A Cure for Consumption.

The Neue Freie Presse, of Vienna, states that lately Prof. Vincense Cervello, of Palermo, Italy, succeeded in finding an unfailing cure for consumption and proved his invention before that medical faculty.

A distinguished millionaire, in Rome, the banker Floria, is erecting in the vicinity of Palermo, a hospital with 150 rooms for consumptives at his own expense to give to mankind the benefit of Professor Cervello's discovery.

For more than a century the American people have been showing the world the wisdom and benefits of self-government. Now comes the ambition for conquest and power trying to lead us away from the principles of the republic.—Asheville Citizen.

The lien bonds on the crops to be raised in this county in 1900 are already coming in for registration. It seems that the country is not so prosperous after all.—News-Observer.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L.
