In addition to our subscription list we mail a large number of every issue to all parts of North Carolina and the United States. THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1886

BRIEFS.

Miss Cleveland has become the editor of a Chicago literary magazine. Leroy Springs, of Charlotte, shot and killed John Bell in Lancaster, S. C. It is said to be a case of self-defense.

Henry Ward Beecher received quite an enthusiastic reception when he landed in England. He will speak at different places in favor of the Home Rule bill.

General Beaver, who was beaten four years ago by the present Democratic Governor, Pattison, will be renominated in order to vindicate him. This will give the Democrats just a fighting chance.

Mr. Randall introduced his tariff bill in the House last Monday. It will effect a reduction of $34,977,665. We hope this bill will pass; the democratic party is pledged for a reduction of tariff, and so far during this long session of Congress nothing has been accomplished.

The Fitz John Porter case has at last been settled. The House passed a bill for his relief, in which the Senate, after a fierce and bitter fight, concurred by a vote of 30 to 17. What the merits of the case are, we are not prepared to say, whether it is justice to a wronged soldier or not. He had our sympathy. He has fought bravely for nearly 20 years to remove the stigma from his name, and he deserved success if for nothing else than his perseverance and energy.

The Senate has refused to investigate the alleged bribery by which it was said that Senator Payne gained his seat. This is a very grave omission. Senator Payne, guilty or not guilty, ought to have an investigation. The press and the public have talked about this case so much that a great many people have taken part either for or against the accused Senator. If he is not guilty it ought to be shown to the public; if he is guilty he ought to be treated like any other criminal. As we believe that the Senate is a corporation that does not look at right thrown around it? Do they believe that they are a star chamber? The public doubts very much whether the Senate is like Caesar's wife.

DAVID DAVIS.

Born in Cecil county, Md., March 9, 1815, of Welsh family; he graduated from Kenyon College, Ohio, in 1832; he studied law in Massachusetts and Cincinnati, and admitted to the bar in 1835; he settled in Pekin, Ill. On account of malaria he left Pekin and chose as his residence Bloomington, Ill. He was successful in his practice and made fortunate investments in real estate, so that he is estimated to be worth between two and three millions. Elected in 1844 to the legislature as a Whig, he became a judge in 1848, which position he held until he was appointed to the Supreme Court bench by President Lincoln, whose warm friend he became. A candidate before the Cincinnati Convention, he received a very flattering vote for the nomination for President. In 1877 he was elected Senator from Illinois as anti-Republican. The Senate being very close, and Arthur succeeding Garfield as President, Davis was elected the presiding officer of the Senate. After the expiration of his term he retired to private life. His first wife, whom he married in 1838, died about ten years ago. Soon after the retirement from the Senate he married a niece of the Hon. J. W. Green of Fayetteville, N. C.

Mr. Davis was absolutely incorrupt, always opposed to jobbery, an anti-railroad judge, he never bought speculative stocks.

Judge Davis died June 30th, at 11 o'clock, of Bright's disease. He leaves one son and one daughter. His funeral took place last Tuesday at 9 o'clock.

DRUMMERS TAX.

Our Junior editor, at present in Rhode Island, writes that he has heard several commercial travelers make the remark that they sold all through North Carolina without paying the drummers tax. Of course these men were loud in their denunciation of such a tax, and those that do pay it claim that they charge enough for their goods to cover the tax. Thus, after all, the consumer is the sufferer. There is no doubt but that this tax is a just one, and has its good effects in the way of revenue to the State and a guarantee to some extent to the purchaser that the traveling man is representing a business capable of supporting his license. In justice to the firm that pay for the privilege of canvassing, it is no more than correct that our State officials should show some vigilance regarding the men that sneak through the State as their competitors.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democratic County Convention for Rowan will be held at the Court House in Salisbury, Saturday July 24th, 1886, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of electing delegates to the Congressional and Judicial Conventions, and nominating candidates as follows:

House of Representatives, Sheriff, Clerk of Superior Court, Register of Deeds, County Treasurer, Coroner and County Surveyor. The Democratic Township Conventions will hold their meeting on Saturday July 17th, 1886, at 12 o'clock M., at their usual voting precincts, for the purpose of electing delegates to the County Convention, and also for electing township executive committees. Each Township may send as many delegates to the Convention as they choose, and are entitled to the following number of votes:

Salisbury, 20; Franklin, 10; Unity 4; Scotch Irish, 6; Steele, 4; Mt. Ulla, 5; Atwells, 12; Locke, 6; China Grove, 6; Litakers, 4; Gold Hill 12; Morgans, 5; Providence, 10. There will be a meeting of the County Executive Committee in the Court House at 10 o'clock, A. M., Saturday July 24th, 1886. By order of the Executive Committee.

Card of Thanks.

FIREMEN'S HALL, June 29, '86. The Salisbury H. and L. Company No. 1, desire to return thanks to our citizens, who so kindly contributed to, and thereby made a success of, our first picnic. We especially thank Mr. S. H. Wiley for the use of a wagon and team without charge, also to the ladies who took charge of the table on the grounds. Mr. Windsor and lady for their kindness, and to Mr. Tom Dawson for a box of "Rat-tail" cigars. To those who gave us nothing we will say, we hope they may never need our services, but should they be so unfortunate, they may depend upon us to do our whole duty for the protection of their lives and property.

R. M. PENDLETON, Sec'y Com. W. R. BARKER, Chairman.

China Grove Items.

Messrs. Willie and Leroy Deaton are very ill. Chickens were booming in the village last week. More than 300 were bought on Tuesday. Last week, China Grove was visited by Misses Sallie McKenzie and Mary Sumner, the latter of Lincoln-ton.

No preaching at the Lutheran Chapel last Sunday, the pastor, Rev. B. S. Brown, being absent. Some from a distance were disappointed.

SCRIPTOR, JR.

Miranda Items.

Mr. Mart. Sloop says he has carp in his pond that measure over two feet in length. Mr. Samuel V. Cain has a very nice crop of tobacco growing on the land of J. Samuel McCubbins, Jr., this season. Mr. W. S. Shulbinger has sold 193 pounds of butter, to J. D. Gas-kill, Esq., since March 1st. The cotton crop in this part of the county is very backward. We think it is on account of too much rain and cold weather. Rev. T. C. Smith preached a very able sermon at Oak Grove M. E. church on last Sabbath, selecting for his text the 19th chapter and 16th verse of John. Mr. J. Rowan Davis says he has a larger trade at Mill Bridge than he had at Blackmer. Glad to know it. Mr. Geo. Corntay thrashed some wheat last Saturday.

We are all in favor of John K. Graham, Esq., for our next representative in the Legislature. Esq. Graham is a good judge of law and an excellent farmer. He knows the wants of the farming class of people and that is the kind of man we want to represent us in the next Legislature. Success to the HERALD. DEMOCRAT VOTER.

Enochville Items.

Died near Edmistonville, Rowan county, June 24th, of consumption, Wm. McIver, aged 42 years. This is the third death from consumption in three weeks. All the subjects were good men, and died members of the E. L. church, with full faith. There is a good deal of dysentery in the neighborhood. This is perhaps caused by the great quantity of partially ripe fruit eaten. The wheat crop is reported much better than was expected. Corn promises fine. J. N. Plaster & Co. are now making fine flour on their elegant new mill. Jno. Goodnight, Jr., was up before Esq. Lippe for stealing and was found guilty.

The Trustees of Davidson College thus recognized the friendly aid of our townsman, Dr. Jno. W. Davis: "Resolved, That the Board of Trustees of Davidson College recognize the filial devotion of her distinguished Alumnus, Rev. John W. Davis, D. D., thus formally tender its thanks for his liberal and valuable services in paying the portico of the College building."

The Concerts of the Neave Music School.

Below we clip from the Charlotte Observer what the Salisbury correspondent has to say about the above concerts. The account is so much like what we would have said, that we give it to our readers in full:

To the Editor of the Observer: The writer had the good fortune to be present at the concert given by this school, June 22, and the following night the operetta, "The Sleeping Beauty." The programme was varied and rich, and rendered in a style that evinced most careful training, under the direction of master musicians. The orchestral playing places this school in rank above any in the South, some of it done by children too small to reach the peddles, and in a style worthy an artist. The opening piece by Agnes Neave and Sam Wiley on piano. Prof. Neave with trombone, Mr. Edward Neave with cornet, and Miss Hattie Crawford with chimes was grand. Miss Annie Bingham and Bessie Brown played a lovely duet. Miss Rachel Wallace's solo was rendered in a magnificent style. Miss Agnes Neave played accompaniment to her father's cornet so beautifully that she brought down the house. There are many others deserving special mention if space would permit.

Wednesday night we followed the large crowd to the opera house to witness the operetta, "Sleeping Beauty," based upon the beautiful German legend so familiar to many of us. The cast was well chosen and admirably sustained. Miss Mary Woolen was the efficient accompanist. To mention anyone alone would do an injustice to the whole. The certain rose upon Miss Nolie Crawford, (a sprightly), who told the story in a beautiful song. It was a beautiful picture, the prince (Miss Josephine Baker) was stately, and in her rich dress of velvet and ermine, was a veritable Prince, and sustained her part in a manner right worthy to bear the title throughout all time. "Leave the Prince," while the fair little Princess, Carrie Young, added beauty and winning ways to the already beautiful scene. Her two companions, Gertrude and Giselor, (Maggie McNeely and Mamie Smith) rendered their parts in a life-like manner, while Elfrida (Mamie Crawford) gave much interest to the play by the tender pathos and earnestness which she threw in her pleadings. The two old court ladies were highly amusing, and rightly did they merit the applause given them. So well did they sustain their characters, we almost forgot they were young, beautiful girls, instead of powder and paint bedizened age as represented.

Spindeline, the witch, by Annie Gowan, was a difficult character, but was presented in a splendid manner, and was a credit to Miss Gowan's dramatic power. Last, but by no means least, were the two country girls, (Misses Naomie Keen and Bessie Alexander). In the whole play there were no two prettier characters, none more fittingly chosen. Barbara, brave, self-reliant, was perfection to Margery, who aped her sister in everything in a "naive," piquant style that captivated all hearts. Miss Alexander's conception of the character was good, and her rendering of it charming. And what shall I say of Barbara?—Bonnie, brave Barbara. She seemed to lose her self in the character, and 'tis no exaggeration to say it was a section of real life. No one surpassed her. "Country girls may come, country girls may go, but she will live in our hearts forever." God bless her.

The closing scene was one of exquisite beauty, the entire cast were on, grouped in picturesque attitudes. The handsome Prince and sweet Princess, surrounded by her two companions and dignified Court Ladies, graceful Elfrida with her lovely train, and to one side, withdrawn from the bright group, were Barbara and Margery, looking on the happy scene with longing eyes, making a bright spot in the beautiful picture. Bright but timid, Margery still clinging to the brave, triumphant, beautiful Barbara. Over the whole scene was shed a soft red light, that enhanced the beauty of this ethereal scene, and we venture to say, no artist brush ever put upon canvas, a more charming view of girls than the stage held Wednesday night. Beautiful, entrancing picture. Forgive me for trespassing so long on your valuable space, but as one of the Court Ladies, in her inimitable sarcasm, remarked: "That which praise deserves, will praise compel." REW. Salisbury N. C., June 24.

The Evangelical Lutheran General Synod, South.

ROANOKE, VA., June 23.—The fifteenth convention of the Evangelical Lutheran General Synod, South, convened in St. Mark's Church, Roanoke City, to-day. This body is composed of the Synods of Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi. The representation from these bodies is unusually large, together with many visiting ministers and laymen: Rev. G. U. Wendel, D. D., of New York city; Rev. D. M. Henkel, D. D., of Pennsylvania; Rev. E. E. Sibole, of Philadelphia and Rev. S. B. Barnitz, western Secretary of the Home Missions of Des Moines, Ia., are among the visitors.

The opening sermon was preached this morning by Rev. W. S. Bowman, D. D., of Savannah, Ga., the retiring President, his theme being, "Christian Unity." The Holy Communion was celebrated by the Synod with solemn services. The Synod was formally organized this afternoon by the enrollment of delegates and the president reading his report for the past two years, giving a synopsis of the work of the Church. The following officers were elected: Rev. F. W. E. Peschay, of Wilmington, N. C., president; Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, of Richmond, Va. secretary, and Capt. W. A. Barber, of Charlotte, treasurer.

A committee of two from each Synod was appointed to report action on the subject of the union of the Church in the South. Rev. S. B. Barnitz preached to-night.
