

SALISBURY TRUTH.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11.

Local News.

Friday afternoon of last week Robert Anderson, a young white man living on the Sherrill road, about two miles from this city, was feeding cane in a mill, and while so engaged got his right hand so badly mashed that amputation at the wrist was necessary. Drs. Whitehead and McKenzie, of this city, performed the operation.

Lieutenant Wood, of the army, who was here for some days on recruiting service, left last week for Jefferson Barracks, Mo., with two recruits.

At the meeting of the city aldermen last Thursday a committee was appointed to see about purchasing a hose wagon and hook and ladder truck for the fire department.

Salisbury will have a chance to see Dewey. The famous admiral has accepted an invitation to visit Atlanta some time next month when his flag lieutenant, Brumby, will be presented with a sword by the people of Georgia. He has designated the Southern as the road he will travel over, and this will bring him through Salisbury. The exact date hasn't been fixed yet, but we will all know in time. There'll be a crowd at the depot that day.

North Main street, between the city limits and Spencer, has been materially widened and otherwise improved recently under the direction of J. H. L. Rice, and the work of macadamizing it will soon begin. When finished Salisbury and Spencer will be connected by a very handsome boulevard.

Eighteen white and four colored couples were married in this county during September.

Livingston College in this city, the well known institution for the higher education of colored students of both sexes, opened its gates in session last week with an attendance of 110 pupils, the largest in the history of the school.

Next Sunday the Mt. Vernon hotel in this city will change proprietors, J. W. Crowe, a well known commercial traveler assuming the control, having leased the property from its owner, P. A. Edwards. Mr. Crowe has been recently a resident of Asheville, and is reported to be a good manager who will keep the hotel in an excellent state. Mr. Edwards declines from the management because he wants to take a rest in his old age from business cares, and with his wife will continue to live at the hotel.

The court house is being fitted up with water closets of modern design.

Sheff Moore will begin his tax collecting tour of the county at Zeb, next Monday.

North Main street is negotiating with L. E. Hays for the purchase of the Monte Carlo mine on the H's house land.

A resolution with a resolution passed by the school board the work of vaccinating the pupils commenced last Friday.

Dr. W. H. Wakefield, of Charlotte, N. C., will be in Salisbury at Central Hotel, on Thursday, Oct. 19th, for his one day only. His practice is limited to Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

Owing to the inclement weather the address on the "Harmony of the Races" by Rev. L. T. Christmas, advertised to be delivered at the court house last Thursday night, was not given, but was postponed until Monday night, Oct. 16 when the speaker will return to the city and deliver the address. He left last Saturday for Redsville to fill engagements there.

H. H. Ham, who was injured by a Southern train near this city some time ago and brought suit to recover $5,000 damages, lost his case on the trial at Durham a few days ago. He claimed that he was standing beside the railroad and that a passenger train without a headlight struck him and that he was permanently disabled. The defendant denied this and said that Ham stepped on the track just ahead of the train and was hurt.

Next spring Edwin Shaver will have a handsome brick building erected on his lot on Main street, between the Mansion House and the Holmes block. The building will contain two store-rooms.

While wrestling with another boy at China Grove, Chester Sechler fell and had his arm broken.

R. S. Wilder, an employee at the Spencer shops, has brought his family to Salisbury from Macon, Ga.

Last Monday morning J. H. Lassiter, a car inspector at Spencer, came near meeting with a terrible death. In company with another man he was working under a freight car in the yards when it was set in motion so suddenly that there was no time to get out. Lassiter's companion grasped a rod and swung himself clear of the track, and by great effort held Lassiter partially clear. The latter was dragged along the ties and had a leg broken and was otherwise bruised before the car was stopped and he was rescued from his perilous position.

Smelting and concentrating machinery by the carload for the Union Copper Mine at Gold Hill, is being received here and shipped to Gold Hill.

Rev. L. T. Christmas, who will speak at the court house in this city next Monday night, on the "Harmony of the Races," is engaged in the work of organizing the colored people into an evangelic co-operative movement to promote the harmony of the white and colored races in this country and for the salvation of the negro race, religiously, morally and industrially. This movement is heartily endorsed by all the leading representatives of both races, and newspapers, and it is hoped and expected that a large audience will be at the court house next Monday night. Special seating arrangements for white people.

Huge poles 62 feet high have been put up on Main street by the telephone company.

Drs. Newman and Long will establish a private hospital in the old Snobor home place, corner Fulton and Kerr streets, and went over to High Point, Tuesday, to purchase the furniture.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says: "The quartermaster general to-day equipped the Salisbury and Henderson companies of the State Guard. He says he will equip the others as rapidly as possible."

Fletcher King, col., caught in a wood shed under suspicious circumstances, is in jail until the grand jury can see into his case.

Deaths.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Council, of Chestnut Hill, died last Saturday morning.

Mrs. Otha Van Poole, of Craven, this county, died Oct. 5th, leaving a husband and six children, among the latter Drs. C. M. and G. M. Van Poole.

The child of Hayward Redwine died Sunday at Chestnut Hill.

William Feiser, of this city, and Miss Mamie Morris, of Tarboro, were married in the latter city yesterday.

Marriages.

At the residence of E. W. Burt, of this city, brother-in-law of the bride, last Wednesday night Miss Ella S. Bruton, daughter of the late Rev. D. R. Bruton, of the North Carolina conference, was united in marriage to Rev. R. H. Wilson, of Eagle Rock, Virginia, Rev. Drs. John R. Brooks and J. H. Weaver officiating. Shortly after the ceremony the newly married couple left by the Southern for their future home in Eagle Rock, Shenandoah Valley, Va.

Milas Fife and Miss Laura Hartman, of Chestnut Hill, were married last Wednesday evening.

Items From Faith.

Ernest Bernhardt and Miss Lena Colley were married Sunday.

Twins—a boy and girl, have arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ward.

Rev. Webber, of Salisbury, held services at the Reformed church here Tuesday night.

J. T. Wyatt shipped to Chapel Hill, Tuesday, one carload of granite door and window sills.

A railroad is needed in Faith. If we should get one factories would go up, because Faith has the business men to furnish the money and do the building. NERO.

Must Vaccinate.

The following rules with reference to the compulsory vaccination of pupils, were announced by Prof. Conn, superintendent of the city schools, last Friday:

1. All children attending the public schools must be vaccinated, provided they have not been vaccinated within the last two years.

2. Dr. W. L. Campana and his assistants are attending the several schools and are vaccinating all free of charge who wish to have it done at the schools. The names of all others are noted down. There will be given ten days, beginning this evening at 3 o'clock, in which to be vaccinated at home or at some place other than the public schools.

3. Those children now attending the public schools, who are not successfully vaccinated within ten days, beginning this evening at 3 o'clock, will be suspended from the school and will not be permitted to return.

A Mine of History.

A Salisbury correspondent of the Lexington Dispatch sends the following interesting matter concerning our court house and its records to his paper under recent date: "This county is spending some eight or ten thousand dollars in repairing and remodeling the county court house. The work is being done by Ittner, the contractor, and when it is completed the interior will show one of the handsomest and best appointed court-rooms in the State.

"This old court-house, by the way, contains a veritable mine of historical data and information, in the records of the early provincial courts, which were held here in the last century, records which would be of invaluable service to one who would write a history of the State. The court records extend back as far as 1753, when the first "court of assize, oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery" for the counties of Rowan, Anson and Orange was held here in Salisbury, with the Hon. Peter Hendrick presiding, chas. Elliott, Esq., as the Attorney General, and the notorious Edmund Fanning, of Hillsboro, and Thomas Frohock, of Rowan, as clerks. At the next court Edmund Fanning appears as attorney for his majesty, the King. It was at this court that Abner Nash exhibited license from Governor Dobbs to practice as an attorney in the province. The names of John D. nn, Adlai Osborne, clerk under the crown, and afterwards under the State, Frohock and Fanning often appear. It was in the old Salisbury court that Gen. William R. Davie, Archibald D. Murphy, Governor Montford Stokes, David F. Caldwell and others equally as famous, were practitioners in this court, as the records attest.

In the register's office, among other old deeds, is found one from Daniel Poone, who for a long time was a resident of this county.

In the year 1903 Salisbury will have reached her one hundred and fiftieth year. It is proposed at that time to hold some fitting celebration in honor of its green old age."

North Carolina's Victory.

Atlanta Constitution. The coming senatorial contest in the state of North Carolina gives some idea of the victory which the people won in their election of one year ago. It was a pitiable sight when one of the original states of the Union fell a victim to a political conspiracy, only equalled by the carpet bag governments of 1865. In this conspiracy ignorance and vice pushed aside the virtue and intelligence of the state, and from the governorship almost to every office the men who were the backbone of every community were sidetracked and place hunters took their seats. The unholy alliance by which a populist and a republican, so divergent in views, could have been elected to the United States senate, proved that spoils was the motive power, and that principle had nothing whatever to do in the general carving up of offices. It was no wonder then, that when North Carolinians, men of substance and intelligence and property, found how they had been handicapped and belittled in the eyes of the world, they banded themselves together to restore the North State to the proud position when it had been represented by such men as Zeb Vance and Mat Ransom.

There is now a contest going on for the United States senatorship to succeed Marion Butler. In this contest are pitted such men as Hon. Julian S. Carr, Chairman F. M. Simmons, of the state democratic committee, former Governor Jarvis and former Congressman Waddell. In reading over such a list of names as this, representing the best colonial blood of North Carolina, as well as the best manhood of the present day, one can form some idea of the great revolution which is being made from the era of Butler and Pritchard. All these men are first-class in every particular and would worthily represent any state in the Union. As it is, their candidacy makes it certain that North Carolina has thrown off the nightmare of Russellism, and will henceforth keep in the middle of the road and out of the way of tricksters and political charlatans.

Near Piney Grove, Surry county, a few nights ago unknown parties went to the home of Mrs. Cloc Gagnall and carried off her trunk, clothing, a roll of greenbacks and about a quart of silver. There is no clue to the robbers. Mrs. Gagnall is an aged and highly respectable lady.

You need not lose flesh in summer if you use the proper means to prevent it. You think you can't take SCOTT'S EMULSION in hot weather, but you can take it and digest it as well in summer as in winter. It is not like the plain cod-liver oil, which is difficult to take at any time. If you are losing flesh, you are losing ground and you need Scott's Emulsion and must have it to keep up your flesh and strength. If you have been taking it and prospering on it, don't fail to continue until you are thoroughly strong and well.

Elias Carr, Jr, sometime ago, so our informant tells, on a warm, dusty road, was taking a young lady from Warrenton out to Bracebridge. The conversation drifted to politeness, when the lady began to insist that the negroes in Warren county were so very much more polite than elsewhere. She was persisting in her contention till the carriage had passed a wagon which the two saw drive out of the road when more than a hundred yards ahead. As they passed the negro driver, Reddick Hines, he doffed his hat and said: "Howdy do, Mr. Elias; I stopped, fearin' I was makin' too much dust."—Tarboro Southerner.

It is conservatively estimated that at least one hundred and eighty cooks have left here in the last month. The last complainant—and he is making an immense kick—is John A. Barringer. For six years he has kept the same colored cook in his family. She learned all his little whims about the preparation of food. Who could cook an egg as she could cook it? Where was her equal on broiled steak? She was in, comparable on a "biled" dinner. And now she is gone. These employment agency people have sent her to the cruel North, where she will receive a few more dollars a week.—Greensboro correspondence Charlotte Observer.

Tuesday night when the 7:25 Southern bound passenger train was leaving several persons standing on the far end of the platform saw a figure jump upon the "blind baggage" of the moving cars—between the mail and the baggage cars. They were quite sure that the person was a man in woman's clothes, and they communicated with the police. The police concluded that the individual was one of several men they had been wanting for some weeks, and they wired the police in Salisbury to arrest the party when the train arrived there. The instructions were obeyed by the Salisbury police; and they telegraphed Chief-of-Police Scott, of this place, that the arrest had been made on the arrival of the train and that their prisoner was a woman, wore a man's cap and a man's shoes. Her name was not given. She is still in the custody of the Salisbury police, and it is probable she may be tried for breaking the "hobo," or tramp-beating laws. When she boarded the train in Greensboro it was going about fifteen miles an hour. A woman with the nerve to do this should go seat free.—Greensboro Record.

NEVER TOO OLD TO BE CURED.

S. S. S. is a Great Blessing to Old People. It Gives Them New Blood and Life. Age does not necessarily mean feebleness and ill health, and nearly all of the sickness among older people can be avoided. Most elderly people are very susceptible to illness, but it is wholly unnecessary. By keeping their blood pure they can fortify themselves so as to escape three-fourths of the ailments from which they suffer so generally. S. S. S. is the remedy which will keep their systems young by purifying the blood, thoroughly removing all waste accumulations, and imparting new strength and life to the whole body. It increases the appetite, builds up the energies, and sends new life-giving blood throughout the entire system.

Mr. J. W. Loving, of Colquitt, Ga., says: "For eighteen years I suffered torments from a fiery eruption on my skin. I tried almost every known remedy, but they failed one by one, and I was told that my cure, which is sixty six, was against me, and that I could never hope to be well again. I finally took S. S. S., and it cleansed my blood thoroughly, and now I am in perfect health."
