SENATOR VANCE'S LETTER.

GOMBROON, NEAR BLACK MOUNTAIN, N. C., July 19th, 1893.
R. W. ELLIOTT, Esq., Sec'y Mecklenburg Co. Alliance.
SIR—I have received a copy of the resolutions of Mecklenburg Alliance, adopted at a recent meeting, urging Senators and Representatives to stand by the present silver law until some satisfactory substitute shall be adopted.

A MOST VITAL ISSUE.
I observed this action with great pleasure for two reasons: It is the exercise of one of the most valuable and legitimate functions by which the Alliance can be made to subserve the interest of the farmers—the concentration of their whole influence upon the issues of the day. In view of the notorious fact of the combinations among all other branches of industry and in every form of capital, I years ago urged upon our agricultural classes the importance of such organization as would enable them to make their voice heard as loudly as that of the merchants. England does not dare to demote silver in India, which alone makes her demote it at home. There is not spare gold enough in the world to replace the $900,000,000 of silver in that country. The attempt to do so would bankrupt half of Christendom and England well knows it. The suggestion is pure bluff and can only disturb a politician who holds a very weak hand. Nor have the allegations so distressingly shouted that the Sherman law was causing our gold to leave the country, had any effect on me. From the beginning I knew them to be false. Gold went out because we owed it abroad and the balance of trade was against us. Shipments of wheat have turned the tide and now it is coming in. Some of our securities did come home and take off gold in payment, but this hurt nobody except speculators in them, who were fearful that the price would fall and they would lose money. But even those which did come from abroad came in consequence of the scare got up by our own capitalists. Of course foreigners believed the stories of the ruin and bankruptcy if the Sherman law was not repealed, which our own people told them.

OXFORD FEMALE SEMINARY.

This prosperous school will open its next session on August 30, 1893, and the prospects for an increased patronage are very bright.
Besides doing the most thorough work in the Literary Department, and furnishing exceptional facilities in Music and in Art, it has an Industrial Department that supplies the needs of the times. In this are taught Book Keeping, Type Writing, Stenography and Dress Cutting and Fitting.
Much attention has always been given to Physical Culture.

Blotches, Old Sores, Ulcers and all skin eruptions cured by P. P. P., the greatest blood purifier of the age.

Rheumatism and Syphilis yield readily to P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium).
If you are troubled with Dyspepsia, Stomach Disorder, or Liver or Kidney complaint, try P. P. P., and you will rejoice at its magical workings. Females are particularly benefited by P. P. P. It expels disease, and gives healthy action to every organ.
Lost manhood, lost energy, weakness, general debility are all cured by P. P. P. New life, new energy are infused in the system by the blood purifying and cleansing properties of P. P. P., the greatest blood purifier of the age.

Mr. Linney and the Bull.

They are having a good joke on Mr. R. Z. Linney over in Taylorsville. His political friend, Dr. Mott, some time ago made him a present of a Jersey bull. On the day of the county Alliance meeting the bull happened to hear a group of "refrainers" explaining the financial situation. Taurus got so mad that he determined to put the advice of the Governor of Colorado into execution on the spot. He was for war right then and there. And the first man to cross his path was his master, who is sometimes called "the bull of the brushy mountains." He made at him with a rush and knocked him out the first round. The lawyer, as soon as he got the dust wiped out of his eyes sufficiently to discover "where he was at," saw that he was minus one of his trousseau's legs, which the bull was triumphantly carrying from the point of one of his horns.—Newton Enterprise.

THE RICH MAN'S PANIC.

Recent developments which seem to have unsettled so many silver advocates and make them give way to the repeal of the Sherman law, has rather strengthened me in the determination to yield nothing to the mono-metalists, whose schemes I regard as absolutely selfish and unpatriotic. The "panic," so industriously advertised, is known now to have been created by them; and will be known hereafter as "the rich man's panic;" the explosion of the Indian bomb is already discounted as the grasping by the government of the profits of coining silver rupees which heretofore had been respiced by British merchants. The coining will go on as largely as ever, only the Indian government will pocket the 40 per cent. gain and not the merchants. England does not dare to demote silver in India, which alone makes her demote it at home. There is not spare gold enough in the world to replace the $900,000,000 of silver in that country. The attempt to do so would bankrupt half of Christendom and England well knows it. The suggestion is pure bluff and can only disturb a politician who holds a very weak hand. Nor have the allegations so distressingly shouted that the Sherman law was causing our gold to leave the country, had any effect on me. From the beginning I knew them to be false. Gold went out because we owed it abroad and the balance of trade was against us. Shipments of wheat have turned the tide and now it is coming in. Some of our securities did come home and take off gold in payment, but this hurt nobody except speculators in them, who were fearful that the price would fall and they would lose money. But even those which did come from abroad came in consequence of the scare got up by our own capitalists. Of course foreigners believed the stories of the ruin and bankruptcy if the Sherman law was not repealed, which our own people told them.

THE SHERMAN ACT.

(Written for THE GAZETTE.)
Public sentiment now seems united in ascribing to the Sherman act the financial difficulties which affect all classes of business. This act increased the silver purchases of the Government from 2,000,000 to 4,500,000 ounces per month, and provided for the issue of Treasury notes upon the bullion, which were redeemable in coin.
The credit of the currency rests upon a fund of gold in the United States Treasury, which on June 30, 1890, fourteen days before the passage of the Sherman bill amounted to $164,841,127, of which $100,000,000 was set apart as a reserve or redemption fund for $346,681,016 of greenback or legal tender currency. Through the operations of the Sherman act, this fund was reduced to $89,000,000, and is now $97,000,000, still below the reserve limit.
In meantime, silver Treasury notes have been issued to the extent of $140,661,694. In this manner the gold fund has suffered a loss of about $67,000,000 while the paper obligations against it have increased $140,000,000.
The loss has mainly come about through gold exports, claimed to be due to the fright of foreign investors, who feared that the gold fund would vanish and the Government be forced to redeem its currency obligations or notes in silver. The outward movement of foreign capital in 1891 was sufficient to overcome a favorable balance of trade of $112,000,000 and induce a net gold export of $68,000,000 above imports of that coin in 1881, while in 1892 a favorable balance of trade of nearly $200,000,000 was overcome and gold exported, above imports, to the extent of $100,000,000. The volume of gold exports has continued until a few weeks ago, and the movement now seems at end. The prospects of repealing the act and the promise of grain exports in the fall have stayed for a time the outward current of gold.
If silver purchases are stopped and further note issues are prevented, it is believed that the tide of foreign capital will again be directed toward this country and gold imports in large volume follow. By the repeal of the act referred to, it is clear from this statement, that the integrity of the gold fund will be assured, recourse to silver payments by the Treasury avoided, and a far-reaching financial catastrophe averted.

Bugs in the Cotton.

Only a short time ago farmers were loud in their complaint of the Cotton Aphid; now the cry is against "a small red bug," which some say burrow into the stalk causing it to break off.
Some of these red bugs collected in cotton fields around Raleigh prove to be the nine and thirteen spotted lady bugs—the insect which have so effectually riddled the cotton of Aphides. The Aphide being all devoured, the lady bugs find no more food and are starving to death, they will soon disappear. The useful little insects have done and will do no damage to the cotton. The claim that they bore into the stalks is unfounded and is a physical impossibility, as these insects have no boring or rasping organs.
Newspapers in the cotton belt will please publish.

CONCURRED WITH HIS OWN CONVICTIONS.

In the next place I was glad to read the resolutions of your Alliance, because they concurred with my own most serious convictions. Many years ago, after as thorough and impartial an examination of the question as I was capable of making, I came to the absolute conclusion that the use of silver; as well as gold, on equal terms, as the basis of our currency, was the best for the welfare of the people of the United States. This view has governed my course in Congress. The fact that nature sometimes yielded more of one metal than of the other, thus causing a discrepancy in their intrinsic values, did not disturb me; for I learned from history that for nearly three hundred years during which a ratio was fixed by laws, the fluctuations in intrinsic value had never exceeded 3 1/2 per cent., and that as soon as that law was withdrawn great and material fluctuations immediately began, which will doubt, less continue so long as we treat one metal of fixed and standard value and the other as a commodity. It is not necessary to go over all the grounds on which my conviction was founded. I simply wished assure you that my opinions are unchanged.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO DO HIS DUTY.

Finally, I hope it is unnecessary for me to say that the hope of ingratiating myself with the administration in order to secure patronage at its hands, has in no sense affected my opinion of right in the premises. How far such a motive may operate in the repeal of that law, I have no means of knowing. I believe, however, it will not go a great way. But left things go as they may, it shall be my earnest endeavor to do my duty in maintaining the cause of the people in preserving the character of their money and increasing its abundance.—Z. B. VANCE in Charlotte Observer.

Place Where There is no East or West and Time of Day.

At the north pole there is only one direction, south. One could go south in as many ways as there are points on the compass card, but every one of these ways is south; east and west have vanished. The hour of the day at the pole is a paradoxical conception, says McClure's Magazine, for that point is the meeting place of every meridian, and the time of all holds good, so that it is always an hour one cares to mention. Unpunctuality is hence impossible but the question grows complex, and its practical solution concerns few.

No one needs to go to the pole to discover all that makes that point different from any other point of the surface. But the whole polar regions are full of unknown things, which every Arctic explorer of the right stamp looks forward to finding. And the reward he looks forward to most is the approval of the few who understand and love knowledge for its own sake rather than the noisy applause of the crowd who would cheer him, after all, much as they cheer a winning prize fighter or a race horse or political candidate.

The difficulties that make the quest of the pole so arduous have been discovered by slow degrees. It is marvelous how soon nearly the full limits of northward attainment are reached. In 1596 Barent discovered Spitzbergen in about 78°; in 1770 Hudson reached 80°; in 1827 Perry, by sledging on the ice when his ship became fast, succeeded in touching 82° 45 minutes.

Since then all the enormous resources of modern science, steam, electricity, preserved foods and the experience of centuries have only enabled forty miles additional poleward advance to be made.
The Arctic basin, occupied by the Arctic sea, is fringed by land, the northern coast of America, Europe and Asia forming a roughly circular boundary broken by three well-marked channels communicating with the ocean.
Behring Strait between America and Asia, is the narrowest; Baffin bay, between America and Greenland, is wider, branching into a number of ice-blocked sounds to the westward and tapering off into Smith sound in the northeast. The widest channel of the three lies between Greenland and Europe, and this is bisected just south of 80 degrees north by the island group of Spitzbergen.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of the influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than 24 hours the catarrh and catarrh and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The Twelfth Annual Convention of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association will be held in Greensboro, August 22 and 24, next.
The Convention will be attended by Mr. Wm. Reynolds, Superintendent of Organization of the International Sunday School Association and by the most prominent and experienced Sunday School workers of the State.
The representation will consist of ten delegates from each county, except Guilford, which is unlimited. Delegates will be provided with free entertainment by the citizens of Greensboro. The railroad fares will be equal to full fare going and one-third fare returning. Tickets for the round trip will be obtainable from all depot agents.
The program will be published as soon as completed.
The local committee, on behalf of the people of Greensboro, extend a hearty invitation to the Convention and will cordially welcome its delegates to their homes.
At this Convention delegates will be elected to the World's and International Conventions to be held in St. Louis, Aug. 30 Sept. 6. Arrangements are being made to carry the delegates so selected in a Pullman car, as excursionists to St. Louis and the World's Fair at Chicago and return, for not over $30.00 for the round trip.
All counties which have not held Conventions during the year are earnestly requested and urged to take immediate action and hold Convention before the State Convention. It is especially desired that counties, at present unorganized, should hold Conventions and elect delegates to the State Convention. A representation from every county in the State is greatly desired.
We appeal to the Ministers, Superintendents and every lover of the Sunday School cause throughout the State, to bestir themselves and see that County Conventions are held in Counties where none have been held.
Let delegates who expect to attend the Convention, notify E. P. Wharton, Greensboro, Chairman of Committee on Entertainment.
A profitable and pleasant time may be expected. Let no county fail to be represented.
By order of the Executive Committee.
