GAINES-SAUNDERS WEDDING.

Church Wedding Attended by Large Number of Friends.

The Mt. Crawford, Va., correspondent of the Rockingham Register, Harrisonburg, has the following to say of the marriage of Mr. Ed. Gaines to Miss Lottie Saunders:

Mr. Edward C. Gaines, of Salisbury, N. C., and Miss Lottie V. Saunders were married by Rev. R. L. Fultz in the Methodist church Tuesday, July 3, 1900, at 2 o'clock. This church was prettily decorated for the occasion and the lights burning. As the wedding march by Miss Nellie Lindon announced their coming the large audience observed the ushers, A. M. Stepp, M. D. Switzer, C. B. Kiser and Clarence Foley, marching up the aisle, followed by the happy couple, who presented themselves before the altar and took the solemn vows that made them one.

Passing out the opposite aisle they were met in the vestibule and congratulated, after which they entered a hack, accompanied by the mother and sister of the bride, and were driven to Harrisonburg.

The couple took the Southern train for Washington, after which they will proceed to their future home in the Sunny South. The bride was attired in a brown traveling dress with hat and gloves to match, and the groom wore the regulation black, with white tie and brown gloves. Mrs. Gaines is a pretty blonde, of bright and cheerful disposition, and has been an active worker in the church and Sunday-school; also organist of our Choral Union for its organization. She will be greatly missed from our social and religious circles, and our loss of her companionship will be a gain for her adopted home.
