Order In Which 151 Men Were Drawn

Washington, June 27—Nearly 800,000 young men of 21 who registered for military service last June 5 had their order in the draft classes fixed today by a second national draft lottery held with formal ceremony at the Senate office building.

Just 1,200 numbered slips rolled into capsules—enough to cover the list of new registrants in the largest local district in the country, were drawn from a big glass bowl and the numbers recorded in serial order. Under the law all the new registrants go at the bottom of the classes to which in which the number appearing there they may be assigned.

The first number represents liability for service; the second is the number under which the men registered:

DRIVE FOR WAR SAVINGS CONTINUES

EVERY ONE URGED TO EXERT SPECIAL EFFORT

Campaign Resulted in Pledging of Over $200,000 Worth of Stamps; Drive Will Not Hold Up Until Success Comes.

The county's quota of $445,852 of War Savings has been about 63 per cent. subscribed in the drive to date. The township chairman will continue the drive enthusiastically until the 4th of July and will throughout the year endeavor to carry the townships over the top, urges Chairman Graham. The campaign beginning June 23 has resulted in the pledge and purchase of over two hundred thousand dollars worth of stamps and this with stamps already earned brings the county's total to 278,739 or an average of $12.40 for every man, woman and child, white and colored, in Warren.

As a continuation of this work every township is to strive faithfully to bring the total to the figures sent out from State Headquarters—that of $20.00 per capita. The tabulated results of the drive follow as submitted to date:

Assessment	Raised
Warrenton Township	82,148 84,785
W. N. Boyd, Chmn.

Jake Kimball, Chmn.
Simth Creek	34,936 15,645
T. Alex. Baxter, Chmn.
Total	445,852 278,739

The stamps were bought generally, but in many cases not to the degree which purchaser was able.

The campaign will continue until January 1, 1919, and with good prices for cotton and tobacco and the active work of the township chairmen the outlook for the county's quota looms bright.

Corporal Baugham Gets Hun Machine

The following from the Washington (N. C.) Daily News is of interest. Corporal Pilot Baugham was a student at the Graham High School several years ago and is pleasantly remembered here:

Jim Baugham "got" his first Hun aeroplane recently. In recognition of his services he has been awarded the French croix de guerre, or cross of war, which is awarded by the French government for bravery in action.

The news of Corporal Pilot Baugham's spectacular feat was received here today in a letter from Lieut. W. E. Baugham, who is now in France. Lieut. Baugham stated that he was in receipt of a card from "Jim" in which the latter stated that he had been successful in sending an enemy plane to the ground and that the French had awarded him the croix de guerre.

In addition to the Croix de Guerre, Jim also had the palm bestowed upon him, a special recognition of bravery and valor in action.

Jim has been in France over a year. He left here with the Lafayette Escadrille, volunteering his services. He took considerable training over here and followed this up with special instructions in France. He has been employed along various sectors of the front, spending considerable time in the Vosges mountains. Since then, he has been transferred to other sections.

The news of his feat was received here today with the greatest enthusiasm and his mother, Mrs. W. P. Baugham, is receiving innumerable congratulations upon her son's exploit.

Italians Push Successes; Attack Expected In West

Attacking the Austro-Hungarian lines on the Asiago plateau the Italians have wrested Monte di Valbella from the enemy, capturing 409 prisoners and held their new positions against repeated counter attacks.

This sudden turn from the defensive to the offensive came as a surprise to the laymen of the allied world for it had believed that General Diaz, the Italian commander, would be content to hold his lines in the mountains against a great, new offensive intended by the Austrians and Germans to take away the sting of the defeat of the Austrians along the Piave two weeks ago.

Nor was the Italian attack limited to the positions on Monte di Valbella. Farther east, on the left bank of the Brenta river, they captured the heights of Sasso Rosso, just north of the village of Valstagna.

Carried the Fight to the Foe. These two actions, while local in character, may explain the failure of the Italians to pursue the Austrians across the Piave when, on June 23, the enemy fled from the west bank with a haste that indicated something of demoralization.

General Diaz probably has expected the heaviest enemy blow to be launched along the mountain front, which is the key to the whole Italian situation. In attacking there himself, he has carried the fight to the foe, gained strong positions at vital points and broken up some of the preparations made by the enemy for an offensive in that quarter.

General Diaz's Objective.

It is hardly to be believed that General Diaz plans to go further than local objectives, but if he should make much progress on the Asiago plateau, he could be able to take under his artillery fire the railroad paralleling the battle line and running along the Brenta river east of Lake Caldono. This line is the connecting link between the Piave and Adige fronts and if the Italians could dominate it, the Austrian system of communications would be seriously impaired.

With the British Army in France, intense enemy artillery fire last night and this morning rocked the British line with its sinister detonations, and awaiting it with grim determination this front appears to have increased. But the German offensive still remains merely in the boiling up stage.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg has maintained such a distribution of his effectives as would permit a blow on any part of the front. One thing seems certain—when the enemy does strike he will hit hard. It is predicted that there will be more terrific fighting than has yet developed this year. At any moment the storm may break, and the Allied troops are the tension which has existed along and confidence.

With the American Forces on the Marne, June 30.—Excessive movements of troops and materials north of Chateau Thierry, together with the increased artillery and aerial activity, form the basis of the belief that American forces in this locality may be called upon to defend themselves in the near future.

Long streams of enemy troops and wagon trains have been observed in the neighborhood of the Bonnes wood. There have been more than fifty enemy aerial flights over the American lines northwest of Chateau Thierry in the last twenty-four hours. One German machine was shot down by our anti-aircraft guns.

The American artillery has heavily shelled many vital and active spots within the enemy lines, once obtaining a direct hit in a detachment of marching Germans.

Stung By Recent Defeat.

For days the Americans have been expecting that the enemy, stung by the defeat administered to him recently on this front, would make a vigorous assault upon the American forces, and it was partly for this reason that the American operations in the Belleau section were carried out. With these operations completed, the Americans now have the country for several miles in front of them under their eyes and guns and can see what is developing. In consequence, when the expected blow comes, they will be that much better prepared to meet it.

Vienna, via London, July 1.—The Austrian war office today admits the complete evacuation by the Austrian forces of the two important strategic positions of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella, on the western end of the Italian front.

Rome, July 1st.—Heavy attacks launched against Monte di Val Bella by the Austrians were repulsed by the Italians, "the enemy masses being mowed down by our artillery fire," according to the official communication from headquarters. More than 2,000 prisoners were taken by the Italians.

Success has apparently crowned the effort of the Italians in the mountains north of the Venetian plains. Launched on Saturday, the attack on the Austrian lines has gained rugged heights where the enemy was strongly entrenched, and the fighting is still going on. Vienna admits a retirement to "prepared positions" which is the expression used in official statements to mean that an enemy blow has gained important ground.

Italians Gain Ground.

After three days of struggling in the mountains, the Italians are still hammering hard at the most powerful and threatening positions of the enemy. They have not only gained ground but have held it against desperate counter attacks by the Austro-Hungarian forces, which were mown down by artillery fire and completely checked by the Italian infantry.

Detail maps of the area in which the fighting is going on do not show distinctly some of the places mentioned in the official statements. The Vienna admission that the new Austrian line runs through "Stempe wood" is, therefore, without significance, but as the positions held by the Austrians before the Italian attack began were above the forest line, it seems that the enemy has been ousted from the higher ground he formerly held and thus placed at a disadvantage in the fighting to come.

London, July 1.—Twenty-two German airplanes were shot down, ten were driven down out of control and two German balloons were destroyed during the air fighting Sunday.

Paris, July 1.—The French airmen have played their part in the increased aerial activity which has been displayed along the front in the last few days. Yesterday they brought down or put out of action twenty-one German planes and set on fire six captive balloons, according to the war office announcement tonight.

Washington, July 1.—Resumption of the German offensive on the west front is now expected momentarily by army officials here. General Pershing's reports as well as French and British advices from the front have shown increasing enemy activity day by day, indicating that the Germans are preparing for another assault.

There is great stir and movement among the Germans before the American lines around Chateau Thierry. Part of the drive may be directed against this front in a renewal of the thrust at Paris through the Compeigne gateway. If so, an army corps of American troops stands shoulder to shoulder with the French again to block the road.
