

COME AT LAST!

THE RIGHT PRICES ON HARDWARE.

We are daily receiving our large stock of Hardware, Chattanooga & Dixie Plows, Double and Single Plow Stocks, the celebrated Studebaker and Tennessee Wagons, Treading Machines and Horse Powers, Osborne and Champion Mowing Machines, Folding Reapers and Self Binders, the celebrated Thomas Hay Forks, Telegraph Saw Cutters, Barbed Fence Wire, Buggy and Wagon Material, Paints and Oils for Painting Houses, Corn Shellers, Grain Drills.

We carry one of the Largest Stock of Buggies in the State and have bought 150 more that will be here in a few days. We have learned from experience that a real good buggy will sell for a small sum much better than a cheap grade will sell for a small sum, and we have now made arrangements which enables us to sell one of the best Buggies in existence at about the same price as cheap grades.

Our aim is to down the high prices on all kinds of Farming Implements, Hardware Buggies and Wagons, and give the good old farmers who support us all a showing.

We carry a full stock of Atlas, Giant Powder, Black Powder, Fuse, Caps, Steel, etc., and will guarantee prices as cheap as anywhere in the State. We pay freight on all goods to the nearest railroad station.

AMALGAMATOR

THAT SAVES ALL THE FREE GOLD, AT A COST OF NOT OVER 25 CTS. PER TON.

This Amalgamator is an invention whereby the pulverized pulp or sand is forced to come in contact with quicksilver in motion. Long explanations are useless. For name, price, etc., address:

R. EAMES, JR. & CO.,
Agents for North Carolina and Georgia,
SALISBURY, N. C.

DESCRIPTION.

The ore to be treated passes by means of an automatic feed through the hopper to the stationary disk, the bottom of which is covered with a series of broken rifles. Directly beneath this disk is a revolving pan containing a reservoir of quicksilver, and when the apparatus is set in motion the disk is lowered to within 1-16th of an inch of the bottom of the revolving pan, upon bottom of which a stream of water is forced to trickle down the sand or ore etc. it falls through the hopper into the center of the revolving pan where it is forced backwards and forwards between and under the rifles; by this process the gold is freed from the sand or quartz by difference in specific gravity, and is immediately amalgamated in coming in contact with the quicksilver. Any particles not taken up by the surface of the pan are caught by the wall of quicksilver formed around the periphery by centrifugal force.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, a number of which we have been cured by taking this medicine. In my own case it has certainly worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—K. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Freeman, Independence, Va.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

A Dishonest Man. "I never saw a greater rascal in my life than old Smith is," remarked a farmer. "What makes you think so?" queried a friend. "Why, he said the first sack of oats that I sold him was too light, so I put a large iron wedge in the next sack of oats just to please him you know, and—"

"Did he kick against the wedge?" "No; he would have split his foot if he had kicked against the wedge. He did worse."

"Did worse?" "Yes; he blamed old thief kept the wedge."

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Bocher's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to in these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung Troubles, have, perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized country. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

FARMING.

Common sore throat is much helped by a gargle of vinegar and water. It is said to arrest diphtheria if taken in time.

When a man loses borrowed money betting on races he cannot feel the same sorrow he would if the money came out of his own pocket. His sorrowful hours come later.

Our country is filled with the idle and unemployed, and the great question asking for an answer is: What shall be done with these men? To this there is but one answer: They must cultivate the soil.

By feeding the oats anthraxed, we save the labor of threshing, and also get the straw and grain together in the stomach, getting a better digestion of both than when they are fed separate.

Weeds are nothing more than a coating provided by nature to protect the waste places of the earth from the cold blasts of winter as well as the hot suns of summer and the only justification man has in their destruction is when cultivating the land to put something more useful in their place.

If every drop of milk in the cow's udder be not carefully removed at each milking, the secretion will gradually diminish in proportion to the quantity left behind. Milking should be conducted with skill and tenderness. All chucking or plucking at the teats should be avoided. A gentle and expert milker will not only clear the udder with greater ease than a rough and inexperienced person, but will do so with far more comfort to the cow, who will stand pleased and quiet, placidly chewing the cud, and testifying by her manner and attitude that she experiences pleasure rather than annoyance from the operation. Cows will not yield their milk to a person they dislike or dread.

Gen. S. D. Lee, President of the Mississippi Agricultural College, writes to the press of that State informing the public that owing to destructive drought throughout a large portion of New England, the North and Northwest, the grass crop is an entire failure this year, and he earnestly appeals to the planters and farmers of Mississippi to protect themselves by securing all the hay and other forage they can during the short time still left, the present fall. A precaution alike applicable here. We have within the last few days seen excellent crab-grass hay around this city, and if the farmers would at once go work, large quantities of this and other hay could be made.—[Charlotte Chronicle.]

The Kitchen Pig Pen. A pig-pen is generally planted at a convenient distance from every farmer's kitchen. A pig or shote is imprisoned in this pen as a means of converting the scraps and odds and ends of the kitchen and dairy into pork. The swill and pork and pig's feet and nose convert the ground floor into mortar. Heavy rains make it soft enough for the habitation of mud-fish. The scorching suns of summer convert the prison into a pest hole, and nearly roast the prisoner alive. The vile odors of the simmering swill buttermilk, clabber, mud and rain, and solid and liquid manure furnished by the pig, shote or hog, extend often to the kitchen and dwelling-house and poison the atmosphere like the upas tree. A couple of pigs, raised on kitchen slop, etc., will eat and waste in twelve months swill, bread crumbs, vegetables, milk clabber, etc., sufficient to feed a pretty good flock of clean, nice chickens that will have their liberty, and leave no filth behind, create no disease and establish no pest spots.

A hog is naturally decent and likes clean quarters and a clean bed; but to confine him on thirty or forty square feet of ground, or plank floor, with no chance to keep himself decent, he loses his self-respect and decency and lays down in his filth in the hot sun in swarms of flies and armies of vermin and in a foul atmosphere, with a comfortable hoggish grunt; for a hog is much of a philosopher and makes the best of his "manifest destiny." Confine chickens, a calf, a sheep, or even a neat housekeeper, in a box or rail pen, like a hog, and see how their quarters would look in a month or a year. We have abolished the kitchen pig-pen on our farm, ever to be re-established by the writer and our chickens are having a good time of it and give us no trouble on farms.—[N. O. P.]

THE LATEST SLANG PHRASE.

A bang-up new slang phrase has reached here at last. All the other old "cheerstruts" are things of the past. With the best of them all it surely will be classed— "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

The street car now stops, as it used to before. For the ladies who smilingly enter the door. And on taking their seats to the driver they roar. "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

'Twas the custom for curtains to rise with a bell. The tinkle of which its own story did tell. But it's changed. Now the "gods" in the gallery yell. "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

"Are you ready?" the sheriff now says to the chap Who takes his last stand on the ominous trap; And a voice comes with firmness from under the cap— "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

In proposing to sweethearts you ask, "Will you, dear?" And you stand like a sinner in trembling. But you know what she means when she screams in your ear. "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

When your time comes to die, as it comes to us all. Don't you scare at the thought of the shroud and the pall. But with a roar on turning your face to the wall. "Let'er go, Gallagher!"

Some men are born drunk, some achieve drunkenness and several hundred thousand a year have drunkenness thrust upon them.

Debster reduces everything to mathematics. He got married because kissing saves fifty per cent on his sugar. Old bachelors will please notice.

An Ohio man is going to live on an ear of corn a day for thirty days. If they are as large as the pair he evidently has on his head it won't be difficult.

A bachelor, at a banquet in Newcastle, gave the following toast:—"The women and coal of Durham county! How desolate would be the fireside without them!"

"It commands," says a house agent's advertisement of a "desirable residence," "a view not only of the pretty little railway station, but also of the people who miss the train."

It is said that "if you play on an accordion near an oyster, the oyster will open its shell." Whether this is because it wants to listen, or is looking for a chance to escape, is not known.

A young lady being vexed with her lover told him so coolly that he requested permission to wear his ulster in the parlor. He said she soon made it warm enough for him after that.

A regiment of soldiers passing through Benue and being about to traverse a forest infested with robbers, the considerate Mayor of the place offered them an escort of four of the town police.

Mamma—But Flora, how do you know that this young man loves you? Has he told you so? Flora—Oh, no, mamma! But if you could only see the way he looks at him!

An anti-tobaccoist passionately exclaims: "Two cigars a day will supply a family with flour!" We should judge that flour made out of cheap cigars would be apt to make a person prefer smoking to eating.
