WATSON ON BUTLER.

No Democrat in North Carolina has ever said anything harsher about ex-Senator Marion Butler than Thomas E. Watson, the Populist nominee for President. Said Mr. Watson in his speech at Newton:

"I wired my people that I wanted to plant, water and harvest no more crops for that traitor to sell, and that if they let him in I would come off the ticket. I felt about him just as a Revolutionary soldier would have felt about Benedict Arnold if, after his treason, he had asked to be admitted again into the American army. A spy outside the lines is not dangerous; the harm comes from the spy inside the camp. Butler is entirely lacking in principle."

Well, Butler got all he wanted out of the Populists and did nothing for them. He was the chief instrument in producing discord in North Carolina which abides in a slight degree to this very day. He is entitled to no sympathy and no man will criticize Watson for his scathing denunciation of the prince of political tricksters.

If any man has fallen into the error of believing that Spencer Blackburn has a lead pipe cinch on Wilkes county his wisdom will be increased when he reads that a number of Republicans left the court room at Wilkesboro yesterday when Hezekiah Gudgeon and Prof. Britt began lauding Spencer.

Punishment for Stealing.

The Washington Post says: "A Connecticut man who robbed a bank of $70,000 has been sent to prison for five years, while his neighbor, who stole a horse, drew a eight year prison term. They would probably hang a chicken thief." It makes us shudder to wonder what they would do with a fellow who would steal a kiss!—Wilmington Star.

Three Asphyxiated.

Augustus Doneman and his wife and Richard Small were asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a bedroom in a hotel kept by Salvatore Kappolla, in Fishing, L. I., yesterday. Small was from Charleston, S. C., and is said to have been the woman's brother.

Training the Boys.

There's nothing truer than that the boy who is brought up in idleness, living on the money his father made, will sooner or later pay the penalty. It may be in a premature death, the result of fast living and dissipation, or it may be tears of repentance in old age. The men who are doing things in North Carolina today are men who were trained to industry and frugality when boys. The wealthiest men today were poor and hard worked as boys. The thinkers and statesmen, those who have achieved fame—the real men of mark—were the boys who once worked on the farm, in the shop, in the store and the office, hustling day after day and not ashamed of their jobs. There are exceptions, but they are rare.

We recall now the faces—familiar and handsome faces they were—of boys, bright and engaging, but living on the money father made, doing nothing but "having a good time." Where are they today? Gone beyond recall, leaving only the recollection of bright, dashing fellows, who possessed talent sufficient to place them at the top of the list of successful business men. But they did nothing, ran a swift "good time" race, and the daisies bloom and the grass waves above their tombs.

Conditions of the Crop.

Washington, October 5.—The Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions says: With high temperature and no rain during the week in the cotton region, the staple has continued to open rapidly in all sections, prematurely in Georgia and Mississippi, and picking has progressed under favorable conditions. Complaints of scarcity of labor are still received from portions of central and eastern districts. Reports indicate that nearly all of the cotton crop has been harvested in Southern Georgia and Louisiana and and over in other States, except Arkansas and Oklahoma, where about one fourth is picked and North Carolina, where only a small portion has been gathered. Late cotton is still shedding, and the crop is much shortened by insect pests which have injured prospects for any top crop in Texas.

Prisoners and Weddings.

The persimmon trees are loaded this year. It is said this means an unusual number of marriages, and a very cold winter.—Raleigh Evening News.

The Boone Democrat says the chestnut crop in the mountains will be light unless the frost holds off longer than usual.

After a man has worked hard to make some money he can work twice as hard to keep people from getting it away from him.

When a Girl is Engaged.

The wise girl needs no advice as to how she shall bear herself during the period of her engagement. There is no danger that she will not take it seriously. The risk in her case is that she will be so much burdened down with her new duties that she will lose sight of the lighter and more pleasurable side of it. That is not the happiest engagement which is conducted to the refrain of the "Dead March" in "Saul." A man may think it is very charming, for a while, to see his fiancée take almost a religious view of the new relationship, but it will not be long before he will crave the everydayness that takes fun as well as solemnity into account.

Fewer girls of this type, however, are found than of the other. There are girls who consider all love affairs more or less as jokes, even those that lead to marriage. Their point of view is determined sometimes by their associates and sometimes by the part of the country in which they have been reared. In certain sections it used to be the custom not to announce an engagement until a very brief period before the wedding cards were out. Under those circumstances a girl seemed to take a keen pleasure in concealing her new relationship from those about her. I have known of girls who would not hesitate to deny point-blank the fact of their betrothal, even within a few weeks of their marriage. I once heard a girl say: "All my fun would be at an end if my engagement were announced. I shall have to live with one man for the rest of my natural life, and I mean to fly about a little before I settle down with him."

One would be tempted to condemn this sort of thing unreservedly were it not that those same flirtatious girls often become the most devoted wives and mothers, and never bestow a look or a thought upon other men after marriage. But, although there are instances of this kind, it is a decidedly unsafe rule to follow. More than this, it is unkind and unfair to all the parties concerned.—Christine Terhune Herrick in "Success."

Shelby Murderer Sentenced to Die.

Shelby, N. C., Oct. 4.—Ben Clark, who shot to death B. E. Hamrick, chief of police of Shelby, was tried today, and the jury after being out ten minutes, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, whereupon Judge W. A. Hoke pronounced sentence, naming October 28th as the day of execution. Mr. Fred Hamrick appeared for the negro; Solicitor Webb for the State.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by freely Chamberlain's Pain Balm as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by James Plummer.

A Bad Year for Game.

Sportsmen should be very moderate in their bags this autumn, the terrible cold and storms having drawn heavily on both bird and animal life last winter. In the South quail appear to have suffered least, but all through the North East and West, Bob White and grouse are less plentiful than usual. The same is true of deer and of elk, though happily the latter are better off than reports made out in the spring. Unless great moderation is exercised by hunters this season, extraordinary care and precaution taken by clubs and associations and wardens to restock, to protect and guard against the depredations of the butchers, there will come such game exhaustion as to result in annihilation in some sections and depletion in all.—Casper Whitney in October Outing.

Venerable Goose Has Caused It.

A Wilmington special to the Fayette County (W. Va.) Herald says: What was probably the oldest fowl in the State died on the farm of Alex Cline, in the northwest edge of Clinton county. When Cline was married 40 years ago his father gave him and his wife a pair of geese with the injunction that they should care for them while they lived. Being quite large, they were exhibited at all the fairs and became well-known, carrying away many premiums, in time, their age being a special curiosity.

Many Mothers of a Like Opinion.

Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by Jas Plummer.

Ohio Woman Tells the Secret—May Explain Youthful Looks of Some in Salisbury.

Mrs. Anna Patton, 34 Charles St., Xenia, O., in a recent interview, tells the secret of how to grow young. "Although I am over sixty, I feel as though I was only twenty years old. It does not seem possible that I am the same woman that I was a year ago. Then I suffered with my head all the time, had so much gas on my stomach that I could hardly endure it and was always troubled with a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue and was so bloated that at times I could not fasten my clothes. I was unable to do my work, but now after taking one box of Miona, a nature's cure for dyspepsia, I am a well woman and can do my work as well as ever.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all Druggists. Trial bottles free.
