That Income Tax Settled.

State treasurer Bain this evening wrote an opinion or ruling as to the act of the late Legislature taxing all incomes, he being by law required to construe it. The revenue machinery act requires only net income to be listed by taxpayers. The Treasurer says it is therefore only necessary to define the word net income and interpret them to mean that the taxpayer shall deduct from his gross income the actual necessary expenses of his business or of supporting his family, and such deduction shall be allowed by the list taker. This ruling will allay intense indignation, which has followed the passage of the legislative act referred to.—Olds in Virginian.

NAMING A LIMIT.

He Says He Can Stand it Four Years and no Longer.

While waiting at the depot I noticed a colored man look into the room several times, and he finally beckoned to the African who had just filled the water cooler to come outside. The latter took a coupling pin with him as he left the room, and I strolled out to see what was on the tapis.

"Look a-heah, Abram!" said the first, as the two came together. "I has cum down heah prepar'd to hurt yo' mighty hard!"

"Better look out fur me sah!" replied the second, as he waved the iron pin.

"Yes, I has come down prepar'd to hurt yo'; but Ize gwine to give yo' a chance. Ize gwine ter be a gentlen, I is, I is."

"What sort of chance?"

"Ize gwine ter let yo' 'poligize fur sayin' I was a no account nigger."

"I'll nebbor do it!"

"Look out, Abraham!"

"Doan' yo' jump on me!"

The man with the coupling pin was the smaller of the two, and but for being armed with that weapon would have been assaulted at once. The bigger man didn't quite like the looks of things, but he felt bound to retire honorably, and after walking around and finding the other constantly on guard he said:

"I reckon yo' was mighty busy today?"

"Tolerable busy."

"Hain't got much time to study up?"

"No, not much."

WE WILL FORGET.

BY LUCY BOSTWICK.

We will forget—ah, yes! I forget at last. Though hearts be sad and eyes with teardrops wet; The sunshine and the shadow of the past We will forget.

Our happy hours together, all too fleet; Your words of love, that stir me strangely yet; The clinging arms; the kisses, tender, sweet, We will forget.

In future years the day may dawn at last When we may meet as ere we loved we met; When, lost in Lethe's wave, the happy past We will forget.

And yet, oh, heart of mine, that throbs amiss With all this weight of sorrow and regret, All earth—all heaven—is changed because of this— We will forget.

ITALY IS OFFENDED.

She Recalls Her Representative, Baron Fava.

Baron Fava, the Italian minister has been recalled from the United States by his government on account of the dissatisfaction in connection with the New Orleans affair. Baron Fava called at the State Department today and withdrew his passport and other papers. The affairs of the Italian legation are now temporarily in charge of Marquis Imperiali, who has authority to transact current business only.

In his note to Secretary Blaine, Baron Fava informs the Secretary that as the United States Government has not given assurance that the murderers of Italian subjects acquitted by American magistrates and murdered in prison, while under the immediate protection of the authorities of New Orleans, would be brought to justice, the Italian government has found itself under the very painful necessity of showing openly its dissatisfaction in recalling the minister of his majesty, King Humbert, from a country where the Italian representative is unable to obtain justice. Baron Fava will leave for Italy in a short time.

The recall of Baron Fava puts an end to any further direct communication between the representative of Italy in this country and Secretary Blaine. Hereafter the State Department will be obliged to communicate directly with the Italian government of Rome.

The recall of Baron Fava is not regarded here in diplomatic circles as a very serious matter, or one that cannot or will not be unravelled by the left hand of diplomacy. His recall is attributed by those familiar with affairs in Italy to the anxiety of the ministry to appease the feeling of resentment here against the United States for not bringing the murderers of their countrymen in New Orleans to justice. "It is," said a prominent official, "a move for home consumption, and if it had not followed so close on the heels of the Mafia troubles in New Orleans, would not have created any stir at all."

AN AGREEMENT REACHED.

The Two Great Magnates Settled Their Little War and Agree on Division of Territory—Sugar Will Go Up.

A special to the Times from San Francisco says. Mr. Havemeyer, the New York sugar man, has completed a compact that will end the long war that Claus Spreckle and his sons have waged the sugar trust. It is understood that the basis of the agreement is a division of territory. Spreckle agrees to retire from Philadelphia and to confine sugar refining to this coast and to sell no sugar east of the Rocky Mountains. Havemeyer agrees not to interfere with the sugar business west of the Rocky Mountains. The result of this combine will be to advance the price of sugar. The new tariff will reduce the price for a time, but the big operators will soon wipe this out and make sugar dearer than it is now.

HEPNESSY'S AVENGERS.

Grand Jurors Identified as Members of the Mob.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 30.—The grand jury spent three hours today examining witnesses relative to the lynchings of Italians.

Capt. Lem Davis, of the Parish prison, testified that the only two men he identified positively were Wickliffe and Parkerson, who led the assault on the prison gate.

A. B. French, a wealthy cotton shipper, who was in the prison serving a term of sixty days for assaulting a lawyer, identified a great many persons, as well as three of the grand jurors, who were seated around a long table listening to his story.

French did not attempt to protect anybody, but told his story in detail to the extent of naming some of the men who handled the Winchester and six shooters. The other witnesses had bad memories, and most of them were unable to swear that they could identify any body.

The grand jury adjourned at 1 o'clock until Monday morning.

If the grand jury concludes to indict anybody there will be a scene almost as extraordinary as the uprising itself, as no less than 2,000 men who participated in the mob's work will march to the court-house and deliver themselves into the custody of the sheriff.

Five thousand pair Men, Women & childrens Shoes, all kind at W. E. Jones.

A glance at the political transformations of the past half century in this country will once more illustrate the truth of the old aphorism that with parties as well as with nations and individuals, power cannot be retained except by the continued exercise of the virtues by which it was originally secured.—St. Louis Glob-Democrat, Rep.

THE TRIALS OF WINTER.

Winter is a trying period, even to those who have strong constitutions, but it is doubly trying to those who are weak and delicate, or who have a tendency to the various diseases that are bred and fostered in the stagnant atmosphere of closed and heated houses. The system should be kept strengthened and toned up with a liberal course of S. S. S., the great blood tonic and purifier. It acts like a charm. It increases the appetite, soothes the nerves, and beautifies the complexion—in short, it makes life worth living.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and congested, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headaches ensue; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy. NEVER BE DISAPPOINTED. As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc. I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect. It seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels. W. J. McLEOD, Marcon, Ga.
