Now or never was the ltime for the little game of "Alice, where art thou?" to be played, but there was nary a player and Jim and the whiskey both left the saloon at one and the same time.

Now in the course of human gents something always turns up and this trip it was the above-mentioned Alice, who was left some minutes ago enjoying social half hours with some of her local acquaintances. But there was one disappointed black lady, when she found that the whiskey, like all mortal joys, had flew the coop. She wept a few and then the same spirit that made her remote ancestors assist their neighbors to the happy hunting grounds by means of an assegai or a poisoned arrow asserted itself and she called loudly for r-rrevenge. But Alice is a wise cool and has learned that the law, though a bad thing to get tangled up with when in a dry town you are doing out be giad for you to state in your paper liquor by the glass to a few friends that there is absolutely no truth in

Last night's Charlotte News sail: On the street today it was reported that the Southern Railway would grant a special rate of a half fare or less to Salisbury on each Saturday for the benefit ostensibly of the "thirsties" who have been seeking something to stake their thirst for liquor and have been unable to find it.

"You would have no idea how many people have telephoned and asked me about these rates today," said a well known man connected with the ticket office department of the Southern this morning "and" continued he, "I would

Lyman Howe's Pictures Under Auspices of Elks, Were IT

Last night at Meroney's Opera house, under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks, Lyman H. There were a hundred good ones that we cannot mention. But it was so good that we could fill the paper with nothing but Lyman H. Howe, and then not overdo it.

One thing we must say is: If you were not there last night, don't fail to get in on the ground floor upon its return engagement, which is to occur SOOR

GRAND DUCHESS DEAD

Young Wife of Duke of Saxe Weimar Passes Away

Weimar, Germany. Jan. 17-Grand Duchess Caroline, wife of the reign-Faith. Jan. 17-Luther Fisher has ing Grand Duke William of Saxe Weimar died at 3:30 this morning of pneumonia. Her sickness was brought on by a monitor ride while the thermometer was below zero. She was but 20 years old and married Grand Duke in 1903.

> Though she had been married but twenty one months her married life had been an agitated one. After three months she ran away because of the efforts of some female courtiers to stifle her youthful freedom. Her husband went after her and they were reconciled and the courtiers ejected. the remainder of her life was miserable, owing to fear of insanity, which is prevalent in her family.
