[For the NORTH CAROLINA HERALD.]
The Mendelssohn Quintette Club.
This body may properly be called a constellation, of which the single stars are planets; who are so thoroughly trained in ensemble musical rendition, that they perform as if all were one; and in tone so pure, so clean, so searching and expressive, that their rank is foremost among orchestral quintettes. Their work is very wonderful, but they glide so smoothly and faultlessly through it, that it seems as easy as birds flying through the air.

But such finished artists—including the renowned vocalist, Miss Carpenter—are very costly, and would not consent to perform here unless positively assured of a stipulated compensation. I, as well as other individuals, shrink from assuming such risk; I am, therefore, very grateful—as I hope, all other citizens are—to "The Young Men's Christian Association,"—especially to their cultured and energetic President, Mr. Foust—for promptly taking the responsibility. It is the pleasant duty of all, then, to do whatever each can, to prevent loss and insure gain—pecuniarily—to the Y. M. C. A. so that this worthy body may not become weary of this line of public spirited well doing.

Eminent victories gained on the fields of Apollo, this famous orchestral galaxy comes here on the fourth of next month, to fight its musical battles over again. Welcome, then, these genial interpreters of language without words; of phrases that suggest everything and prove nothing; of the voice of valor, without boasting; of love, without jealousy; of imagination, without falsehood; of religion, without bigotry; teaching us neither practical prudence nor ethics; appealing to our sense of romance and less care-worn,—a very important desideratum in this era of over-acquisitiveness. W. H. NEAVE.

A Dish of New P's.
P's and for Pasting, for Pench and for Pear.
And likewise for Poetry and Prose;
The Parrot, the Pigeon that flies in the air,
The Pig with a ring in his nose,
For Paper and Pen, for Printer and Press,
For Physic and People who sell it;
But when you are sick, to relieve your distress
Take at once Pierce's Purgative Pellets.
Oh, yes, indeed! These are the P's for you, poor, sick men or woman. Nothing like them for keeping the bowels and stomach regulated and in order—tiny sugar coated granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They work gently but thoroughly.

Don't Give up the Ship.
You have been told that consumption is incurable; that when the lungs are attacked by this terrible malady, the sufferer is past all help, and the end is a mere question of time. You have noted with alarm the unmistakable symptoms of the disease; you have tried all manner of so-called cures in vain, and you are now despondent and preparing for the worst. But don't give up the cure-all, nor will it perform miracles, but it has cured thousands of cases of consumption, in its earlier stages, where all other means had failed. Try it, and obtain a new lease of life.

ON MONDAY,
The 18th of December,
