express cars, one postal car, 970 freight cars, one steam tug and two barges.

From April 20 to June 30 about 65,000 United States troops were handled in special trains. This was done without accident and on satisfactory time schedules, notwithstanding that in many instances the trains were operated on extremely short notice and on fast time. This does not include such detachments of troops as were handled on regular trains.

During the year, it was stated, over 200 new manufacturing establishments of various kinds were wholly or partially constructed at points upon the company's lines. The aggregate cost of these plants, together with the cost of additions to existing plants made or begun during the year, is estimated to be over $4,000,000. These new plants include thirteen cotton mills, which together with additions to previously existing mills, will contain about 258,000 spindles and about 2,200 looms.

There have been constructed during the year by the company over twelve miles of additional sidetracks to new industries, whose business is, or will be, tributary to the company's lines. These improvements are accepted as an indication of a steady and substantial growth of manufacturing industries in the South.

The North Carolina Car.

Capt. W. H. Ramseur leaves for Lancaster, Pa., to-day, says the Charlotte Observer, where the North Carolina car is now stopping for a week. Before leaving Mr. Ramseur had very encouraging news from Lancaster. The farmers are thronging to see the fruit and farm products exhibited in the car. They are interested in North Carolina.

In October Messrs. Ramseur & Moore will bring the car to the State fair to exhibit it and to refill it with fresh products of the North Carolina soil. The managers of the car request that anybody in the State who has farm products, fruits, etc., of fine quality to exhibit, send them to the State fair for the car at the expense of the managers.

Few people can appreciate what the North Carolina car is doing for the State. It is a fine advertisement.

Some beautiful patterns in light outing.—Carolina Racket.

SEPTEMBER 5th.

Musical training—in every branch—thorough, in every respect. Methods, and their details, adapted to the needs of differing individualities, all based on truth, clearly demonstrated to every mind. As there can be no literary education without ability to read fluently at first sight, so, most emphatically, is this true in musical training. We have every appliance and use every facility to achieve this sine qua non from the first lesson and on.

Teaching music on Piano, Organ, Violin and all other orchestral instruments. Musical composition and voice culture are in our curriculum; our terms are as heretofore, and those not knowing these can obtain them on application at our school, cor. Bank and Church Streets.

That Lawn Party.

Perhaps not in the history of Franklin township has a more enjoyable occasion presented itself than the lawn party generously given by Mr. James A. Hudson, at his residence, on the night of the 24th inst. Everything seemed to conspire to make it a season of enjoyment long to be remembered by those who attended it, and if every one did not return to his home wiser and better the fault was not in the place, nor its environments.

Mr. Hudson's residence is handsome and the lawn in front of it is exquisite.

Approaching it just at nightfall one was impressed with the beauty of the lights shed by numerous Japanese lanterns appropriately hung in the lawn in front of the house. A large crowd of young ladies and gentlemen assembled. Excellent music was rendered by four or five different young ladies, (mostly, if not altogether, in solos). The young ladies, in the rendering of these pieces, exhibited not only assiduous culture but a high degree of natural talent, for each in her turn would,

"With searching art,
Feel for each tone,
And speed it to the heart."

Soon we were called to the rear of the campus, where a long table was spread with watermelons of the finest flavor, such as Mr. Hudson never fails to raise.

There happened to be an old churlish philosopher present, who never was known to love anything so well as the hating of himself, after taking a few mouthfuls of the "savory pulp" turned to the throng of youthful beauty around him and said, "well,

The girls are pretty,
The melons are sweet,
And all exceedingly hard to beat."

The feast of melons being over, a stampee to the campus took place, and promenades across and around the lawn, in the mellow lights of the "Jap lanterns," began. It was manifest that the sly little god, cupid, was now commanding the hosts, for the old churlish philosopher could perceive that darts were flying and that the citadels of many loving hearts were being stormed. This old philosopher perceiving all this, turned to a young lady conspicuous for her beauty and said:

"This lawn puts on a deeper hue,
You skies assume a clearer blue,
Because you are here."

Sometime having been spent in this way the crowd was summoned back to the table where a sumptuous feast of ice cream, lemonade and cakes was spread, of which all partook with good cheer.

Guests were there from various parts of Rowan, as also from Davie and Davidson. There were, by estimation, some eighty or ninety persons present. X. Y. Z.

Colored Deserter.

A colored soldier who had deserted from the front and had been captured, was taken through this morning for Montauk. He was in charge of two white officers and the three were very chummy, playing cards and taking meals together.

Dead Soldiers.

The Western train brought down six bodies of dead soldiers from Tennessee this morning. This train nearly every day has from one to four dead soldiers aboard but six at a time is something unusual. They were all being shipped north, two in the baggage car and four by express.
