

AT THE TABERNACLE

BIG CROWDS HEAR THE GOSPEL.

The Hope of the Nation is Christian Homes—A Wholesale Roasting.

There was a wholesale roasting at the tabernacle last night. Evangelist Stuart was the roast master; and the tabernacle was so full of people that every sentence hit some one. There was no parleying with words but a continuous cannonading of popular ideas and practices. If there was one person in the house who was not hit he must have done some powerful dodging. The preachers' subject was Daniel, the man who purposed in his heart that he would not be defiled himself. The various temptations that came to Daniel were taken up and discussed in the light of the present century. The principal temptations were money, position and being like big folks. Sabbath breaking, the selling and buying of cigars, tobacco, ice and other things, the hiring of vehicles and having beef delivered on the Sabbath were described as evils of the day that need to be stopped. He pleaded for character, for men who will have a purpose in life. The politician came in for his share of just deserts at the hands of the preacher. "A man who will buy a vote will sell one if you pay him his price; a man who will sell a vote will sell a principle; if he will sell one principle he will sell all principles and if he will sell principles he is a consummate scoundrel. Put the first and last clauses together and you have my idea of any man who will tamper with the American ballot. Give us more statesmen and fewer politicians." Several incidents were cited where men had turned others to good and become great themselves because they had a purpose and dared to stand for the right.

Yesterday afternoon the tabernacle was crowded to hear a practical sermon on a practical subject, "Home-Life." The hope of the nation, it was held, is Christian homes and the hope of the home is Christian authority and example. The mother and father who are not living right before their children were arraigned in scathing terms and warned of the awful consequences of their manner of life and example. At the close of the sermon an invitation was extended for all parents who would promise to live better in their family life to come up and give the preacher their hands. This invitation was so poorly responded to that the congregation was dismissed suddenly, without a benediction, the preacher stating that he was glad to see the people were so good. He said he had preached this same sermon all over the country with the same invitation at the close and never had it been so poorly responded to. No doubt, however, the sermon did much good.

Saturday night the text was the same as Friday night: "As we have the opportunity, let us do good, etc." He pleaded for the helping of mankind whenever opportunity offers. The statement that "all things work together for good to them that love the Lord," was defended as being absolutely and always true.

Mr. Stuart made a few forceful remarks at the Methodist church yesterday morning after the sermon by the pastor.

This morning the subject was Pentecost or the presence and power of the Holy Ghost. Mr. Stuart touched on some of the evils. He said cursing is a worse crime than stealing a hog and he quoted the commandments on the subject. The one against stealing was a simple statement while the one against taking the Lord's name in vain was emphasized. "Every vice is only a corrupted virtue and the devil doesn't own anything in this world," said the speaker.

At the close calls for backsliders and those who-hing prayers were made and a number responded.

NOTES.
Last night contributions were solicited to have half a dozen more windows put in the building. After the service the windows were donated and also the money with which to put them in.

A number of merchants are closing their stores during service hours.
The congregations at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon and last night were the largest audiences that ever gathered in Salisbury for religious services.

FEVER AT THE NORMAL.

Four Cases of Typhoid and Many of Malarial and Intermittent.

It is with sorrow and regret that the patrons and friends of the school will learn that there is again fever at the State Normal at Greensboro. We understand that four of the students have typhoid fever and a number of others have malarial and intermittent fever. The girls don't like to leave the school and are staying unless required to go home by their parents. A gentleman who was in Greensboro this morning tells us everything is quiet at the Normal—there is not a ripple on the surface and not much fear of a general spread of the disease.

Miss Bessie Bost, of South River, who has been attending the Normal, was brought to Salisbury this morning by her brother, Rev. S. S. Bost. She is ill but it is hoped that it will not prove serious. Miss Bost will probably be treated at the sanatorium.

A Bad Fall.

A little boy of Mr. C. H. Swink had a very hard fall from a bicycle yesterday which rendered him unconscious until this morning when his mind began to come back to him. At noon he was getting along very well.
Yesterday the little fellow was riding his wheel when a little girl walked directly in front of him. The little girl was knocked down and the little fellow thrown from his wheel with the above result. It was an accident on the part of both children.

A PRISON TRAGEDY.

TWO MEN KILLED IN N. Y.

Burglars Kill a Prison Keeper and Are Then Killed.

[SPECIAL TO DAILY SUN.]

New York, Oct. 29.—Keeper McGowan of the prison connected with the West Side court was shot to death this morning by three escaping burglars, one of whom was killed and another fatally injured, the third one escaped.

The burglars were Joseph Emerson, George Wilson and Arthur Flanigan. They sawed through the iron bars at a window on the second story, then constructed a rope out of strips of clothing. Flanigan was the first man to come down and at this point Keeper McGowan discovered them and called to them to halt. Wilson and Emerson jumped at McGowan and shot at him; McGowan staggered back and without an outcry dropped to the floor dead. Then the two burglars ran to the window and Wilson started to slide down the rope, and when half way down the rope broke and he fell in the court yard. Emerson jumped from the window and landed by the side of Wilson and was instantly killed. The guards then rushed in and overpowered Wilson whose legs had been broken by the fall. He was taken to a hospital. He cannot recover.

A N. Y. HORROR.

AWFUL FIRE TO-DAY.

FIFTY PERISH IN THE FLAMES.

[SPECIAL TO DAILY SUN.]

New York, Oct. 29.—A fire started at noon in the wholesale drug store of Tarrant & Co., on Greenwich street. An explosion of chemicals followed and masonry and girders were hurled high in the air. Buildings in the neighborhood were badly shaken and shattered throughout. Many lives were lost. No less than sixty girls are thought to have been in the building when the explosion occurred. Shingles and bits of masonry and iron were hurled over the high buildings in Broadway and fell in the city hall park. The Evening Post says 150 people were in the building and only fifty got out.

A World extra estimates the dead as fifty. A Journal extra says engine 29 was buried in the debris and it is believed that the fire company of fifteen men were killed.

A hundred girls were penned in the building. Ad told fifty were killed and perhaps a hundred. A score of women jumped from the platform of the Ninth avenue station to the street.

Buildings on Ellis Island were shaken so badly that a panic with difficulty was prevented. Buildings ten blocks away were injured and debris rained down upon streets and buildings many blocks distant.

The flames spread to buildings adjacent and crossed the street. Two more explosions occurred in the grocery store of Mounbmann & Co. The Ninth Avenue Elevated road was wrecked; several firemen were injured. Forty girls are reported killed.

Just what the coming of the offices to Salisbury, outside of the name of the thing, means, is not known yet. When Messrs. Sands and Southgate arrive and their work is laid out it will then be ascertained how much clerical force they will need. It is most likely that twenty or twenty-five men will be brought here for the offices.

Mr. Sands was formerly general manager of the Norfolk & Western. He has recently been division superintendent of the Southern at Charleston, S. C., from which place he comes to Salisbury.

Mr. Southgate has been superintendent of tracks, buildings and bridges, with headquarters at Charlotte.

KILLED IN A BASEBALL GAME.

Sad Death of Stafford Turner, Near Reidsville.

Reidsville, Oct. 28.—Mr. Stafford Turner, a member of the Berry baseball team, was killed yesterday afternoon in a game at Sunnyside, five miles from here. This team had an engagement with the Mizpah ball club to play at Sunnyside yesterday. During the game Mr. Turner was on the first base and his friend, Temple Harrison, was coaching him. Turner tried to make the second base, but finding that he could not do so safely, turned and attempted to return to the first base. In avoiding the first baseman he collided with Harrison, who was struck with such force that he was thrown to the ground and Turner fell upon Harrison's knee, causing some internal derangement that resulted in his death in about 45 minutes.

Mr. Turner was to have been married before Christmas. He had brought his sweetheart to witness the game and her presence made the accident the more pathetic.—Charlotte Observer.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 29.—Not all of the fifteen thousand men went to work. The men found that in order to be taken back they would have to reapply at the office for work the same as new hands. Engineers, firemen and pump men found that during their absence on strike men had been engaged to take their places. These men the companies refused to discharge and the old men had to take what was offered in any class of work the company chose to put them at.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 29.—There was a general resumption of work at all the mines in this region this morning. All the companies here and the operators have posted notices accepting the offer for increased wages except one or two individual operators who are expected to do so to-day.

At several collieries officers find it will take a few days or more to get the mines and breakers in shape, mules shod and machinery put in condition to resume work. Other companies will allow only miners to work to-day in order that coal may be out and enough ready to keep the breakers going.
