PROHIBITION TICKET.

For Congress—7th District, THOMAS P. JOHNSTON, of Rowan.

THOS. P. JOHNSTON, ESQ., SALISBURY, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—After consultation with the Committee for the 7th Congressional District you were unanimously chosen to head our ticket in the pending campaign. You will please signify your acceptance of the nomination, and oblige. Yours sincerely,

EDWIN SHAVER, Ch'm N. C. Ex. Com. Pro. Party.

To 7TH CONG. DIST. PRO. COM., EDWIN SHAVER, ESQ., CH'M., SALISBURY, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—Your favor of 14th inst., tendering the nomination for Congress for this District, received. In reply would say: While I prefer working on the "off wheel" where the hardest work is needed, yet if it is your will that I must LEAD I accept the trust. No man should REFUSE TO UPHOLD THE RIGHT. PROHIBITION IS RIGHT and although the odds are so largely against us, numerically speaking, yet with the right on our side, and so largely so when we speak of principles, I take pleasure in leading the only political party in North Carolina that is clearly and openly opposed to the Liquor Traffic and that does not court its support. Circumstances over which I have no control prevent my making a district canvass as it should be done, but with my limited means and unlimited love for the cause I will do what I can with voice and pen to bring our principles before the people. Very truly yours, THOS. P. JOHNSTON.

After Many Years.

Sheriff Kinney, of Davidson, brought Kindred Gossett last night to the State prison to serve a five years sentence. Gossett hired a horse and buggy from Craver Bros., liverymen, at Lexington, about six years ago. He never came back, but sold the team. Gossett evaded the vigilance of the officers for several years, but was captured a short time ago, carried to Lexington and placed in jail. At the last term of court he was given a hearing, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a term of five years in the penitentiary. He seems to be very penitent and on last week wrote Judge Allen a note acknowledging his crime and pleading for mercy.—Times Visitor.
