TO PUT IN A SMELTER

RENEWED ACTIVITY AT THE GOLD HILL COPPER MINE.

The New York Star Says the Gold Hill is One of the Biggest Copper Propositions in the Country.

It is stated that a smelter will shortly be put in at Gold Hill Copper Mine and that work at this mine will be resumed on a large scale. The New York Star says: The Gold Hill Copper Company of North Carolina promises to be one of the best mining propositions of the country under the administration of its present president, Mr. Walter George Newman. Mr. Newman was formerly president of the Union Copper Company. During the panic, when money was 150 per cent., the Union Copper Company was so strong under Mr. Newman's management that the stock was held at $30 per share. Mr. Newman resigned from the Union Copper Company to take the presidency of the Gold Hill Copper Company. He is so confident that this company will eclipse its record of over $6,000,000, which was furnished to the United States Mint years ago, that Mr. Newman now claims that 1,000 tons of ore per day will be taken out of the mine without sinking another inch. Mr. Newman and his associates assert that the Gold Hill Mining Company is the largest and best mine East of the Rocky Mountains.

The mineral properties of the Gold Hill Copper Company embrace 1,250 acres of land, chiefly timbered, lying in Rowan and Stanly counties, North Carolina, the greater portion of which is in Rowan. Of the surface itself little needs to be said. It lies in the favored agricultural section of North Carolina, and is possessed of every natural advantage known to any other section of the State. The offices and main shaft are located in the heart of the thriving town of Gold Hill, on the North-west Railroad, and only fifteen miles from a terminal point of the Southern and Western North Carolina Railroads.

The mines owned by the Gold Hill Copper Company are the deepest as well as the richest in the Appalachian mineral belt, and are composed of the following shafts: Randolph, 850 feet; Center, 600 feet; Barnard, 600 feet; Miller, Field South Line, North Line, Martin and several others. Four of the shafts are now being opened up and a fifth is being sunk on virgin ground.

These mines compose what was known as the Gold Hill Mines, and of which many flattering reports have been made by the mining specialists of eminence. Among others a most exhaustive and painstaking report was made by Mr. Ernest Haessler, who was employed by a party of English capitalists interested in the development of this property to make a thorough investigation. Mr. Haessler reported in part as follows: "It affords me great pleasure to state that the results of my investigation are highly satisfactory, surpassing the most sanguine expectations. The mineral value of the tract has been proved to be great, reliable and lasting, affording ample security to the most cautious capitalists for safety of his investments and for highly remunerative returns."

And again, in speaking of the ores: "The great and striking features of the veins under consideration consists in their reliability in depth, their great linear extent, the variety and richness of ores and metals they contain and the short distances they are situated from each other."

This expert opinion was abundantly justified by later developments. One shaft alone of those to which he referred has today a mint record of over $6,000,000.

We publish herewith extracts from Professor Emmons and Gen. Clingman's reports, which are very interesting: Professor Emmons, in his well known geological report on North Carolina, submitted to His Excellency the Governor of the State, and published in 1856 by Putnam & Co., of New York, after referring to the use of the old fashioned Chatham Mill and other similar then obsolete machinery, says: "Two million dollars was ex-

MAJ. MERTZ AT MOCKSVILLE.

The Largest and Smallest Men in the State Meet.

The Winston correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says: Mr. J. C. Buxton, who is conceded to be the largest man in the State, while attending court at Mocksville last week, had a small client in the person of Maj. Mertz, the well-known midget, who is only 45 inches in height.

After drawing an answer to the complaint filed against the major, Mr. Buxton asked: "How much do you weigh, major?" "Nearly 60 pounds, Mr. Buxton," he replied.

The lawyer and client walked from the hotel to the court house together and while en route the bright and intelligent major doubted up his fist and exclaimed: "You and I could clean up Mocksville, couldn't we Mr. Buxton?" Of course the answer was in affirmative. When the court room was reached, judge, jury, lawyers, witnesses and spectators turned their eyes upon the Winston lawyer and his client. One who was there says everybody was so full of laughter that it looked like Judge Shaw would be forced to adjourn court.

Dr. Leith Here for Treatment.

EDITOR OF SUN: I have seen the names of several gentlemen for the various offices. While they all are good men we have our preference. I think the county could do no better than send Barton Craige and George Page to the House. I am intimately acquainted with them and have always found them to be good men in every instance. You will make no mistake in naming them. The farmers of the county are entitled to one representative and I hope that there will be no disposition to take from them this right.

The City Well Pleased With the Performance.

The Columbia State of the 6th inst has the following with reference to the Ward ministrals, which will be here tomorrow night: "Yesterday afternoon and last night Harry Ward's ministrals appeared at the Columbia State and the audience was very small, but last night there was a very good house. The company is not a large one, but it has some good specialists among its members. The vocalists are very good and the quartette and solo numbers were much appreciated. The orchestral music was also good. In the first part the stage setting and the costumes were novel and out of the usual run, representing the company on a summer outing. The specialty work in the second part was very good and a very clever act was that of the Japanese equilibrist, Kitchi, with which the performance closed. Those who witnessed the performance of the company were well pleased."
