HIS MOTHER'S SONGS. The men had marched all day

And now beside a rippling stream. Upon the grass they lay. Tiring of games and idle jests, As swept the hours along. They called to one who mused apart, "Come, friend, give us a song."

'I fear I cannot please," he said :
"The only songs I know Are those my mother used to sing For me long years ago."

"Sing one of those," a rough voice cried,
"There's none but true men here;
To every mother's son of us A mother's songs are dear.' Then sweetly rose the singer's voice

Amid unwonted calm, Am I a soldler of the cross, A follower of the Lamb? And shall I fear to own his cause"-

With tender thoughts were filled. Ended the song, the singer said, As to his feet he rose,

Thanks to you all, my friends; good-night, God grant us sweet repose." Sing us one more,"the captain begged The soldier bent his head.

Then glancing 'round, with smiling lips, "You'd join with me," he said. We'll sing this old familiar air,

Sweet as the bugle call, All hail the power of Jesus' name, Let angels prostrate fall.'" Ah! wonderous was the old tune's spell As on the singer sang; Man after man fell into line,

And loud the voices rang. The songs are done, the camp is still, Naught but the stream is heard: But ah! the depths of every soul By those old hymns are stired.

And up from many a bearded lip, In whispers soft and low, Rises the prayer the mother taught
