How can any thoughtful observer doubt that indigestion, through improper selection and cooking of foods, brings ill-temper, then enfeebled will-power, and consequent weak resistance of temptation, grossuess, immorality, intemporance, insolvency, divorce, infanticide, snicide, and all the calamities of society? What mother will not shudder at such a legion of devils profaning the fair temple of her child's body, by their occupancy, and what effort should seem too hard to avert such sad possibilities ?

Do I exaggerate? I hope I do ; but I am sadly familiar with the history of one life that went out in shame and pitiful weakness, as a confirmed opium eater, whose appetite was created and stimulated by the foods prepared for her mother's table, the mother who would have died for her, and who sits to-
