

UNVEILING OF THE MONUMENT AT APPOMATTOX

(From The Sun of Saturday) Monday, April 10th the North Carolina monument at Appomattox will be unveiled.

This monument was erected in honor of the North Carolina soldiers who fought so valiantly on this battlefield in defense of their rights in the sixties. No braver body of men ever shouldered a gun or marched to the front to do battle, than the troops of the Old North State.

While the military population of the state was only 115,369 yet she furnished 127,000 troops, of which number 40,275 were killed in battle and died from wounds and disease and $6,725 returned to their former homes to try and rebuild the fortunes that were lost in the struggle.

Today as you review those troops who returned you see not the faces of many who were active in this warfare.

They are laid beneath the sod which they loved and for which they fought. The flowers planted by loving hands and watered with tears of grief from bereaved relatives and friends bloom just as brightly as ever, but the body that lies beneath has long since returned to the dust from which it was taken.

The sons and daughters of these old heroes have narrowed the breach between the North and South until they stand with clasped hand and declare that there is no North, no South, but one grand and glorious union of which the world stands in awe and looks to be taken by the Confederates as Captured by the North Carolina Cavalry Brigade of Brigadier General W. P. Roberts at this place.

The Old North State (Song and Chorus) Words by Hon. William Gaston

Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her! While we live we will cherish, protect and defend her; Though the scorners may sneer at and wifings defame her, Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.

Chorus: Hurrah! Hurrah! the Old North state forever! Hurrah! Hurrah! the good Old North State!

II Though she envies not others their merited glory, Yet her name stands the foremost in Liberty's story! Though too true to herself e'er to crouch to oppression, None e'er yields to just rule more loyal submission.

Chorus. That the dead past has burid its dead is evidenced by the friendly relations of the one time foes, by the influx of Northern capital to Southern fields and the general good fellowship shown by both sides.

The bloody battles and the fields on which they were fought are only remembered as bits of history in the making of the most powerful nation the world has ever known.

The bloody chasm exists no more and the homes of the South which at one time were barred to those who wore the blue are thrown open and an invitation to enter therein is extended.

Likewise the North stands with open arms to receive those of the South who desire to cross her threshold and cast their lot with them.

Plain and artless her sons, but whose doors open faster,
To the knock of the stranger, or tale of disaster?

How like to the rudeness of their native mountains,
Rich ore in their bosoms and life in their fountains.

And her daughters, the queen of the forest resembling,
So graceful, so constant to gentlest breath trembling,
So true at their hearts when the test is applied them,
How blessed each day as we spend it beside them!

Chorus.

Then let all who love us, love the land that we live in,

Where Plenty and Freedom, Love and Peace smile beside us,
Rise aloud, raise together the heart thrilling chorus!
Hurrah! Hurrah, etc.

WAVE OF PROSPERITY
New York, April 8.—Another week of more or less uncertainty has gone, the prevailing undertone of the stock market has been strong; but what in certain quarters the public mind appears somewhat confused with the disposition to realize shown as to the interpretation of the public mind appears somewhat confused as to the interpretation of current events.

The announcement that Union Pacific would issue another $100,000,000 of stock came somewhat as a wet blanket upon bullish enthusiasm. Just what will be done with this new issue is not yet made known officially; consequently the financial atmosphere is full of conjecture. No doubt the issue is part of the comprehensive plans which have been projected for some time past by the banking interests controlling this and other great railroad properties and which of course are for the ultimate good of these properties; but as the public has not yet been taken into the confidence of the management it seems a little premature to form any conclusive ideas as to the outcome.

Coming after the announcement of many other capital issues during the last few months, running into the hundreds of millions, it shows that our leading bankers are still actively engaged in financing new operations upon a scale that emphatically demonstrates their confidence in the general situation. A very considerable portion of recent issues has been for refunding purposes, or for taking up railroad notes and other temporary obligations issued a couple of years ago when conditions were unfavorable which the railroads were obliged to make for the purpose of completing necessary improvements.

Our railroads have been wonderfully favored by national prosperity. In spite of the great increase of facilities made in the last two or three years, our principal systems still find themselves overtaxed with traffic and with every probability of its continuance for months to come. Both agriculture and industry are also enjoying much prosperity. In every part of the country trade is showing increased activity, and the volume of business reported exceeds even the unprecedented volume of the last two years.

The South is prosperous, having realized good average prices for cotton; and so, too, is the West, which is receiving good prices for its products. In the East the iron and steel boom continues unprecedented. We are already beginning to import pig iron from abroad, our domestic furnaces being unable to meet the demand. The railroads have again entered the iron market as heavy purchasers of steel rails, bars, locomotives, etc., while the demand for iron and steel for all sorts of constructive purposes is expanding marvelously; hence record prices for United States Steel preferred. Just now real estate is also experiencing one of those periodic booms for which the United States is noted. Land values are rising rapidly, and new buildings of all sorts are being erected. This movement may be attributed to several causes. First, security values have risen so high that in many cases a satisfactory return thereon is no longer possible, and holders are exchanging stocks and bonds for real estate, which, for the time being at least, offers better prospects. Another influence in the real estate market is the rapid growth of population and the fact that building has been much restrained for a year or two by the high cost of materials and by high wages. In consequence rents have been steadily advancing, especially in congested districts, until they have reached a point attractive at least to speculative capital. It cannot be said, however, that the speculation in real estate has yet obtained dangerous proportions much of the activity is perfectly legitimate, and seems destined to continue for some time to come, although it is well worth remembering that the climax of all great upward movements in the United States has usually been marked by a real boom. History shows that these movements in real estate have almost invariably marked the crest of a forward wave, and while the top may not have been reached, there is no reason to see why this particular movement should be any exception.

ENJOYABLE OCCASION
Prominent Speakers at Banquet of Daughters of Liberty

The Daughters of Liberty met last night in the Royal Arcanum hall had a very interesting meeting.

Several new members were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree and about 20 visitors were present, from Concord, Cooleemee and other places.

After the meeting adjourned the Daughters marched in a body to Armory hall, where delicious fruits and ice cream awaited them.

Senator Lee S. Overman, Hon. Theo. F. Kluttz, Mayor A. H. Boyden, Rev. Farrington, John M. Julian, delivered addresses, chiefly on patriotism all of which were excellent and worthy of the gentlemen who spoke.

After the speeches the refreshments were served.

This was one of the most enjoyable events of the kind ever held here and the visitors were highly pleased by the royal manner in which they were entertained.

Some of the out of town people left for their respective homes this morning while others are spending the day here to drink more deeply of the delightful hospitality of Salisbury.

It almost makes a man want to jump off a ten-story building to think of the kind of letters he could write to a girl before he ever imagined she would throw them up at him after they were married.

CONVENTION AT RALEIGH
(From The Sun of Friday)
The North Carolina State Sunday school convention, completed the work of its twenty-second annual session at Raleigh yesterday and adjourned, the feature of the proceedings of most general interest being the election of the officers for the ensuing year, whose names appeared in The Sun of yesterday, and the adoption of the recommendations of the executive committee, including the division of the state into 32 districts of three counties each with a vice president for each district and the reduction of the membership of the executive committee from 22 to seven. Also to discontinue the employment of a state field secretary until the finances of the convention will warrant the re-employment of such an officer.
The Baraca class who had delegates at this convention reported a rapid growth, there now being about 60 classes in the state and new ones are being organized every month.
This class gave a banquet Wednesday night, which was a great success and a most enjoyable affair.
An interesting program was arranged and carried out.

A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY
About as enterprising a firm as can be found in North Carolina is the Globe Department Store of this city and the enterprise of this firm is continually in evidence, is shown today by the fact that it has taken the whole of page 5 to tell about the big sale which will be begun next Tuesday.

One feature about this store that commends itself to the public is its reliability, every statement being backed up by the goods. At this sale an attempt will be made to clean up the entire stock of goods and though this is a big undertaking, the prices at which they are offered lead one to believe that when the sale ends empty shelves will be found in considerable number. Everyone who has any thought at all for spending his money where it will bring him the most will do well to read the ad attentively and hence upon he splendid opportunities it offers.

Wisdom may be better than great riches—and it's just as easy not to get.

The office of superintendent of the National Cemetery at Salisbury, which has been vacant for some time, owing to the death of the last incumbent, has been worthily filled by the appointment of Edward S. East formerly sergeant-major First Minnesota Infantry. The new appointee has already taken up his residence in this city. He has an enviable military record and the highest reputation as an officer and a man. During the last few years he has been stationed as follows:

Keokuk, Iowa, Nov. 11, 1893; Grafton, W. Va., June 1, 1899; Andersonville, Ga., January 1, 1903, and was transferred to Salisbury on Thursday last, April 5.
