DARE COUNTY OYSTER
STOCK COMPANY.
Preliminary Arrangements For Permanent Organization.

At a meeting of the parties interested in the oyster entries in Dare county, held July 25th in the Court House at Manteo, upon motion of Thomas G. Skinner, of Hertford, E. F. Lamb, of E. City, was elected Chairman, and Edmund Alexander Secretary, of Washington N. C. Mr. Skinner in his usual clear manner, explained the object of the meeting, which was to devise some plan to successfully cultivate, protect and dredge the oysters on the grounds entered by private individuals. He said that under the law of the State, any person had a right to enter at least one square mile, provided it was located two miles from the nearest land and did not embrace any of the grounds which had been surveyed out and located by the State, and paying the State 25 cents per acre, and upon the certificate of Gen. Lewis, the State engineer, that the grounds did not embrace any of the public beds, as located and surveyed out by the State, the Secretary would issue a grant for the same.

Mr. Skinner urged upon the inhabitants of Dare county the necessity of entering the oyster grounds at once, before the best portion of the sounds were taken up by non-residents, who have a right to do so, under the present law, and after entering and securing grants the law does not restrict them to catch the oysters in any particular way.

Being a fisherman of many years experience, he said that he knew something of their trials and hardships and nothing ought to be done with the fishing interest, be low Roanoke Island. He suggested that proposed oyster company in which there are many residents and fishermen of Dare county either agree to pay the fishermen for all nets destroyed by dredging, or enter into a written obligation to stop dredging about the 15th of February, or in time for the fishermen to put in their nets, wherever the oyster grounds and fishing grounds embraced the same territory. That in this way the fishermen would really be an advantage to the oyster interest, for after the nets were taken from the sound the net stakes could be used by the owners of the oyster beds for holding brush to catch the drifting spat or spawn. That under this system of oyster culture the entire fishing region of Northern Pamlico Sound, would in a few years become as valuable as the gold mines of California and that his object was to induce the citizens of Dare county to join with him and other citizens of the State in developing this new industry. The following committees were appointed by the chair, viz:

To draft articles of agreement on incorporation: W. D. Pruden, Edenton, Jno. W. Evans, Clerk Sup. Court Dare County, Capt. Edw. Cooper, Dare Co., and Edmund Alexander, Washington.
Committee to make preparations for surveying grounds by Gen. Lewis, State engineer: R. W. Smith, Sheriff Dare County, Capt. C. E. Ketchum of Manteo, Capt. Edw. Hooper of Manteo, and H. T. Greenleaf, of E. City.

A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY
Large allowance is to be made for the sweeping assertion of the poet that "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." It certainly is not true of the marial young man, whose fancy, if he has any, is of the dull and heavy variety. The marial man marches around as a General Debility. The readiest and most obvious means of escape are afforded by S. S. S. which, without any flourish, routes General Debility and his marial allies. What is true of the young man is true of the young lady, and the whole host of sufferers. S. S. S. is a specific for malaria.

Lincoln Said "Go Slow."
An autograph letter of Abraham Lincoln to a friend is said to contain the following: "Do not worry. Eat three square meals a day. Say your prayers. Think of your wife, be courteous to your creditors. Keep your digestion good. See clear of billiousness. Exercise. Go slow and go easy. Maybe there are other things that your especial case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these I reckon, will give you a good life."

THE FIRST STEP.
Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a nerve tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nerves to their normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this nerve tonic and alternative. Your appetite returns, good digestion restored, and the liver and kidney resume healthy action. At Bogart's drugstore.

DO YOU SMOKE?

An Immense Output of Cigarettes in July And Much in Durham.

Cincinnati Tobacco Journal: July was undoubtedly the banner month of cigarette manufacture. It is probable the output for the month will foot up between 260,000,000 and 270,000,000 for home consumption alone and with what was exported in the month the total manufacture reached close to 300,000,000, or within 15 or 20 per cent of the output of cigars in the month. It is only a question of a few years it would seem when the output of cigarettes would equal the cigar output in numbers. It is evident that the American Tobacco company is making a great success in the effort to increase the popularity of the cigarette without spending several fortunes annually in advertising them.

Car Horses Branded on the Hoof.

A young man who has just written a successful play was leaning on his cane company with an actor—an English importation—watching the passing show on the Broadway side of the Morton House when, after a silence of several minutes, the playwright said: "Do you see anything peculiar about the Broadway car horses?" "Nay, nay!" "Wouldst try to gey me?" said the actor. "Look at their hoofs and tell me if they are not branded." The actor sized the animals up, and a reporter, who was standing near enough to hear the conversation, did the same, and discovered the number 869 on the forward left foot of one of the horses. The figures were about half an inch long and had evidently been just burned into the hoof.

Superintendent Newell of the Broadway line, who was seen at his office in the barn at Fifth street and Seventh avenue later in the day, said in relation to the reporter's question concerning the branding of the hoofs of the car horses: "Yes, we have been doing this for some time now. The idea occurred to me several years ago, and we find it very satisfactory."

"What was your object in branding them?" "Simply so keep track of what each horse was doing. We keep the accounts of each horse now the same as we do of any man in our employ. It benefits us in a thousand ways. We know just how many days a horse works, and how many days it has been sick and, in short, everything it does. It enables us to keep such a minute knowledge of their work that we know just what condition they are in, and if they are not all right we keep them in the barn."

"Couldn't you do that if you gave them names instead of numbers?" "We have 2,000 horses in our employ," was the reply, "and there is no limit to names, unless you go back into ancient history.—New York Advertiser."

The Dog on the Farm.
A farmer once told the Listener that there was nothing in the world that would keep crows out of a field of young corn except a living man or good sized boy with a gun. He had tried all manner of scarecrows that ever were invented, and hung strings about in all sorts of ways, but the wise birds came in and pulled up the corn just the same. There was once a time, when people first thought about it, when a white string around a field would keep out crows—they thought it was a trap. But it took the whole tribe only a year or two to see through this device.

A dead crow hung up by the feet will scare away some crows—no doubt females, of a superstitious turn of mind—but it won't scare off the crafty old rogues among them. A farmer whose the Listener knows once had a shepherd dog who, at the command "Go down and keep the crows out of the cornfield," would take charge of the field and keep away every crow that came within range. Dogs, especially collies, might be trained easily to perform this duty, though occasionally, no doubt, the crows would divide their forces and give the dog more work than he could do. Few of our farmers, by the way, realize the amount of help in their work that they can get out of a good dog.—Boston Transcript.

The Secret of His Power.
In a recent book of memoirs we find this entertaining glimpse of Lord Normanby and his theory of the influence of the splendor of masculine dress upon the female sex: "Meeting him one day at dinner at Fulham the subject of women's appreciation of aristocratic simplicity came up. The ladies of course declared that there was nothing they admired so much. After listening for some time Lord Normanby said: 'I totally disagree with you; I believe that women have no appreciation of simplicity in dress, nor in anything else. I believe that the more a man belittles himself with velvet, satins, gold chains, rings on his fingers and varnished boots, the more they admire him.'"

"For example, for seven years I carried a cane which I felt was a degradation to me. It was a brown cane; the poire (upper part) was made entirely of turquoises; it was a most respectable cane. It was given to me. So long as I carried that cane I was all powerful. Every woman succumbed the moment she saw that cane; they felt there was wealth, splendor, etc. I lost it. From that hour my power ceased, and I have never regained it."

Commend the Good Points.
There was a girl a few months ago who seemed to be made a new person by just changing her school, although the school she left was, upon the whole, a very good one, but her old teacher, a strict and conscientious lady, could not be so indulgent toward the faults and defects of this particular girl.

The new teacher bore with them easily, and thus soon discovered the good qualities hitherto concealed. From being constantly reproved, the girl found herself valued, liked, commended, and it made a new girl of her. Like the man of Frederick Douglass, whose boots were blacked, she felt that she must avoid her disagreeable ways.

Be almost any observant and experienced teacher can call to mind similar instances, where the acquisition of a reasonable self love seemed to lift an unpleasant character out of the mire of unproprietaries and offensive habits.—Woman's Companion.

Will Hang

Sept. 1st, '91.

Man that is Born in the Middle of the Week Should Look Both Ways for Sunday.

In all ages of the world's history, from the earliest dawn of Adam's existence in the Garden of Eden, we (as his children) have been taught, by his fall to think before speaking, look before leaping and pay our debts as we go.

The above motto having been very indelibly inscribed upon the foreheads of the old reliable firm of SPENCER BROS., now proprietors of the old reliable RACKET STORE, their business has increased to such an extent that they are compelled to have more room for the mammoth stock of

FINE DRESS GOODS,
GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, MEN'S
YOUTH'S AND BOYS'
CLOTHING, &c.

They have leased the new brick store, now near completion, next door to C. M. Brown's Bank, where they will hang the sign of Spencer Bros. mammoth DRY GOODS EMPORIUM on Sept. 1st, 1891.

It is an unquestionable fact that ninety per cent. of the people who come to town to buy goods, look both ways for the best bargains. Spencer Bros.' success in the mercantile warfare is a sufficient guarantee that after the customers have looked they leap with joy into the mammoth Racket Store to save their money.

The day for trading through friendship shade of dollars and cents saved in the purchaser's pocket have appeared. We will endeavor from now on to close out our entire stock as near cost as possible. At least they will be as cheap as others who claim to be selling at prime cost.

In our new store we will have nothing but new goods of the latest styles, and at prices that will startle the most level-headed dry goods expert that ever entered this or any other Southern town for a bargain.

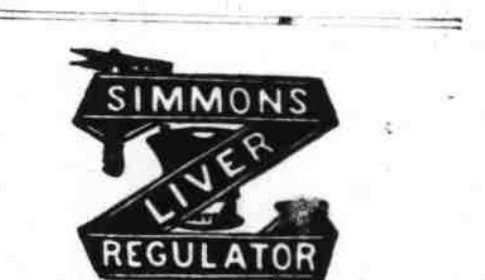

Call and be convinced that we are not joking. If you will give us a trial, we will show you better than we can tell you.

For the present we are winging our rapid flight with a pair of big wings at the old stand, south corner Main and Market streets.

Respectfully,
SPENCER BROS.
