There has been a secret society organized in some parts of the State known as the Sons of Rest. Such an organization as this will never like for members. Indeed, it seems that the influx will be so great that it will be the largest organization extant. The Sons of Rest are many. They can be found almost any time sitting on street corners, loafing in groceries and lounging in the shade, and by virtue of their past record in this particular, they would be entitled to entry as charter members. For energy's sake give them something to do. Concord Times.

We understand that the body has been in existence in Washington for a long time.

LOCAL ITEMS.

— There is no wisdom save in truth.

— Every one must think in his own way.

— Come to the Normal if you want to be a teacher.

— Jesse Griffin, Deputy Sheriff, made a trip to Keensville last week.

— The bridge and memorial grounds are favorite resorts these warm evenings.

— These are the days for engagements, for all the girls are in a melting mood.

— Is it a wise policy to make a statement contrary to the existing state of affairs.

— Mr. B. F. Rodman informs us that he has five members of his family on the sick list.

— Show us a man that pleases everybody, and we will show you a man that is not worth a penny.

— The schooners Willing and Wahab carried a goodly number of people to Ocracoke on Saturday afternoon.

— We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mr. Wm Walling; also of Mr. Alf Kelly, who has taken a relapse.

— Gazette.—The number of actual teachers enrolled at the Normal is $8, Bro., will you please publish your list!

— The Alpha, has lots of room for an excursion party? We hope that she will conclude to run to Ocracoke during the camp meeting.

— Why do some people take everything that a paper says to themselves. If it don't fit you then don't make yourself fit what it said.

— George Tankard, who was serving a term in the county jail for an assault with deadly weapons, died in that institution on Friday night last.

— Vance said once in a speech that the reason it did not get cold up North was the Thermometer was too short. Will not the same rule apply here as to heat?

— Plenty of watermelons in town now, and we have concluded to send the Progress to the man that brings us the largest melon during the season. Bring them on boys.

— Died, in this town, on the 22nd, inst, Miss Annie C. Gallagher, daughter of Charles K. and Olivia Gallagher, in her 17th year. A suitable tribute to her memory will appear next week.

— The negro who stole the butter from the warehouse of the Eastern Dispatch Line has been captured and lodged in jail. A portion of the butter which belonged to Messrs A. G. Hoyt & Bro., was recovered.

— Mr. F. S. Harrell called in and gave us a fine description of his trip on the Str. Alpha to Baltimore. He tells us that the trip was fine and that they over run the Stout from Baltimore to Norfolk several miles.

— The little son of Mr. Walter Jones died, Tuesday night and was buried Wednesday in Methodist Church yard, Rev. Mr. Ware conducted the services. This little boy was the idol of all of its relatives, to whom we extend our sympathy.

— Dr. D. T. Tayloe was called by telegram to Ocracoke, on Saturday to attend his sister, Miss Lizzie, who was reported very sick. He chartered the steamer Edith for the trip, returning on Sunday night, with the intelligence that his sister was much better.

— The State Librarian says, that from many inquiries he is constrained to ask, if we will place our paper, the PROGRESS, upon file in that office. Papers on file are carefully bound and kept for the use of visitors. The PROGRESS can be found there hereafter.

— The business of the undertaker is sombre at best. But we sometimes feel that it would be a pleasure to escape this hot weather by being laid away in one of those beautiful burial cases which W. W. Cordon keeps in stock—the question is, would we escape it?

— Deputy Sheriff J. H. Hodges left here Wednesday afternoon for Goldsboro with Biggs Little, a colored man who is insane, to place him in the Asylum at that place. Also with one Berry Maready, who is wanted in Duplin county. It seems that he is in colleague with the Obed Maready gang.

— Mr. Weinberg, who makes the popular shake lemonade, has just doubled the size of his room and enlarged his business in proportion. He has erected in front of his place what we shed no? an awning no? Come and see it, if you can tell what it is you will get a chromo. He leaves in a few days for the camp meeting at Ocracoke, where he will have an arcade well furnished. Mrs. Weinberg will continue the business here during his absence.

— We have learned that some of our good people are very indignant over our criticism on the Normal in last issue. This is a public institution, run with the peoples money and open for criticism. When we were first approached upon the subject we offered our columns for reply to any charge we had made. We still extend the same offer and if anything has been said which is untrue or strained then we will correct it. Some seem to think that it is an improper time for criticism. This is natural. All times might be thought improper. We would like to see the Normal a success.

— Owing to incorrect information, we learn that we were in error last issue, when we stated that Mr. Gaylord drove his horse to death and ran away. From what we can learn it appears that Mr. Geo. O. Gaylord loaned his horse and buggy to one Simpson to drive to Bath; that Simpson got drunk, drove the horse to death, and tried to sell the buggy and failing then made his escape and has not been heard from since. Simpson had been working with Mr. Gaylord. We are very sorry that such a mistake should have occurred, and we think it very unkind and unjust for such misrepresentations to be made.

— We never wish to be misunderstood, therefore in justice to Prof. Rayhill, we would state that in our item on the Normal in last issue, in referring to his being outspoken, we only referred to his rebuke of the conduct of visitors and to nothing he had said reflecting upon the Professors or Managers. We would also state that he, in his lecture on Temperance in the Court House on the 17th inst., referred to blows not as any means of compulsion after moral suasion had failed, but he only referred to a special case of intimidation at the polls of a certain election, where intimidators had been stationed. We make this explanation voluntarily.

— On Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, the steamer Alpha left her wharf, with a large crowd for a short run down the river. The moon did not greet us with her silvery light, but the stars which studded the sky, withheld not one ray of light from us. The breeze was perfectly splendid, and as the band discoursed sweet music, all seemed to be bathed in that unalloyed pleasure which such associations always inspire. The roman candles and sky rockets, which were continually lighting up the scene, cast sparks on the heads of those who would have been otherwise quiet. When the band failed, to give sweet music the glee club sufficed us abundantly while others made speeches to a committee of one. The run was about ten miles down the river, and return inside of three hours. We are sure that the appreciative people of Washington feel very thankful to Mr. James E. Clark and Capt. Styrton for their extreme kindness in giving this delightful trip. All enjoyed it highly.

Re-Union Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Reform Club and W. C. T. U., met at the Opera House on Thursday night last at the usual hour. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Ware after which Prof. Rayhill was introduced, who came forward and read in his usual interesting and perfect manner some two or three of his choicest selections. The Rev. Mr. Collin Hughes having been invited to lecture, was now introduced. He is a man for whom we all have great respect and high esteem. He held the crowd's attention for upwards an hour, and that he made a sound, logical and practicable temperance speech, no one will deny. He was not radical nor abusive, but a thorough temperance man. He is not a member of the Club, but he seems to be in accord with its workings. When he had closed, Prof. Rayhill, was presented again, who was greeted with loud applause. He read a selection entitled "The Man who Felt Sad," and also "How We Hunted a Mouse." After which he retired, to the regret of all present.

The Grange Encampment.

We would state for the benefit of the Marshals, Delegates and all who wish to attend the Grange Encampment and Institute Fair at Mount Holly that it will be managed in a style which will much exceed the expectations of the most of our people. Fine new buildings of large and commodious proportions are now in course of erection especially for that occasion, and there is one very large one, already on the grounds which is being fitted up as a hall for speaking. The managers are receiving numerous letters of inquiry and notifying them of their intention to attend as delegates marshals and make exhibits of grain, grasses, stock, machinery &c. This grand exhibition will be free to all who wish to attend and reduced rates will be given on all of the railroads. It is expected that a very large crowd will be in attendance. One of the most interesting and attractive features will be the many but short speeches. None are allowed to speak longer than thirty minutes. This will be a fine trip and one that should not be neglected by our people. We would urge upon all who can to attend without fail.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

MANUFACTURED BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

I was afflicted for several years with disordered liver, which resulted in a severe attack of jaundice. I had as good medical attendance as our section affords, who failed utterly to restore me to the enjoyment of my former good health. I then tried the favorite prescription of one of the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose; whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health.
