HOW TO GET A FREE LIBRARY

No matter in what Southern state you live, you can now get help in starting a school library, and if your school hasn't yet started one, it is high time to see your teacher, your school committee and your county superintendent and get the movement going. Missouri, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, and Alabama operate state state-supported systems of traveling libraries. Collection of from 25 to 60 books are put up in a strong trunk-like boxes and sent to groups of five or ten responsible farmers, to county school committees, to Farmer's Union locals, and occasionally to single individuals. postal card addressed to the State Library, Richmond, Va., the North Carolina Library Commission, Raleigh, N. C., the State Board of Education, Nashville, Tenn., the Department of Archives and History, Montgomery, Ala., the Kentucky Library Commission, Frankfort, Ky., or the State Library and Historical Commission, Austin, Texas, by residents of the respective states, will bring full information how these libraries may be secured. Write for particulars and get a school library and a traveling library. Or if you live in a state without provision for traveling libraries, resolve now to make your State Legislature give the matter attention at its very next session.—The Progressive Farmer.

INVENTION TO PROTECT AMERICA

Edison, the world's greatest inventor, is now past 70 years of age, but is said to be working 18 hours a day on plans for national defense. He is keeping his plans to himself, or sharing them only with the highest military and naval authorities. These are a few of the things, the Government would like to have him invent: Means of detecting the approach of submarines under water; a way to detect torpedoes from their straight course and make them miss their mark; a way to explode an enemy's magazines at a distance, by "wireless" or otherwise; aerial torpedoes to be guided by wireless from land or a ship's deck; an anti-aircraft gun which will throw a shot three miles or more into the air; a non-sinkable ship; torpedo-proof nets for ships; an explosive of higher power than any now in use by other nations. If Mr. Edison years ago could have foreseen the need of such inventions, the United States might be in a better condition of preparedness than it is now.

PLEDGE OF LOYALTY

"To the President of the United States: As an American, faithful to American ideals of justice, liberty and humanity, and confident that the Government has exerted its most earnest efforts to keep us at peace with the world, I hereby declare my absolute and unconditional loyalty to the Government of the United States and pledge my support to you in protecting American rights against unlawful violence upon land and sea, in guarding the nation against hostile attacks, and in upholding international rights." This is a "pledge of loyalty" prepared by Mayor Mitchell's Defense Committee, in New York. This pledge was signed by more than 150,000 persons in one day.
