

BRIEFS.

Bishop Lyman is improving and hopes to be able to resume work about July 1st.

W. W. Corcoran, the aged millionaire and philanthropist, has been paralyzed.

James G. Blaine sailed last Tuesday on the North German steamer Ems.

The Patapsco Chemical Works of Baltimore have assigned. Liabilities $200,000.

Secretary Daniel Manning sailed for New York from Liverpool on June 1st.

The letter of Judge Thurman stating positively he will not be a candidate for governor of Ohio settles it.

Work has been inaugurated on the Baltic Canal, connecting the Baltic Sea with the German Ocean. Emperor William attended the ceremonies at Kiel.

Capt. Williams, of the New York police, received a package by express containing an infernal machine. He dropped it into water and it did not explode.

Col. Fred Grant was asked if he would accept the position of quarantine commissioner of New York, in the event of T. C. Platt's resignation. The Colonel replied that he would not violate the traditions of his family.

Attorney General Garland says he will not accept a place on the Supreme Bench, intending to retire from public life at the end of his term in the cabinet. It was on this account he refused a place on the inter-State commission.

Hon. Wm. A. Wheeler, vice-president of the United States from 1876 to 1880, died at his home in Malone, N. Y., last Saturday morning, June 4th, at 10:10 o'clock. For the last six months he has been suffering from softening of the brain.

Franklin J. Moses, ex-Governor of South Carolina, who has been confined in the Massachusetts State prison since October, 1885, for forgery, was pardoned by Governor Ames last Saturday. It has been represented that Moses was in poor health and could not live long.

Now that Mr. Pasco, aged forty-one, has been elected United States Senator, State Representative Lamar, aged thirty, has been chosen to succeed him as Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives. Young men appear to be leading in that State.

In the Prohibition elections just held, Raleigh went dry by 31 majority, Concord town and township dry by a very large majority, and Durham dry by 84 majority. Monroe went dry and voted down the subscription to the G. C. and N. R. R. Charlotte went wet by 40 majority. Winston went wet by 93, and in Salem the vote resulted in a tie, there being 150 on each side.

It was thought when Governor Hill, of New York, nominated Colonel F. D. Grant for Quarantine Commissioner and General Daniel B. Sikes for Emigration Commissioner that the Republican majority in the State Senate would do something for the soldiers. Nearly all the Grand Army Posts in the State sent in petitions asking their confirmation, but they were thrown into the waste basket, and the nominees were rejected by a strict party vote of 13 to 7.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

It is a long time yet till next election, but speculation is rife in regard to our next Governor. Vance was elected in 1876, Jarvis from the East in 1880, Scates from the West in 1884, so we suppose the next Governor will have to be taken from the East. There are a great many good and able men in the East, and if the democrats name an honest and able man we have no doubt that we can keep North Carolina in the Democratic column with a majority of 29,000.

Do not take quinine for malarial disorders. Ayer's Ague Cure contains none, nor any other injurious ingredient. This preparation, if taken strictly in accordance with directions, is warranted to cure all malarial diseases.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

Charlotte Home-Democrat.

While we were walking about in the sun the other day, without an umbrella or gloves, with a bare-footed white boy at our side, we really felt sad (no, disgusted,) to see on the other side of the street a negro man (preacher or school teacher) with an umbrella over his head, gloves on and a gold-headed cane in his hand, with a little negro boy with shoes and stockings on (this hot weather). The difficulty is, we have to pay taxes to support that negro in his extravagance, and help keep his wife and children from starving or freezing to death during the winter-time, while he votes against our interest (and all the white man's interest) every election.

The Democratic Position Again.

To the Editors of the Herald:

Referring to your rejoinder in your issue of June 2nd on the Democratic position, we would say that if we understand you rightly, you say you had no reference in your article of May 25th to those who voted for Mr. Ramsay, at all. That is satisfactory to us thus far. We also note with satisfaction your remarks upon the utility of a body of independent voters. Upon the portion referring to those who, "coming among us," and voting against their interests, we notice that you qualify it by adding the word "knowingly." We are pleased to say that we do not know that class, and beg to be excused from forming any new acquaintances (political) at present. But if you can possibly make it apply to those who so earnestly solicited Mr. Ramsay to allow the use of his name and then basely deserted him, we heartily say "Lay on, McDuff, and d—d he who cries, 'Hold, enough!'" We now have the pleasure of subscribing ourselves,

Very respectfully, FREE VOTERS, Salisbury, June 8th, '87.

The New Revenue Districts.

Interest in the probable outcome of the new order of the things in internal revenue department of this State continues lively, and it now seems probable that the collectors office for the Fifth district will be located at either Charlotte, Statesville, Newton or Asheville. The Raleigh News and Observer claims to have some authentic information on the subject, and according to its report, Maj. Dowd is dropped, and Mr. Boyd and Mr. Yarborough will remain in office. The editor of that paper says that the order provides that "the Internal Revenue Collection Districts within the United States hereinafter named be altered and united as follows, and that from among the existing officers of such districts, collectors are designated for the new districts as hereinafter set forth. This order to take effect June 15th 1887, or as soon thereafter as practicable." * * * "The counties of Alamance, Caswell, Chatham, Granville, Guilford, Moore, Montgomery, Orange, Person, Randolph, Richmond and Rockingham of the present Fifth district of North Carolina, shall be united with the present Fourth District of North Carolina, and William H. Yarborough is hereby designated as Collector of the consolidated district." * * * "The Sixth District of North Carolina, as now constituted, is hereby united with the Counties of Anson, Davidson, Forsyth, Stanly, Stokes and Surry of the present Fifth District of North Carolina, and Andrew J. Boyd is hereby designated as Collector of said district."

These provisions seem to leave no room for doubt as to the bounds of the two remaining districts or as to who are to be the remaining collectors. In brief, the line dividing the remaining districts corresponds with the western line of Rockingham, Guilford, Randolph, Montgomery and Richmond. North Carolina Ahead.

Southern Tobacco Journal. The Baltimore American, speaking of Lancaster county, Penn., has the following to say: "The richest county in the Union is that of Lancaster, in Pennsylvania. One man netted $380 per acre on his tobacco crop last year. Real estate in such a section is worth owning."

To which the Wilmington Star replies: "That has been beaten fifty times in North Carolina. The American is here informed that there are North Carolina tobacco growers who have made as much as $600 on an acre, and many have averaged $400. If it doubts let it send a correspondent to Oxford and Henderson and it will find it all true."

G. W. McCormick, a wealthy citizen of Thomasville, Ga., who is not a member of any church, surprised the several white pastors of the different churches in that city recently by presenting each of them with a house and lot. In executing the deeds he mentioned no other consideration than that the preachers' lives had been spent in "going about doing good."

JOHNSON AND RAMSAY.

Another Well-Known Plug and Twist Tobacco Factory of Salisbury, N. C.

A Pushy Young Firm and What It Is Doing.

PERSONAL AND DESCRIPTIVE SKETCH

[Southern Tobacco Journal.]

It is difficult to find harder working young men anywhere than Messrs. Johnston & Ramsay, the clever plug and twist tobacco manufacturers of Salisbury, North Carolina. These gentlemen began as a firm last spring, and to-day their tobacco finds ready sale through the Southern States and are constantly growing in public favor. Their push and enterprise, no less than their fair and square dealings with the trade have brought them a patronage that is truly gratifying both to themselves and their many friends.

Messrs. Johnston & Ramsay's factory is 60x100 feet, two stories high, and has a capacity of 750,000 pounds of plug and twist per year. In this building an attractive line of brands are made among which may be mentioned, "Belle of Salisbury," "Yellow Jacket," "Our Beauty," "Centre Shot," "Old Maid," "Johnston's Twist," "Mogul," "Pride of Salisbury," "Solid Comfort," "Far Heel," "Farmer's Joy," "Red Jacket" and "Oliver Twist." These goods are quite popular everywhere introduced and to-day they find ready sale in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and Virginia. Besides the above States these tobaccos are finding their way into others, and all the time the territory is widening in which they are used. Of last season's work only about 100 boxes are left and as a consequence the firm was compelled to begin work earlier this season than any other house in the town. Already Messrs. Johnston and Ramsay have good orders on hand for this year's work and are pushing their business to its full capacity. A secret of the ready sales which these goods meet at the hand of the public is the fact that only choice North Carolina leaf is used. This leaf is known everywhere to be superior for chewing purposes and Messrs. Johnston & Ramsay have recognized this fact, and turned it to practical use. Their tobaccos give satisfaction, and customers are retained when once secured. Mr. Eugene Johnson, the Senior member, is a native of Davie county and a thorough adept in the tobacco business. Mr. Johnston manufactured tobacco in Davie before moving to Salisbury and his long experience in the business has made him well-known to the tobacco trade. Mr. J. H. Ramsay, the Junior member, is a native of Rowan county, and came to Salisbury in 1880. He is the traveling man of the firm, and is well-known among the brokers and dealers in the South. Both Johnson and Ramsay are pleasant gentlemen, and the Journal takes pleasure in recommending them to the tobacco trade of the South. One notable feature of the business conducted by these gentlemen is that they make tobacco to suit their trade. If a jobber wants a fine grade of plug and twist Messrs. Johnson & Ramsay can make it for him, but if an ordinary article is wanted they can also supply the demand at the lowest figure. Their business has grown to such an extent that they are preparing to build a new brick factory this year with all the modern improvements. If the trade wants reliable goods for the least money they can be supplied that their wants will be ascertained by Messrs. Johnson & Ramsay, of Salisbury, N. C.

The life giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation and made it the most effective and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

EDS. HERALD: The commencement at the Thomasville Female College was quite a success this season. The town is very much improved lately—many new houses and stores having been built, and business generally all through the winter and this spring has been lively. Hauling machinery to the mines, and the works of the Piedmont Reduction Company here has given employment to quite a large number of hands. They are now making 200,000 brick. The well-known Sullivan Hotel is full all the time; guests coming from all directions stop with that genial host, Capt. J. S. Sullivan. More anon. E.

Happy Homes. Much has been written and said about how to make home happy. The moralist and the preacher have backneyed this theme until it would seem that nothing more remained to be said. But the philosopher have gone far out of their way and complex and unhappy homes, and have overlooked the chief cause. Most of the unhappiness of married life can be traced directly to those functional derangements which women are subject. In nine cases out of ten the irritable, dissatisfied and unhappy wife is a sufferer from some "female complaint." A trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will produce more domestic happiness than a million sermons or philosophical treatises. It cures all those peculiar weaknesses and ailments incident to women. It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturer, that it will give satisfaction in every case, if money will be refunded. See guarantee printed on wrapper enclosing bottle.

Miranda.

To the Editors of the Herald:

Farmers are too busily engaged fighting weeds and grass to talk hard times, but the monster is staring them in the face. Many of them out of corn; no money to buy; corn 80 cents a pound and none to sell; coffee 25 cents a pound and not very one buying. But one month more and the thrashing machine will sing a lullaby to hard times. But I fear the nap will be a short one, as the fruit crop is almost an entire failure; few peaches and few apples; the blackberry crop will be abundant; no count can be made of their profit until they are in the dry house.

Corn is looking well, and most of it has been worked once. The acreage is larger than usual, and large crops are expected if the season continues good. Wheat and oats are looking exceedingly well. Mr. W. S. Shulinger has some very fine wheat heads, measuring seven inches long and well filled.

There is a great deal of sickness in the community. Measles are yet lurking around, and occasionally one must keep himself indoors and drink his tea. Chick-pox has made its appearance; two cases in the neighborhood. Plenty of beans and potatoes. Look out Drs.!

Dr. E. M. Sommerell is doing a large practice, and is very much liked by the people. Miss Lou Maxwell, of Davie, is visiting relatives at Miranda.

HARD TIMES.

Hickory Items.

Mrs. Hiram Pollard died last Thursday. She leaves seven children to mourn for her. G. M. Whitener, the well-known shingle manufacturer, has quit making shingles, and turned his attention to lumber. Lumber is an important industry of old Catawba county.

Julius Icard's shingle factory in the lower part of Burke county, was destroyed by fire last week. The flames consumed about one million shingles, also his dwelling house with nearly all its contents.

The Piedmont Wagon Works of Hickory are now under the supervision of J. G. Hall. About one hundred hands are employed in the shops. They turn out about twelve wagons per week. They have just completed and shipped to Charlotte an elegant street sprinkler. The design was well gotten up and the work carefully done.

Rev. B. S. Brown, formerly of China Grove, now of Hickory, has been granted a vacation of several months. He is spending this time with relatives in Virginia. The people of Hickory and Zion congregations, whom he has been serving so acceptably, are anxious to hear of his recovery of health, and his return to them.

The space made vacant last spring by the fire in Hickory is being filled up with brick stores. Messrs. Shuler, the banker, and O. M. Roster, the druggist, are each erecting a magnificent dwelling.

H. F. Hover, the self-appointed labor organizer, who has been making speeches to the negroes in Georgia, returned to Hickory last Monday, and was at once arrested by Deputy Sheriff H. T. Harris. He will probably recover, but may lose one eye.

OUR STATE.

Greensboro intends to have a line of street cars. A $50,000 steam plant is to be erected at the Wadesboro sandstone quarries. Raleigh expects to have two cotton seed oil mills in place of the one that was burned.

A laborer named Hallybuck was killed at Laurinburg by the falling of a piece of iron from a car which he was unloading.

Mr. M. C. Gabriellian, a student of Princeton (N. J.) Seminary and a native of Armenia, lectured last Sunday at Charlotte on Armenia, the cradle of the human race.

Dr. Annie Lowrie Alexander, of Mecklenburg, daughter of Dr. J. B. Alexander, has located in Charlotte for the practice of her profession. She will confine herself to the treatment of diseases of women and children.

Stanly Observer: The suits so long pending in the courts between the Misses Kron, daughters of Dr. Kron, dec'd, and Mrs. M. A. Smith, have been decided in favor of the Kron's. The gold suit is familiar to some of our readers. One case is still in litigation, the mill place where Mrs. Smith now resides.

It will be a matter of deep regret to the many friends of Mr. Peter M. Hale to learn of his death, which occurred at Fayetteville last Thursday afternoon, from cancer of the tongue, a disease from which he had been suffering for several years past. Mr. Hale was about 59 years of age, and was one of the truest men in the State. He was one of the founders of the Raleigh Observer, and his editorial services were of great value to the Democratic party in the State. He was at one time Printer to the State. Mr. Hale was a native of Fayetteville, and was honored and respected throughout North Carolina.

Its thousands of cures are the best advertisement for Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

ALL ABOUT BOOMS.

THE COUNTERFEIT AND THE GENUINE ARTICLE.

The Part the Papers Take in the Creation of Booms and the Necessity of Co-operation from the Citizens.

Winston Sentinel.

It has been our good fortune to peruse a couple of good articles recently on the subject of booms, which voice our own views so accurately we wish to give extracts from each. The Lynchburg News, after commenting on the fact that a great deal has been written about booms, says that a genuine boom is, of course, an occasion for devout thanksgiving and rejoicing. But the inevitable reaction against fictitious and counterfeit booms is, on the other hand, the certain occasion of a serious set-back to the progress and prosperity of any community. Now the newspapers have to play their part in setting forward and sustaining booms. Their function is to display in attractive colors the actual business advantages and inducements, to inspire confidence and courage, and to give possible appeal to the pride and pockets of the business community to blow in to a blaze the dull and dying embers until presently they kindle a conflagration that attracts from far and near copious capital and eager enterprise to build as if by enchantment great cities and centres of commerce. That is the part assigned to the papers in arranging the dramatic persona.

But capital and enterprise will not, for all the blowing and blazing of newspapers, come from far and near to build up cities unless there is actual co-operation on the part of the people who are to receive the benefit. As long as home capital is hoarded in miserly caution behind the reluctant locks of bank safes; as long as the business men of a community show by such actions as speak louder than words that they have no real faith in their own future, and without the pride and spirit to risk their own money in the schemes they commend to others—as long, we say, as this apathetic and abject spirit and policy characterize the capitalists of a community it is sheer folly and infatuation to attempt to inspire confidence in alien and uninterested capitalists. In vain shall we cry to Jupiter for help unless we put our shoulders to the wheel. The proverb goes that "the gods help those who help themselves;" and though capital is not in the main particularly godly, it nevertheless, in this attribute, strongly resembles "the gods."

The papers of this city are, in this respect, like the papers of all other cities. Papers can only make the wind that fills the sails. But all the wind in the world will not speed the vessel on its course unless the captain and his crew unfurl the sails. But when the ship is properly manned and righted for the voyage, the captain cool and courageous and a steady hand upon the helm—then it is that the breeze which fills the billowing sails sends the bounding bark 'o'er the glad waters of the dark blue sea.

The Cincinnati Graphic News, the Harper's Weekly of the West, in a sensible article says that to bring life into a city is an art, and not the product of nature; for, let a city simply rely upon its natural advantages, let the public-spirited citizens grow silent, and stagnation of the worst kind will set in. We are induced to indulge in these reflections by the example which some of the neighboring cities, of lesser importance and lesser advantages are setting us, and the great results they are attaining. Let us look at Louisville!

With less than one-half the population of Cincinnati, that enterprising city has laid out a summer programme which bids fair to bring about most substantial benefits to its inhabitants. Two weeks ago the Democratic State Convention met there with its thousands of visitors, enjoying the proverbial hospitality of the "Corn-crackers," and anxious and willing to spend their money with them, with the liberality such occasions beget. Last week 1,200 delegates of the Southern Baptists met there in convention; they followed the Republican State Convention, with its enthusiasm and its attending influx of strangers and circulation of money. On the 11th inst. began the "Great Kentucky Derby Races," which conclude to-day. In the first week of June a grand operation festival will take place, and, after that the Exposition. Louisville knows how to attract strangers, which is of inestimable value to its business interests. In this direction Cincinnati might well profit by the lesson. If Cincinnati desires to secure these great advantages, identical with conventions, reunions, etc., her citizens must not quietly sit down in idleness, they must keep up and doing, they must show to the outside world that the Queen City possesses all the requisites which are wanted and that she is anxious to make sacrifices in order to obtain the advantages. Lethargy and ambition never associate. Cincinnati suffers too much from the former and evinces too little of the latter. Such ambition schemes as those suggested are highly creditable to any city. It is not likely that all the results aimed at will be attained, but there is nothing more in consonance with the spirit of American institutions. There is no more hospitable city in the Country than Cincinnati; its population is cosmopolitan in the most liberal definition of the term, but there appears no reason why we should not be more aggressive in securing that which benefits us. Surely, we have the natural advantages combined with the most extensive system of varied transportation, excelled by no other city. Cincinnati should cease to be stagnant and content to let well enough alone. A few blasts from the trumpet of men, who will not only "blow their own horns," but those of the city, will wake the slither and stir them to wholesome action.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Pa., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25 cents per box by Theo. F. Klutz & Co.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time, and am convinced of its value. When I was young my hair began to turn gray. I commenced using the Vigor, and was surprised at the good effects it produced. It not only restored the color to my hair, but so stimulated its growth that I have now more hair than ever before.—J.
