Director Merriamannounced Thursday that the Census office is about to publish a bulletin showing the amount of cotton ginned in the United States during the census year (crop of 1899). which has been prepared in the division of manufactures under the personal supervision of Daniel C Roper, of South Carolina. Speaking of this bulletin, the director said that the inquiry has resulted most satisfactorily and that he believed it would be received with the greatest inter-States.

The above sounds very innocent and well, but if such a bulletin is printed by the gov ernment and thus gives value for correctness, we fear it will work a great loss to the farmers, most of whom will never see or utilize it, while the broker and dealer in futures will make handsome profits by it. If such should be the case it will not be received with the greatest interest in the cotton growing states, but instead in the stock exchanges and Wall street. No ginner should be compelled to give such information for such a purpose, and not being compelled the farmers might save something by refusing to trade with those who did so voluntarily. Of course the wide awake, in telligent farmer would appre
