

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

CANDIDATES FOR WHOM WE WILL VOTE IN NOVEMBER.

- For Congress, Hon. J. S. HENDERSON, For State Senator, Hon. F. E. SIOBER, For Legislature, LEE S. OVERTMAN, For Sheriff, C. C. KRIDER, For Register of Deeds, H. N. WOODSON, For Superior Court Clerk, J. M. HOBAN, For County Treasurer, J. S. MCCUBBINS, JR., For Coroner, D. A. ATWELL, For County Surveyor, B. C. ARBY, For Judge, 6th District, W. J. MONTGOMERY, of Cabarrus, For Solicitor, 6th District, B. F. LONG, of Iredell.

BRIEFS.

The President last Tuesday appointed Daniel Magone, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., as Collector of New York, in place of Mr. Hedden, resigned.

Two million Knights of Labor throughout the United States will be a factor that politicians will have to take into consideration in future campaigns.

The University of Heidelberg celebrated her five hundredth anniversary last week. 40,000 guests are said to have been present from all quarters of the world.

John S. Wise, Mahone's defeated candidate for Governor in the last election, still has the utmost faith in Mahone and in the eventual success of Mahonism in Virginia.

Senator Jones, the Don-Quixotic Senator from Florida, will not resign, although he does not intend to go to Washington. He has opened a law office in Detroit, Michigan.

President Cleveland has commissioned James C. Matthews, colored, of Albany, N. Y., whose nomination was rejected by the Senate, to be recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia.

The Bremen steamer Werra broke her shaft in mid ocean; fortunately she met a steamer of the Monarch line and arrived safely in New York last Saturday. The steamer is valued at $1,000,000 and her cargo at three million.

The Indiana greenbackers, in convention assembled, nominated a State ticket and adopted the usual resolutions. That party seems to be about on its last legs in that State—there were hardly enough delegates present to call it a convention.

Ex-Minister to Persia, Frederick H. Winston, arrived in New York Sunday morning. He says he resigned as minister simply because he did not like the position, and that the newspaper report about his connection with Persian railways was utterly false and unfounded.

The Baltimore Journal of Commerce has been bought by the Baltimore Manufacturers and Mining Record. Judging by the success they have attained with the Record, we expect that the Journal of Commerce will be a most valuable paper to all business men.

Two more fools shoot the Niagara Rapids. Like Graham, they are coopers, and constructed a barrel-shaped boat 10 feet long with a wheel rudder and a 12-inch propeller which sat at the stern. Their names are George Haslit and Wm. Potts. Somebody will next attempt to float down Niagara Falls.

The South Carolina State Convention nominated Richardson, the present State Treasurer, for Governor, W. L. Maddox for Lieutenant Governor, J. H. Rice, of Abbeville, for Superintendent of Education, Isaac S. Bamberg, of Barnwell, for Treasurer, Joseph H. Earle, of Sumpter, for Attorney General, and W. E. Stoney, of Berkeley, for Comptroller General. The Committee on platform omitted the Civil Service plank, but the convention, by a large majority, restored it.

Rutherford B. Hayes had the rare opportunity to give his views to the public when interviewed immediately after Tilden's death. But R. B. Hayes felt so painfully sensitive on that subject that he refused to be interviewed. Sorry for him; a good man personally, who will go down to posterity as the great fraud.

The new steel cruiser, Atlanta, made her trial trip last Thursday. Like her sister ship the Dolphin, she is found wanting. A private firm can have ships built for them that are perfect in every respect, when tried. The government seems unable to do so. No ship built for the government in the last 25 years would have ever been accepted by a private company. Reform in the navy is certainly of the greatest importance to the national pocket-book.

Congress has adjourned. It is very hard to say what it has done. We believe it has passed one bill of national importance: the presidential succession bill. It has fooled with the tariff, it has passed a great many private pension bills, also the River and Harbor steal and grab bill. Well, and that is all; no, not all, it has not done anything very foolish and very bad, so that the present session, while one of the weakest actively, is one of the strongest negatively.

That New York is the worst governed city in the world has long ago become an acknowledged fact. It seems almost an impossibility to elect honest officials in that city. Every position is considered not a public trust, but a conquered inimical country, to be squeezed until perfectly dry. This state of affairs exists in the legislative, executive, as well as judicial branch of government. At present the commissioner of public works is on trial, charges are preferred against the present mayor, about twenty ex-Aldermen are under a $25,000 bond each to answer the charge of bribery. What is the cause of this? The answer is simply this: the average New Yorker is so busy chasing the almighty dollar that he has no time for politics, consequently neglects his duty as a citizen and lets the political machine fall into the hands of unscrupulous politicians who know no country, no state, no city, no party, no honesty or duties. It is the duty of every citizen not only to vote at elections, but to keep posted, to study political situations, to go to primaries and conventions. It is easier to keep dishonest officials out at the polls than to get him out, after he is elected.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Col. Cowles was renominated in the eighth Congressional District of N. C. without opposition.

The republican State Executive Committee met in Raleigh last Tuesday and decided not to have a State convention this year.

In the fourth Congressional District 198 ballots were taken without result. Gen. W. R. Cox, the present member, then withdrew from the contest. The 211th ballot resulted in the nomination of Major John W. Graham. The defeat of Mr. Cox is principally to be attributed to his civil service record.

Last Thursday the elections for State judicial and county officers were held in Tennessee. As far as can be learned the democratic majority ranged between 20,000 and 40,000. The democratic State convention to nominate State officers comes off Wednesday, August 11th.

It is still thought that ex-Governor Porter, now First Assistant Secretary of State, will resign that position this fall, and that our distinguished and able Congressman, Hon. W. R. Cox, will be offered the place by the President and Mr. Bayard. I intended the Chronicle should be the first paper that should have this item, but mentioned it accidentally yesterday to one of the editors of the Capital, and he has the following this morning: "It was also rumored that First Assistant Secretary of State Porter will tender his resignation in the fall. Who his successor will be is not known, but it is thought that the President will express his appreciation of the devotion of Hon. W. R. Cox, of North Carolina, to the principles of civil service reform by tendering the position to him."

I hope there is truth in the rumor. I do not care to see Gen. Cox honored because of his civil service reform record, but because he is a man to reflect credit on his State in any capacity. —Charlotte Evening Chronicle.

SAMUEL JONES TILDEN.

The great Democratic chieftain, the great American statesman, died at his country residence, Greystone, at 9 o'clock Wednesday, August 4th, 1886. Of old English stock, who settled in this country in 1634, he inherited the love of freedom, his self reliance and his kind heart from these hearty pioneers that made this country the greatest republic of the world.

HIS YOUTH.

Tilden was born in New Lebanon, N. Y., February 9, 1814. The pale and slender youth, while but a child in body, early developed those qualities which in after life made him the statesman of his age. He wrote for the Albany Argus before he was eighteen, articles which attracted public attention. He entered Yale College in 1833, but owing to ill-health, he had to complete his studies at the University of New York, reading law at the same time in the office of the late Judge John W. Edmunds. In 1841 he opened an office in Pine street and entered upon the practice of law.

AS EDITOR.

His tastes for literature, coupled with political inclinations, led him to establish the Morning News in 1844, and to the influence of the News was attributed the success of the Democratic ticket in the country, as well as in the state of New York. In 1845 he was elected to the Assembly and in 1846 to the constitutional convention. Mr. Tilden saw that in his editorial career he was neglecting his legal profession and in 1847 he abandoned the newspaper business and devoted himself exclusively to law.

AS LAWYER.

By indefatigable industry, close study, attention to minute things and a brilliant intellect, he soon won for himself not only fame, but a large fortune. Mr. T. was always found on the side of the weak, the wronged and the honest. It has been alleged, by his enemies, that Tilden had, during the war, been unfriendly to the Union cause; all his acts, his letters and his speeches show to the contrary; it is true he was no red-hot, fanatic Abolitionist.

AS REFORMER.

In 1860 he accepted the chairmanship of the State Executive Committee. While he had, then, no idea of Tweed's frauds, he was hated by Tweed and his followers, as an honest man is instinctively feared and hated by thieves. Mr. Tilden soon saw this animosity and took up the challenge. The fight continued for three years when Connelly and Sweeney fled the country, and Tweed found himself behind the bars. Mr. Tilden's "methods" unveiled the infamies of the Court House ring, convicted several, and purified the city of professional reformers.

AS GOVERNOR.

Nominated for Governor in 1874, he was elected over Gen. Dix by 50,317 votes. In January, 1875, in a message to the New York legislature, he denounced the disgraceful usurpation of power of the Federal Government in Louisiana, and of consequent outrages. In the same year the Governor attacked the canal ring; he struck blow after blow at the system of corruption and extravagance, until the whole rotten fabric fell to the ground and the canal ring was destroyed with one of its members convicted a felon and half a dozen others indicted.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Naturally, the eyes of the people turned to this fearless reformer of the most corrupt abuses as their standard bearer in the coming presidential campaign; The Democratic National Convention that met in St. Louis in June, 1876, nominated Mr. Tilden on second ballot. Tilden was elected. By one of the most gigantic frauds he was cheated out of the presidency. Even now, one of the prime movers in this conspiracy, steeped in perjury and the most stupendous villainy, is president pro. tem. of the Senate, placed there by the Republican Senators. In all this terrible ordeal, Tilden stood by unmoved; a word from his mouth would have thrown the Republic into a civil war. Tilden saw this; the patriot stood silent, and allowed his political enemies to steal from him the highest honor any people can bestow upon any one man. The nomination in 1880 and 1884 Mr. Tilden positively declined. It is a strange coincidence that within the last eight months four Democratic candidates for the presidency have died, viz., Hancock, McClellan, Seymour and now Tilden.

AMERICAN CITIZENS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The rights of American citizens are not very much respected outside of the United States; in fact these rights are even trampled under foot within this republic. The cause is very plain—we have no navy to coerce Chili and Persia to treat Americans decently. Until we have this navy we will command no respect abroad. In addition to this it often occurs, especially with the naturalized citizen who returns to his native land, that he oversteps the line of our free and easy laws and makes himself amenable to the laws of the country he visits; an international fuss is the consequence. At other times a full-fledged native American citizen swags into a foreign territory and does all kinds of things, relying upon his home government to pull him out of the scrape; he even offends the laws on purpose so that he may claim damage from the foreign government. This latter case, we think, applies to Editor Cutting, who was last Saturday sentenced to fine and imprisonment in a Mexican town. Mr. Cutting, an American adventurer of rather bad repute, printed in a paper published in Chihuahua, a Mexican border-town, an article severely attacking the honesty and good name of a resident Mexican editor. Brought before a judge, he agreed to withdraw, and did withdraw these charges; he then crossed the Rio Grande into the Texan town, El Paso del Norte, and published there in an American paper, the Evening Tribune, these same charges—printing them in the English as well as the Spanish language. Re-crossing into Mexican territory he was arrested, and Saturday last sentenced to one year imprisonment and a fine of $600. The judge held that, as the Evening Tribune had subscribers in Chihuahua, the writer of any article in this paper was amenable to Mexican laws if caught in Mexico. It may be that further developments change the facts of the case as we give them. At present this affair has stirred up the border, the feeling is intensely bitter, and the least provocation may bring on a border war.

STATE NEWS.

John Cardwell, the Wilkes county criminal, was re-captured near Wilkesboro by two boys named Bishop, who had been on his trail ever since the Governor offered the $200 reward. Cardwell has been placed in the Stateville jail for safe keeping, and will be sentenced and undoubtedly hang. Lincolnton Press: M. O. Sherrill & Co., general merchants at Newton, made an assignment Monday to Geo. A. Warlick, for the benefit of their creditors without preferences. The liabilities exclusive of debts secured by collateral, amount to $8,000. The nominal assets are equal to the liabilities. The members of the firm, Messrs. M. O. Sherrill and J. A. Ware, have much sympathy in their misfortune. They have surrendered everything to their creditors. The failure was caused by inability to collect.

Raleigh News-Observer: Yesterday afternoon the board of agriculture determined to proceed with the work of establishing the State Industrial school, accepting the offer heretofore made on behalf of the city of Raleigh. The Baptist Orphanage.

The late meeting of the Orphanage Association at Thomasville was a decided success. From 2,500 to 3,000 people, representing every section of the State, were present. The report of the general manager shows $5,485.15 contributed to the work since last November. Thirty-seven orphans have been received, and others will be so soon as buildings can be completed to accommodate them. In addition to the buildings for the orphans, arrangements have been made to construct a chapel and a home for aged, worn out Baptist ministers. For these objects a collection of $773.03 was taken at the meeting. This enterprise appeals strongly to Christians and philanthropists alike. It opens up a field for the exercise of vital Godliness—"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world."
