SAMUEL J. RANDALL DEAD

On Sunday, in Washington City, this loved Statesman breathed his last. He has never been well since an attack of illness two years ago, caused from eating ice cream and blackberries.

Mr. Randall had served 17 years in Congress and was three elected Speaker. He was always the deadly foe to jobbery, tried anything in his power to get rid of the tariff, and was a true Statesman in his views on the tariff.

A Good Suggestion. A-La-Serio-Comique.

Mr. Editor—I wish through the valuable columns of THE GAZETTE to call the attention of the farmers to the fact that there is at present, one of the best chances to raise cattle here in Washington that I know of.

One you have to do is to buy a small place just outside the town limits, and pasture your cattle in the town. The city fathers are in favor of them, and the citizens have no objection. Grass grows very luxuriantly in the streets and yards, and the cattle keep the grass down, and are good to trim the shrubbery in the yards. It saves lawn mowers and the expense of hiring labor for that purpose and possibly they might litter the side walks some, but in that case, one could very easily walk in the street a short distance.

It is not often that a cow is vicious enough to run into a buggy. But, in that case the matter could be easily adjusted, we do not at present think of a more paying business. The milk could be sold right here in town, to the very ones who furnished the food, and the beef would be here handy for the butchers.

Also quite a drove of hogs could subsist on the roots of the trees, and not grass. They would keep the ground loosened up so that it would better absorb moisture and rain—and show up our agricultural resources.

Information For Pensioners.

ATTORNEY DEPARTMENT, RALEIGH, April 2, 1890.

Dear Sir—I reply to inquiries received at this office I will say that all applicants for pensions can, under the last act of the Legislature make their applications and affidavits before Justice of the Peace, and are not absolutely required to come before the Clerk of the Superior Court. But in every instance in which the affidavits are made before a Justice of the Peace it will be necessary that the certificate of the Clerk of the Superior Court shall be attached declaring that the person who claims to be a Justice of the Peace is acting as such legally and regularly in the County in which the application is made this being a regular provision of the law as to all documents which are to be filed in another county. If your county paper will give this information to the people and particularly the pensioners of your section it will promote a worthy purpose.

Yours truly, G. W. SANDERLIN, State Auditor.

To Clerk Superior Court, Beaufort County, N. C.

Mincola Mites Minged and Mixed in a Moment.

(SUCCESSOR TO OLD FORD FUN.) The weather has been very fine of late.

Irish potatoes, corn, sweet potatoes and early watermelons were damaged by frost last week. There has been considerable damage of late in this section by forest fires. Some unknown scoundrel is continually firing the woods. Mr. B. B. Hodges, woods was fired near his fence a few days ago, but with the assistance of his neighbors very little damage was done.

We learn that Mr. C. M. Roberson, of this place, has moved to Washington. We wish him abundant success. Elder J. R. Winfield preached an excellent sermon at Old Ford Sunday. A large crowd was in attendance.

Mr. R. B. Hodges, of Kershaw, Pamlico county, says the crops in that section are looking fine.

Miss Mary Burgess, of your town, is the guest of Mrs. Carrie Latham.

Hunters Bridge Brevities.

Great scotch! letters that are passing about, some call them April fools, but we have got a name for them. Mr. A. A. Whitley and Mr. S. F. Allgood paid us a very pleasant call one night last week.

Mr. J. R. Meekins who has been absent for several weeks is with us again.

The next time the Bath correspondent comes over to the town of Hunter Bridge it will pay to hide the brooms and window sticks.

A certain young man says he wants to get married but he loves all the girls, and can't tell which one he loves best. My advice to him is to stay single a while longer yet. Mr. Henry Woodard and Miss Laura Robinson, of Bunyan, made a flying trip to this place last Saturday to see a Justice of the Peace on some particular business, which required them both to answer, I will Woodard sitting on Robinson gate. Chickens they crowd too soon. Robinson he got up too late. To see Woodard when he carried of the coon.

Vanceboro Visiting.

Our town is on a boom. We have a clever gentleman, in the person of Dr. Fox, now residing in our midst and who, by the way, is a valuable addition to our medical force. Though he has been here a short while he has built up quite an enviable and extensive practice. He is very popular, and hails from the Canadian shores of bilzaridial fame.

Our popular druggist, Dr. B. J. Smith, is the ideal master mason of the new lodge recently organized at this place. He is all life and can give and take a joke. We suppose that Doctors study sawing (?) as much, or probably more than they do capsuling medicine or rolling pills, and besides this, learn a great deal that they don't have to study for. Why is this done? The farmers are at the same old tricks again—burying money that will nine times out of ten, never to be resuscitated—and some of them have already past the corner so far that their noses will actually turn to either the left or right, whichever way a bag of fertilizer or phosphate or guano should happen to be. They love these three things: to indulge in hope, to give a cent for a cent, to live easily and lazily and pay for it.

From all appearances we see, The Masonic Temple-Hall will be a structure pretty, and so neat. That passers-by will call it sweet.

Pantego Pencillings.

Rev. W. O. Winfield is making some improvements on his residence. Miss Mattie Wilkinson's school at Woodstock has closed, and to the delight of her many friends she has returned home to spend the vacation.

Pantego school still increases. Five new students this week.

Miss Lucy Gredle, of Sladesville, is attending school at this place.

The recent frost has damaged the potato crop very much in this section.

Mr. D. B. Wilkinson has moved to the residence formerly occupied by Mr. J. C. Ricks.

Mr. M. L. Flynn has moved to his new residence on the south side of the creek.

Mr. Earnest Clark, of our town, in the employ of the Albemarle & Pantego railroad, has gone to Roper City, to keep books and attend to the telephone office.

Mr. Jim Hayes while on his way home a few days ago, overtook and killed a deer.

Mr. Fred P. Latham who has been home on business has returned to school at Bethel.

Mr. R. H. Shavender is progressing rapidly building his steam saw mill. He will be ready to furnish the within few months for building purposes.

Mr. John Hatton and Miss Ada Cooper, who have been visiting friends and relatives at Haslin also in our vicinity returned home a few days ago.

The railroad is still progressing.

To Dispel Colds. Headaches and fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

Bethel Dots.

The cry is where did you get that hat?

Miss Lucie Knight is spending some days in Tarboro.

Miss Fanie Albrton, of Paeolus, is spending some days with her sister.

Miss Annie Randolph, of Mildred is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter Harper.

The ladies of the M. E. Church, presented it with a handsome communion service on Easter Sunday.

In spite of the hard times and the busy season, Prof. McWhorter's school is progressing finely, and will continue so, for he is an excellent teacher.

[Shall be pleased to hear from Bethel often.—En.]

Yeatesville Yellings.

Mr. W. M. Shavender killed a mad dog last week in town.

Miss Annie Shavender, of Pantego, is spending some time here with relatives; also Miss Lidia Smithwith, of Jamesville, is with us for some time. She thinks of teaching a music school.

Our clever young merchant, S. B. Windley, has added a new branch of business in store—the milliners trade managed by Mrs. J. E. Woolard, of our town.

The Rev. Mr. Pegrum is holding a series of meetings at woodstock. He has many penitents. It is to be hoped that he is doing much good.

We wonder if the Bath correspondent and his friend has forgotten the promise of a new watch to the Pastor of Union Chapel church not long since!

Bishop Watson preached here on last Wednesday to a large audience. There were four candidates for confirmation. Among that number was Mr. Charlie Windley, a highly respected young man of our town.

Mr. J. H. Davenport lumbering for the Roanoke Lumber Company has put in a full line of goods in the Satehwell store. This leaves us no vacant store for the next man. It speaks well for our section. To prove this, visit our town and see the large amount of goods in stores and coming on every boat. The freight has increased so much here this season one boat could not do the work and was compelled to secure one other for a while. This is another way to prove the enterprise of our town.

The farmers alliance organized here seems to be in a prosperous condition. Three initiated at last meeting and eight applications for membership at their next meeting.

Rev. W. O. Winfield preached here on Friday night last to quite a crowd. At the close of his discourse which was very good, he extended an invitation and Mr. J. B. Jones a highly respected and talented young man of our town who made the honorable confession of his life.

Edwards Mill Items.

Ho for the good old Farmers; all they need is a good season, and no doubt with the energy and perseverance they so nobly possess they will all come to the front. There seems to be a stream of anxiety in our hearts to witness such a move. However we only wait in hope and pray not to die in despair.

April fooling seems to be the topic of the day. Ye Correspondent was honored with a "Terrapin" on Saturday last. He was nicely bundled and was appreciated.

We learn that there are a good many people who are resisting our place on account of the "lock up" which has recently been erected. What has the "lock up" to do with a man, providing he conducts himself properly. If we had not such a good feeling hearted Constable there would have been twice as many imprisoned as there has been. Come on, gentlemen, you shall be treated right. We only want Moral Protection.

We organized on Sunday last a Sabbath School. We had a large attendance, and all seem to take lots of interest in the work. Let the good work go on. We feel now assured that it will be a success, judging from its principal teacher.

From the looks of so many new buggies, I think something is going to be did. Hope so. Give the rest a better chance.

Miss Hattie Evette who has been visiting relatives here for some time, returned home last week.

Some of our people anticipated visiting your exercises on Memorial day.

One of Beaufort County young ladies has become sufficiently amused with young men. Hope all have not concluded with her. If so, watch out, boys. Messrs G. W. and L. C. Guilford, sons of Mr. F. B. Guilford one of the members of the Board of Education are attending school in Norfolk. They are both bright young men, and we predict for them a brilliant success.

What is the matter with Washington? everybody enquires. It seems that bad luck has been waiting upon her for some time. Fires almost every month and worst of all, we were so astounded and saddened when we heard of the death of Miss Julia Carmalt. Surely this is a sad loss to old Washington. All the bereaved have our sincere sympathy.

Balm of Gilead.

Miss Mattie Arthur, one of Craven Counties charming young ladies, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. W. G. Yeates, of this place.

We learn that the mill of Mr. Strand at the month of Blounts Creek, cut 26,503 feet of lumber on Saturday last, and only run three fourth of the day.

Mr. E. Everett, of Hoboken Pamlico Co., and Mr. G. Arthur Arnold of Craven Co., was in this vicinity Saturday and Sunday last.

Married at the residence of the bride's father by Hon. W. A. B. Branch, Mr. J. A. Buck and Miss Caroline L. Hill, both of Beaufort Co. The waiters were J. A. Lewis and Augusta Ecklin; C. T. Hill and Martha Ecklin; L. A. Taylor and Laura Warren; E. B. Ecklin and Ollie Warren. The couple have our best wishes for a long and happy life.

Mr. J. E. Merriam and daughter Miss Mamie spent Saturday last with Mr. and Mrs. Blake of this place.

Bishop Lyman's Views on the Negro Exodus.

Bishop Lyman, of North Carolina, when in New York some days ago, gave an expression of his views as to the colored exodus from North Carolina. He asserted that the exodus was not the result of hostility to the colored people on the part of the whites of that State, nor the poor crops. In his opinion, the railroads were responsible for it. They sent their agents out to work up the exodus simply as a means of increasing their passenger traffic, and, according to the Bishop, some of these agents have made a good thing, peculiarly, out of it. They were allowed a commission of $1 for each person they persuaded to buy a ticket. With this inducement before them, they used every argument they could think of to increase the number of emigrants, and some of their statements were neither fair nor truthful. They maligned the white people of the State, spoke disparagingly of the lands, and drew a highly-colored picture of the splendid way in which those who emigrated would fare in other States. The Bishop referred to the indignation of the whites of a few of the towns, and said that it was both natural and excusable, as the action of the agents was sure to bring great hardships upon many of the emigrants.

In his comments Bishop Lyman did not hold Northern newspapers blameless in the matter. He stated that they assisted the exodus by assertions not more truthful than those of the railroad agents, and these assertions, being laid before the colored people, helped to cause dissatisfaction. It is not to be supposed that the newspapers in question were greatly interested in the exodus itself. Their object was to make it an occasion for adding to their stock of political capital. Bishop Lyman's testimony is very timely, and will help to overthrow the charges against the white people of North Carolina.
