FOY CURLEE NOT LOCATED.

Parents Greatly Distressed and Fear He has Been Foully Dealt With.

Fifteen ear old Foy Curlee, who suddenly disappeared from his home and from Statesville last Tuesday, is still missing. All efforts to locate him have been futile. The young man who boarded the train at Barium Springs for Charlotte is now thought to have been some one else as he was in shirt sleeves and young Curlee wore a coat. The section master on the western road said a boy passed up the road Tuesday who answered the description of Curlee. Communications are now being made with other towns in hopes of locating him.

Cave in on Western Road.

At the Cowee tunnel, fifty miles above Asheville, on the Murphy branch of the Southern, there is a serious cave-in which, may be, it will take several months to repair. Prominent railroad officials are on the scene, consulting, as to the wisest plan for repairing the damage.

This tunnel is 750 feet long and the damaged part is in the center of it, on top of a little mountain, where a considerable dent in the mountain can be seen. As the debris is removed, other things fall in, so the cavity is constantly increasing and the best of engineering skill will be required to repair the damage, regardless of the time it may take.

Several trains have been temporarily discontinued on account of the damage, and there is much complaint amde on account of the increased summer travel. Transfers are made now at the scene of the cave in.

A Gentleman.

Let no boy think the clothes he wears, the horse he rides, the stick he carries, the dog that trots after him, the house he lives in or the money he spends can make him a gentleman. Not one nor all of these can do it; and yet, every boy may be a gentleman. He may wear an old hat, cheap clothes, live in a poor house and spend but little money, but by being true, manly and honorable, by keeping himself neat and respectable, by being civil and courteous, and above all, by fearing God and keeping His Commandments, he can be a gentleman.

When one stands at a point at which he may refuse or choose to give another help or kindness he is in reality also where he may choose for himself a lifelong sting of pain and remorse, or a bright, happy, inspiring memory.

Mrs. Shelly Frontis, Mrs. Espy Brawley.

Mrs. W. F. Hall, of Statesville, will visit Mrs. W. W. Rankin Monday.

Mrs. John Houston will entertain the Pleasure Club Tuesday-ternoon.

Little Miss Margaret Harris, of Norwood, is on a visit to her father, Capt. Harris, at the Commercial Hotel.

Miss Emma Brown of Salisbury, who is visiting Mrs. Dr. Morrison on Eastern Heights, will sing a solo at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

The Royal, under the management of Mr. Lamb, will be opened again tonight in the building which has been used as a bowling alley.

Personal Mention

Sheriff Adams of Alexander county, spent last night in the city.

Mr. Joe Suther goes to Elmwood tonight, where he will spend Sunday with his brother, Mr. Roy Suther.

Mr. J. H. Wilson returned last night from a business trip to Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and Miss Mollie Ostwalt are spending today with Mrs. M. A. Hartline, on the Boulevard.

A Letter From Chapel Hill.

Perhaps some of your readers would have to hear from the summer school at Chapel Hill.

Quite a number of teachers are in attendance and several are coming in yet. The number of teachers attending the summer school this year is considerably in advance over the attendance of last year nearly every county being represented. The percentage of rural teachers is far greater than ever before. Heretofore, scarcely any rural teachers have attended.

A majority of the teachers here are expecting to take the examination for the five year certificate which will be held at the University on the 7 and 8 of July.

We have not had so much rain down here this spring. Just a plenty to make the crops flourish. Crops look much better here than in Iredell.

Iredell must keep up with the great educational awakening. She is one of the best counties in the state and with the proper development it will be the greatest county to be found anywhere.

Chapel Hill, June 24. C. W.

Reception Last Evening.

The reception last evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morrison in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Salley was one of the most delightful affairs of the season. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the reception hall, parlor, dining room and veranda being used. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Salley. Those who assisted in receiving were Miss Lillian Morrison, Mesdames, R. R. Clark and Dorman Thompson.

The parlor where the punch was served by Misses Hal Morrison, Hope Clark and Ruth Morrison, was, by the decorations, a real woodland scene. Evergreens and plants of green were used entirely.

In the dining room where the color scheme was pink, dainty refreshments were served by Misses Annie Burns Wilhelm, Corinne Morrison and Rosamond Clark.

In the cool porch the time was delightfully passed and the pleasant hours will be long remembered by the one hundred guests present.

Funeral of the Late J. Gilmer Witherspoon.

The family and friends, including the pall-bearers, will arrive here tomorrow morning at 10.32 on No. 11. Mr. T. E. Witherspoon will arrive at 11 o'clock on No. 36 with the remains, which will be taken to the residence of Mr. J. B. Gill, on Walnut street, where they will remain until the time arrives for the services, which will be conducted from the First Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, by the Rev. J. B. Branch and Dr. J. M. Wharey.

The interment will be in the family plot in Oakwood.

There's no need of telling the girls how to enjoy the summer time; it is their own season. If a man is so blind that he cannot see the charms of the summer girl, he doesn't deserve a fascinating wife. He deerves to worry along through life as a lonely old bachelor and have his estate absorbed by an asylum for orphan pups.

For she is a vision of beauty and a dream of delight. From the bow in her hair down to the fetching slippers that cover her little feet; from her glowing cheeks to her parasol; from her peek-a-boo waist to her irresistible manner, she is the central feature of the landscape, the joy of the nation, the catch of the season—the Summer Girl.

Mr. J. Mc Connelly came in last night from a trip up the western road.
